

How St. Mike's Will Spend Their Money

ST. MIKE'S GO TO ENGLAND

Supporters of the Irishmen Decide on How They'll Spend the Surplus

The backers of the St. Michael's Hockey Club, who include outside the players themselves, have decided on a definite conclusion as to the disposition of the enormous surplus in the treasury. The surplus, which is estimated at $10,000, will be distributed as follows: $5,000 to the club, $2,500 to the players, and $2,500 to the supporters.

The St. Mike's players are in the best of shape for tonight. Lafamme will be at centre, McManus going to goal, and the betting is going. St. Mike's will have a margin in goal tonight, but whether they can make up the five goals is a different proposition. They think they can. The rival club, the T.R. & A. are also in the best of shape and with their same line-up are confident of retaining a lead and landing the O.H.A. senior championship.

Lafamme, Whitehead, who scored last week, will referee; again tonight.

They had their edge on Lambton and lost the game by conceding it. Referee, Fred Wagoner.

Gerhard Heintzman Company on Saturday beat Knox College, 1 to 0. The piano boys spring a surprise at the college game, with the best of feeling prevailing on both sides. The last half, minutes play in the first half Carlton, centre for Heintzman, shot the only score of the game on a neat one in goal. This time after the boys from the ice, only to have Heintzman in goal turn them aside. The game was played in turn then side-intercollegiate rules were played. The line-up for Heintzman: Goal, Robinson; point, Chandler; cover, Carlaw; centre, Wilson; left wing, Adams; right wing, Ward; spare, Lee.

Toronto's Two Pro Teams Are Beaten

Frenchmen Have a Listless Battle With Tecumsehs and Secure a Victory—The Details.

Canadians moved up another notch Saturday night, when they trimmed the Frenchmen by the score of 3 to 1. The Frenchmen were keeping up their reputation as a road team, pure and simple. It was that the new Frenchmen displayed a more vivid red than the locals and they had just enough courage to make them look natty.

The game in itself was rather mediocre, and although neither team lagged intentionally, still aggressiveness was one of the features that were missing for the greater part of the night. The small crowd of Frenchmen were not very much enthused at any time, in fact, the game became listless. The Frenchmen certainly had the better of the play and Lalonde demonstrated that he was in the game to stay. In fact, he was the whole life of the forward line. He was a real show-up, an exhibition of speed and fancy skating. He worked hard all night in a grand effort to hold the Frenchmen. The others did not follow anything in the brilliant line at all.

The game was concluded with the very unusual fact of no scoring being done. This is practically the first game in the pro. league since the year that had not a tally credited to the first period. The play was rather slow and the crowd settled back comfortably waiting for something to happen.

The second period opened with a display of speed for a few minutes, but it did not last long. Gaul was hurt when he fell on the ice in mid-play and he had to retire. The Frenchmen replaced him with a new line, and he did not get back into the game.

The Frenchmen replaced Vermette, Berlinguette netted another on a long shot from the side. The fans were feeling rather seedy and looked as if they were due for a work of overtime.

Up scored the Indians' hopes and every eye was turned to the Frenchmen. The Frenchmen were moved up on the forward line, and the Frenchmen were moved up on the forward line.
