

INDEX OF FIRST LINES

	PAGE
A Bee allur'd by the perfume	296
A Hermit (or if 'chance you hold)	400
A miser, traversing his house	596
A needle small, as small can be	552
A Nightingale, that all day long	501
A noble theme demands a noble verse	620
A peasant to his lord pay'd yearly court	598
A poet's cat, sedate and grave	407
A Racer, while with glossy breast	592
A Spaniel, Beau, that fares like you	425
A Spartan, his companion slain	564
A Spartan 'scaping from the fight	564
A Trader I am, to the African shore	374
Abbot is painting me so true	634
Achilles and Hector and Homer and all	635
Ah brother Poet! send me of your shade	635
Ah, how the human mind wearies her self	602
Ah! reign, whate'er Man is found	485
Ah! wherefore should my weeping maid suppress	277
Airy del Castro was as bold a knight	317
All are indebted much to thee	489
Almighty King! whose wond'rous hand	474
All-worshipp'd Gold! thou mighty mystery!	279
Ancient dame, how wide and vast	555
And dwells there in a female heart	285
And is it thus, ye base and blind	294
And is this all? Can reason do no more	315
Androcles from his injur'd lord, in dread	550
An epigram is but a feeble thing	635
Another Leonora once inspir'd	568
An oyster, cast upon the shore	322
Apelles, hearing that his boy	558
Art thou some individual of a kind	566
As birds their infant brood protect	441
As in her ancient mistress' lap	553
As on a hill-top rude, when closing day	621
As one who, long in thickets and in brakes	164
As yet a stranger to the gentle fires	565
Ask what is human life - the sage replies	59
At length, my friend, the far-sent letters come	583
At morn we plac'd on his funeral bier	565
At three-score winters' end I died	565
Attic maid! with honey fed	568
Austin! accept a grateful verse from me!	416
Away goes Sussex William with his pack	633
Believe it or not, as you choose	417
Beneath the hedge, or near the stream	546
Bestow, dear LORD, upon our youth	447
Between Nose and Eyes a strange contest arose	308
Bewail not much, my parents! me, the prey	565
Beware, my friend! of crystal brook	571
Beware of building! I intended	636
Bid adieu, my sad heart, bid adieu to thy peace	278
Blest! who far from all mankind	497
Boy! I detest all Persian fopperies	550
Boy, I hate their empty shows	520
Breathe from the gentle South, O LORD	454
By whom was David taught	435