

Tuesday, September 27.—Received further contributions from several of Mr. Warr's personal friends.

We were invited to dine with the Rev. Mr. Lomas, Incumbent of Walton Breek, and afterwards attended and assisted at his Parochial Meeting of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

Wednesday, September 28.—Several additional donations were sent to me from persons to whom I had been introduced. Attended and assisted at a meeting of the Society at Wigan, with Mr. Warr, about twenty-five miles from Liverpool, which was held in the School House at 7 o'clock.

Thursday, September 29.—Drove with Mr. Warr about five miles to the beautiful residence of Mrs. Molineaux, a lady of wealth, to meet the Archbishop of York, who was her guest, at dinner. The hour fixed was 2 o'clock, so as to enable us to attend the Annual Meeting of the Society in the Hall of the Collegiate Institute, for the Archdeaconry of Liverpool, of which Mr. Warr is the Secretary.

The Lord Bishop of Chester took the Chair as Bishop of the Diocese, and opened the meeting, after prayer, in a short but nice speech, and then called upon me to move the first resolution. His Grace, the Archbishop of York, moved the second resolution, and made an excellent speech, which was received with great applause. There were about 2,000 people present.

Saturday, October 1.—Having completed my appointments in Liverpool, I left my kind friends, Mr. and Mrs. Warr, after a most agreeable visit, for Manchester, to keep my engagements there. The train arrived at 11.25 a.m., and I drove directly to Birch Rectory, Fallowfield, the residence of the Rev. Canon Anson, and brother of Sir John Anson. I was most cordially welcomed by the Canon and Mrs. Anson, who is the daughter of Dean Hook, of Chichester.

Sunday, October 2.—Went to the Cathedral, which was about three miles from the Rectory, and preached the Annual Sermon for the Society; and assisted also at the celebration of the Holy Communion. The congregation was very large, yet I was heard distinctly. Returned to the Rectory and preached again for the
