

FOR SALE—$13,500
Spencer Avenue, twelve rooms, large bath and brick garage, lot 20 x 200.
H. H. WILLIAMS & CO.
38 King Street East.

PROBS: Eassey wind
Sente Reading Room
Jan 13-1819
SENATE P.O.

The Toronto World

EIGHTEEN PAGES—SATURDAY MORNING APRIL 13, 1912—EIGHTEEN PAGES

C. P. R. BUILDING
COR. KING AND YONGE
For space and particulars apply
H. H. WILLIAMS & CO.
38 King Street East.

VOL. XXXII—No. 11,577

DR. NESBITT INTENDED TO RETURN AND NEGOTIATIONS WERE PENDING

Former President of Farmers' Bank Was to Have Told His Story Before Commissioner Meredith—Mrs. Nesbitt Does Not Know of the Arrest—No Trouble Expected in Getting Him Back—Remanded Till April 26.

Despite the prominence given to stories of the desperate fight which Dr. Beattie Nesbitt is said to be preparing to make in Chicago against his extradition to Canada, nothing has yet been heard by his counsel or himself indicating in any way that he intends to give up his original intention of returning voluntarily to face the charges against him here.

It was learned yesterday that the doctor had entertained this thought for more than a month and that there had been negotiations on foot to have him come back to give evidence before the royal commission at present examining into the granting of the charter of the Farmers' Bank. These were not successful, but even after the close of these negotiations, the doctor still intended to return to Toronto. He has now been remanded before the United States Commissioner of Extradition until April 26, and no developments are to be expected until then, unless the American immigration department decides to deport him, when he will be brought back by the Canadian authorities.

Mrs. Nesbitt has not yet been told of the arrest of her husband. She is confined to her bed at her home, under the care of a doctor, who fears that the news, in her present weakened condition, might prove too much for her. Such news would come as a great shock to her, as the last word that she had in the matter was to the effect that her husband would return in less than a week to face the charges of which she still stoutly declares his innocence.

Wanted Her Daddy.
There is a very pathetic side to the plight of this very human personality who has occupied the limelight before the public in many roles. Perhaps there is none more appealing than that cast by a view of the very near and intimate regard in which he is held by his immediate family. On St. Valentine's Day his very little daughter sent him a remembrance of the day. Upon it she had scrawled in a childish hand, "Dear Daddy, do come home soon. Every night I have prayed to God to bring you back and He does everything for little girls. But dear, dear Daddy, sometimes He is so slow."
It is said that the receipt of this note doubled the doctor's determination to return to his home and family. It is a significant thing also that when the strenuous days fell upon his bank the doctor retired to the seclusion of his Muskoka home, taking with him his wife and little girl, and it was there that he remained until warned to flee by the mysterious telegram which just preceded the issue of the warrant for his arrest.

Yesterday the news created a wide sensation in the city, and the question of how soon Toronto would again see "The Doctor" upon the streets was upon every lip.

COULD BE DEPORTED

It is stated that there will be no trouble in getting Dr. Nesbitt back to Canada; that even if the forgery charges were not established to the satisfaction of Commissioner Foote, the government would order that he be deported as an undesirable under the immigration law.

Awaits Extradition.

CHICAGO, April 12.—(Can. Press.)—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, one-time president of the Farmers' Bank of Toronto, tonight is in the custody of the United States Government here awaiting extradition on the charge of forgery and false returns in connection with that institution. Dr. Nesbitt was taken to the county jail late to-day after a hearing before United States Commissioner Foote. The extradition laws do not permit of bail. His hearing was continued to April 26. Nesbitt's attorneys, Wm. K. Pattison and Wm. H. Holly, would not state what their course of action would be, but it is said that Nesbitt will fight all attempts to extradite him.

Identified by Teachers.

Nesbitt at first denied his identity. A number of Toronto school teachers attending a convention here, positively identified him, however, and later his attorneys gave out a statement admitting him to be the former Canadian bank president, but denying he was guilty of any offence.

Attorney Pattison caused surprise by declaring that to his own knowledge

Continued on Page 7, Column 3

Charles Gibson who is held upon a charge of murder in connection with the death of Joseph Rosenthal.

FIRE AT WOMAN CARTRIDGE A BLANK

Syrian Walter in Queen St. Restaurant Shot Mrs. Mary Manzer in the Neck—Looked Like Attempted Murder, But Turned Out to Be an Accident.

Pete Smyrna, a young Syrian, pointed a .22-calibre revolver at Mrs. Mary Manzer in a Queen-st. cafe last night and fired. The woman collapsed. Smyrna dashed out of the rear door and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Manzer, aged 45 years, who lives at 25 Pullan-place, was hurried to St. Michael's Hospital. The physicians found that the discharge from the weapon was nothing but powder, for her neck under the left ear was just burned. In a few moments she was able to walk home.

The shooting happened about eight o'clock in the kitchen of the Paris Cafe, 206 West Queen-street, which is managed by a Greek. Mrs. Manzer is a Syrian and well acquainted with her countrymen employed there. She called at the cafe and asked a waiter to change 50 cents for her. She was directed to the kitchen, where the manager was located. Smyrna, dressed in Greek uniform, was there and was just leaving to have his photograph taken.

When the woman entered he pulled a revolver from a red sash thrown across his chest, and pointed it at the woman. Then he fired. The woman fell to the floor, and Smyrna vanished in an instant.

Soon about twenty police officials were on the scene. Mrs. Manzer told the police that the cook had shot her, but this was denied by all the help. The constables and detectives scattered to a number of places in an effort to find Smyrna. Detective Armstrong took possession of his room on Richmond-st.

Two Syrians, a chef and a waiter, were taken to police headquarters, city hall, and questioned. They declared it was purely an accident. Smyrna was merely "cutting up." He was going to have his photo taken. That was why he was carrying a revolver, which he thought was empty. After securing more evidence the police concluded that the shooting was an accident.

Toronto is being scourged by Syrians for their complicity. Smyrna, and when he is found he will be requested to report at police headquarters. But he will not be arrested.

BIG EXPRESS COMPANIES IN DICTED.

BUFFALO, April 12.—Two indictments containing ten counts against the American Express Co. and one containing five counts against the Adams Express Co. were returned this afternoon when the federal grand jury made its final report to Judge R. Hazel. The indictment against the American Express charges that company with overcharging in ten specific cases on shipments originating at Alliquippa, Pa., and passing thru this district. The maximum penalty is a fine of $5000 for each offence.

OLDEST NEWSBOY IS DEAD, AGED EIGHTY-FOUR

John Hart, Who Sold Papers on the Island Ferry Dock During the Summer, Was Befriended by Lieut.-Col. Wallace, and Will Be Given Good Funeral on Monday.

Toronto's oldest newsboy is dead at the age of 84. John Hart, a quiet, old character and a familiar figure in the Toronto Ferry Company's waiting room on the waterfront during the season of navigation, passed away in St. Michael's Hospital last night after two days' illness. All the travelers to and from the island remember him. He was a little man, very stooped and had a white beard. A bundle of the evening newspapers were placed on a soap box every afternoon of the summer and he would sit on a chair and with his Irish brogue, would say: "Terrible, News and Star papers!" When the cold weather came, he always went to the House of Refuge.

John Hart came from Ireland many years ago. He had no relatives in this country, but he had one friend, Lieut.-Col. Wallace, manager of the Home Bank, Church-street, who tried to ease the old man's life as much as possible. Very often Hart called at Lieut.-Col. Wallace's office and told stories of his life in Ireland, and in fact, all about his personal history. "He left his winter's home a few days ago and made his first call of the spring at the banking house."

"I'm not feeling very well to-day, Colonel," he said. "I'd like to go to the hospital." Before he left the office, the old man gave the colonel a few knock-knocks as souvenirs.

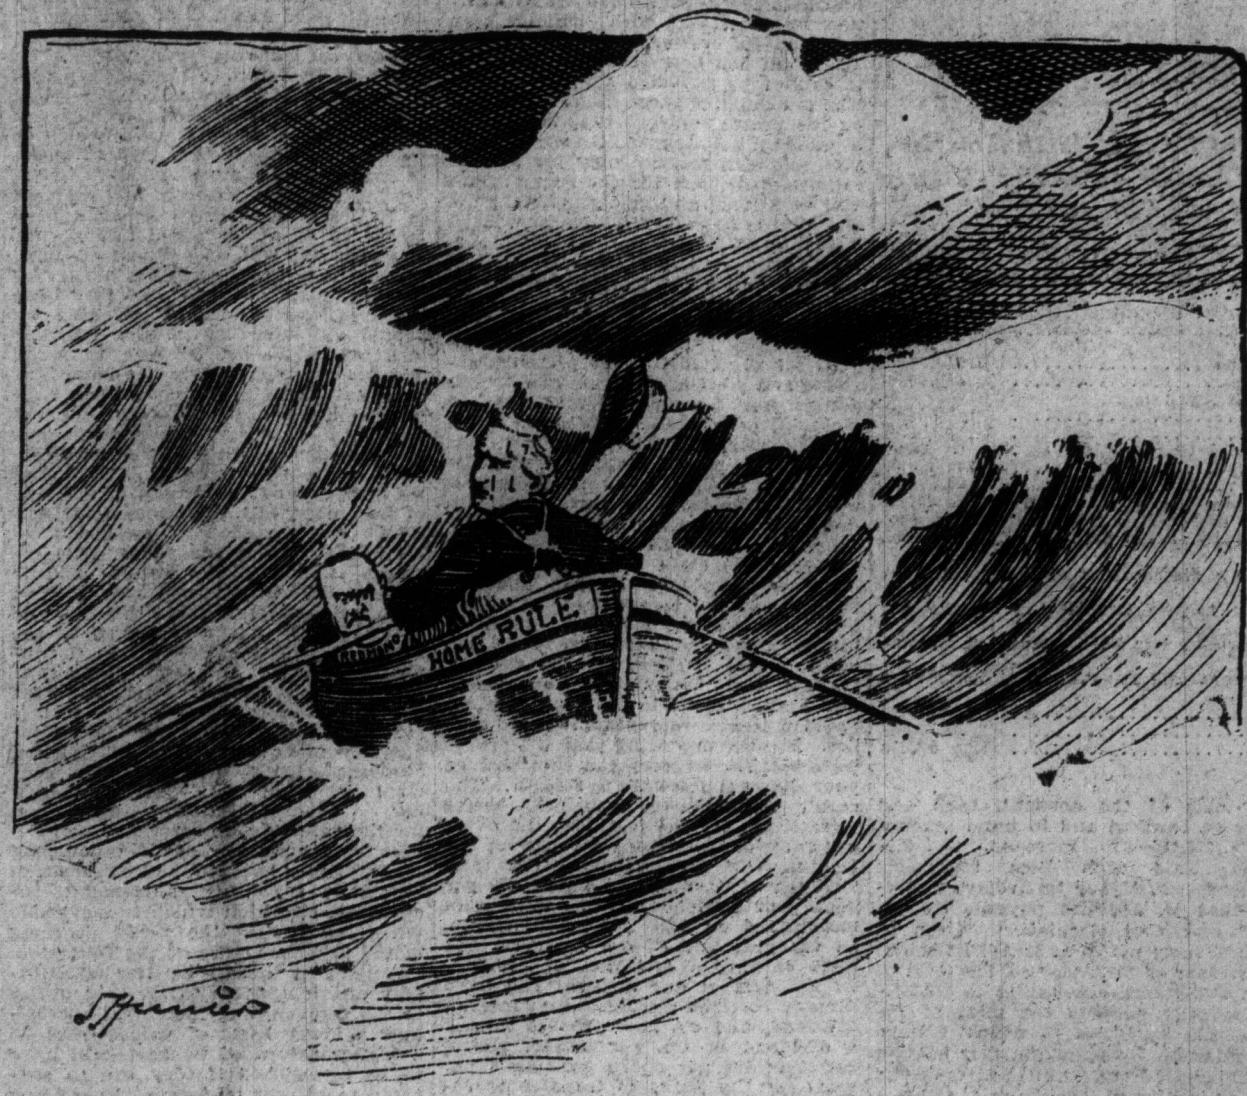

It was a general breakdown of the old man, and Lieut.-Col. Wallace had him sent to the hospital. Altho penurious and homesick, John Hart will not be buried in a Potter's grave. A ceremony will take place in St. Michael's Cathedral over his remains on Monday morning, and the interment will take place in St. Michael's Cemetery. In the meantime, the body rests in C. A. Connor's undertaking parlors, 505 Yonge-st., where it is possible that some of the younger newsboys of Toronto will go to pay a tribute.

John Hart had sold papers in Toronto for twenty years and had seen hundreds of his younger conferees come and go. He was a friend of the boys and they helped him considerably along his highway.

BILINGUAL STATEMENT

Before the legislature closes to-day, Sir James Whitney will make a statement on the bilingual school question. In the house last evening Mr. Rowell and other members of the opposition asked what the government intended to do in view of Dr. McGeach's report, and Hon. Dr. Pyne replied that a statement would be made. The prime minister will make it to-day.

CROSSING THE IRISH CHANNEL

A STORMY PASSAGE.

GIBSON CLOTHES STAINED WITH BLOOD

His Shirt Was Washed by His Stepmother, and Stains on Other Clothing Will Be Analyzed—Langmaid May Be Charged With Being an Accessory After the Fact.

Yesterday the police succeeded in drawing their net of evidence even more closely about Charles Gibson, so cleverly arrested in the West Market-street sub-station of the city hydro-electric commission by Detective Cronin on Thursday. The detectives located the clothes which he is said to have worn on the night of the murder. They were discovered in a lodging house in Church-street, where Gibson passed Saturday night. Upon these clothes there are stains which resemble blood stains and which are believed to be such, but which will be analyzed and tested so that this may be made certain.

The police have learned that another woman in the Ontario-street house where Gibson lived with his father and stepmother was shown his shirt with a blood-stain upon it on the morning following the murder, and that the stepmother took it to the cold water tap and washed out the stain.

The authorities have also learned that Langmaid, the meter reader, who was in the sub-station when Gibson was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and who denied having seen him since the murder, has been identified as a man who came up to Gibson in the street on the Wednesday before the murder and said to him: "That deal will not come off to-night." It was understood that when Langmaid was taken, and