"Daddy Long Legs" in which Mary Pickford will be seen at the Imperial next Monday is filled with the most delicate and artistic imagery throughout. One of the most effective scenes is that of a young girl, the orphan, who is being taken to a convent by her mother. The scene is a masterpiece of dramatic art.

OTTAWA NON-PLUSSD CONCERNING ASSENT TO THE PEACE TREATY

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Announcement from London that the king had given his assent to the peace treaty is arousing much concern. Just what the despatch means is uncertain. There were two bills before the British parliament. One expresses approval of the German peace treaty; the other, approval of the Anglo-French treaty. Under the bills, the king "may do everything necessary" for the carrying out of the treaties. It is assumed here that the despatch means that the king has given royal assent to the two bills, not that he has formally ratified the treaties. If, however, the despatch means that formal ratifications have been deposited in Paris, a serious constitutional situation will arise. The special session of the dominion parliament is being called expressly to approve ratification of the peace treaty and the Anglo-French legislation as may be necessary. If the king has already ratified the treaty, the session will be more or less of a dead letter except inasmuch as legislation to continue orders in council is concerned.

SUCCEEDS MAJOR TURNER

It was announced at local military headquarters this morning that Major Guy R. Turner, who is attached to the permanent corps of the Royal Canadian Cavalry, has been appointed to succeed Captain Charles Benjamin Bate, C. E., who will succeed Major Turner.

There is a certain young officer who, according to his own story, is thinking of leaving the army. He is a handsome fellow and Gen. Pershing had a high opinion of him. "Some of my men were Polish, and better soldiers never lived, but I guess in Poland life has been one long sad story. Any way, I never ran across a bunch who took things so literally. One night the Germans sent over three-inch shells that landed square in our trench. In the morning I told one of my men, Pete, we called him, to take it away. "Where shall I, answered peevishly, 'put it to bed in Pershing's tent.' "A little later a druggist officer came along and said, 'I had a war wound and there's something doing.' "Pete didn't imagine what was up until I stood before the chief. He great me and would believe it, there was that blamed shell. Pete sure had obeyed orders. Well, I guess I'll be in for it but I'm going to try to make the best of it. I said: 'I just want to caution you not to order Pete to capture Berlin until the rest of us are ready to go with him. He might go and do it, you know.'"

PEACE

Give me the pulse of the tide again And the slow lapse of the leaves, The rustling gold of a field of grain And a bird in the nearest eaves; And a fishing-smack in the old harbor Where all was happy and young; And an echo or two of the songs I knew When songs could still be sung.

TABLET UNVEILING IN THE POST OFFICE.

Upon conclusion of the interesting military ceremonies the prince and official parties will proceed at once to the new post office. Prince and party will naturally attend a large number of people and entrance to the building will doubtless be governed by some sort of ticket plan in order to avoid an unbecoming crush. In his progress from the barracks to the post office the populace will again have the opportunity of greeting his royal highness from the curb.

ROYAL INSPECTION OF WEST SIDE.

The prince's next move will be in the direction of West St. John and the streets to be traversed are to be Prince William, Dock and Mill, Main, Douglas avenue, across the bridge, the falls, Lancaster avenue and thence to Prince street, where the newly equipped military hospital—formerly the school for the deaf—will be inspected. Retracing Prince street the royal motor and others will circle the Carleton district by the way of City Line, Dufferin road, thence down to Union street, the full length of Prince street to the bridges and back to the city by the principal streets, giving the people of North End also the opportunity of seeing the royal guest.

Governor's Reception at Rothesay.

Towards the middle of the afternoon the prince and accompanying parties will motor through the city, possibly by way of King, Charlotte, Union and Waterloo streets to Rothesay by the usual route. At the suburban resort His Honor Lieut-Governor Pugsley and Mrs. Pugsley will tender him an official reception at Government House. Along the suburban roadway it is expected residents of the resort will erect welcoming devices and decorations besides giving the king's son a lusty cheer as he whizzes by. The residents of Rothesay are preparing some definite scheme of ornamentation to this end.

Return to the City and Embarcation.

After the governor's reception the royal guest will be motored back to the city and it is understood he is to embark aboard H. M. S. Dragon at once. His return through the streets will again give the people a glimpse of his smiling personality and no doubt everybody can be depended upon to greet him in the manner which he deserves not only as our next king but as a jolly good fellow in the fighting ranks of the late war and

WHAT ST. JOHN WILL DO ON SOLDIERS' DAY AND WHEN PRINCE COMES

(Continued from page 1) while higher in rank than all these officials will be His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada and vice king. His excellency will bring his formal suit and will of course officiate at the landing and subsequent ceremonies as representing the majority of the province. Aside from the official phases of the prince's coming to St. John will become a sightseeing centre for all Canadians, a mecca for provincialists and an especially attractive homecoming spot for New England folk formerly domiciled in these parts. Motion picture camera men are to be here in numbers, including the official cinematographers of the British government who are commissioned to make historic records of Prince Edward's journey to the King and Queen and their private collections. Each of the big newspapers in upper Canada and numerous American journals will have correspondents on the scene, in addition to such press agencies as the Canadian Associated Press and the Associated Press of America. It is expected that on the day of the prince's coming to St. John there will be a large number of people outside newspaper men flocked to these parts in such numbers as will be expected in a fortnight were the likelihood of the sinking of the Titanic and in a smaller degree the recent hop-ops of transatlantic airmen. Indeed St. John will be very much the centre of the world because of the prince's first landing at this port, and it is probable public spirited bodies will take for their motto the motto of the day, "The prince is here, the press representatives with as much interesting data and up-to-date photographs of the city as will be accepted."

Police Court

In the police court this morning William Moore was charged with breaking and entering a case in the Police City Island and with interfering with Police Constable on Sunday afternoon in Nelson street.

Police Constable Colwell said that on last Sunday he placed James Moore under arrest in Nelson street on suspicion of breaking into a C. P. car. William Moore, his brother, was with him and the defendant ran to a pile of bricks by the power house, picked up one in either hand and threw them at the policeman who called to a fireman in the power house to catch him. The fireman ran after him and the defendant let a shower of bricks fly at him. The defendant swore at the policeman and threatened to brain him if he put bracelets on his brother. The case was postponed.

The defendant was arrested at Mispec on a warrant. Arthur Devlin and Charles Perry, arrested by Sergeant Detective Power and Detective Biddiscombe, were charged with breaking and entering the quick lunch wagon in North Market street owned by John Durand. They were remanded.
