LOCAL NEWS.

There will be a Thanksgiving Tea in the vestry of the Carleton Methodist church tonight. Tea will be served from six to eight o'clock.

Policeman Gosselin reports that he was called into John Boyle's house on King street, west end, last evening to quell a disturbance.

Jeremiah Buckley, of the west end, has been awarded the contract for the heating of the new Church of the Assumption.

In the police court this morning George McIntyre and Alex. Ganser were fined $10 each for fighting on Water street. One common drunk was fined $5 or two months jail.

Repairs to the broken water main were completed at 11:45 o'clock this morning. The water is now on all over the city. The testing will be resumed this afternoon.

A large audience attended the special evangelistic meetings in the Coburg street Christian church last night to hear Rev. T. J. Bates, who preached an able sermon. Subject tonight, "Saved From Sulfide."

An alarm was sounded from box 143 about 7:30 o'clock this morning for a fire in an old wharf off Acadia street, north end. The damage done was trifling.

The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Bertha Doody, wife of Harry Doody, St. Andrews street. Mr. Doody was the daughter of Michael Hallon, of Milford, and besides her husband leaves an infant child, father, mother, sister and five brothers.

The organization meeting of the Westfield amusement association will be held in the board of trade rooms, Prince William street, at eight o'clock on Monday evening. All residents of Westfield and those who expect to become residents are invited to attend, for the association is intended to include everyone.

The body of the young Richards boy who was drowned from Partridge Island on Monday has not yet been found. The search was kept up yesterday as long as the tide permitted and was resumed at low water today. There is very little hope that the body will be discovered for some days, as it has most likely been carried down the bay, and will be washed ashore later.

THE TRAGEDY OF A LIFE.

Unfortunate Results of an Injury Sustained in the West Throat to Ruth Lee Jordan's Career.

A day or two ago the Star printed a paragraph to the effect that Herbert Lee Jordan, who is a son of James G. Jordan, of this city, and engaged in engineering work in Montreal, had been taken to Boston for treatment. Gilbert C. Jordan yesterday received word from Boston stating that Lee had stood the journey well and was feeling comparatively good health. The specialist in Boston to whom he was taken holds out some hope for his recovery.

Mr. Jordan's case is a peculiarly and one. Some eight years ago he left his home in St. John, after a course at the U. N. B., to take up practical work in engineering and surveying with the C. P. R. as a surveyor in the West. One day, while riding on the prairie, he was thrown from his horse and had his left shoulder badly injured. This was attended to, and all effects seemed to pass away, but four years later, while in Montreal, Mr. Jordan one day was assisting a lady to get on a street car when the bone of his left arm snapped between the shoulder and elbow. Up to this time he had no idea of any existing weakness, but on examination, surgeons discovered that the bone had been eaten away by caries, resulting from the old injury. The disease was working its way upwards to the shoulder, and the only hope of saving Mr. Jordan's life was in the amputation of the arm. This operation was performed, and for a time it seemed that the injury was completely cured, but a year or so later Mr. Jordan again felt pains in his shoulder and underwent another operation in which the flesh was trimmed and a couple of glands removed. He was then assured that he was absolutely free from any further trouble.

Mr. Jordan became engaged to a young lady in Montreal and had intended getting married about the time of this second operation, but through fear that his health might later fail, it was decided to postpone the marriage for two years, and if at the end of that time there was no indication of further trouble the ceremony would be performed. No such sign appeared, and the wedding day was fixed in September last and all preparations made, but a week or two before the time named, Mr. Jordan was suddenly seized with severe pains in the shoulder, and on examination surgeons found that the disease had worked its way through the shoulder and was approaching his lungs.

For the past two months he has been in Montreal under the best treatment that could be procured, but as no improvement has been brought about it was decided to try a prominent specialist in Boston. Mr. Jordan, who is quite a young man, holds an excellent position with the C. P. R. as a divisional engineer on the Eastern lines. He has many friends in St. John.

HEAVY SENTENCES IN BAWDY HOUSE CASE

A Distressing State of Affairs Revealed in Court.

Disreputable Men Sent to Jail—One of Them Leaves His Family Without the Necessities of Life.

Yesterday afternoon Sergt. Kilpatrick and Policeman Marshall were informed by Mrs. James Lavigne and Mrs. Hachey that their husbands had not been home all night and at that time were in Mrs. Phoebe McKenna's house at 608 Main street. The police made a raid on the house, with the result that Mrs. McKenna was arrested on the charge of keeping a disorderly house and the two men as being inmates.

The woman is an aunt of Lavigne, and when the raid was made both were in a room drunk. Hachey is a brother of Mrs. McKenna, and he was found drunk in another room. The trio were taken to the north end station and there Mrs. McKenna complained of a serious illness and requested that she be sent to the hospital. Dr. Pratt was called in and could find nothing wrong with the woman and she remained in the cell over night.

In the police court this morning all three pleaded guilty to the charges against them. The wives of the two men then faced the magistrate and pleaded for their husbands. They said the McKenna woman was a sister of one and aunt of another of the men, that there was nothing wrong and the house was a decent one. The magistrate said it was no wonder that the men got drunk when their wives thought it all right for them to do so all night and to be found in company with a drunken woman, especially under the circumstances described. He sentenced the woman to a fine of $30 or three months in the Home of the Good Shepherd, and when that time expired she was to spend six additional months in the Home without a fine.

James Lavigne was fined $30 or three months jail with hard labor, and when that expired he was to have left for the full term of three months with hard labor. It is said that the McKenna woman's husband is working in Boston, and she has to have left for the full term of three months with hard labor.

There is considerable sympathy for the wives of the two prisoners, and Mrs. Hachey, who is said to be a hard working man.

Mrs. Hachey is soon to become a mother, and one of her children is dying in their Pond street home. They are also in very poor circumstances.

For Lavigne there is not much sympathy, for it is said that he does not treat his wife very well. They have a three week old baby at home, and he is credited with having abused his wife only a few days before their child was born.

In delivering sentence on the prisoners the magistrate looked towards the policemen in court and said: "I still have the names of a number of fellows who are frequenters of Sheffield street houses and I wish the police would bring before me some of these whites who frequent the houses kept by black people. I believe also that there is an importation from Montreal in the Sheffield street locality and that some nobby chaps about the city are visitors to the resort. I would like the police to bring them before me, just to please me if nothing else."

STORM SHOWS NO SIGNS OF ABATING

Though the Wind is Not Quite as Strong as on Sunday—Warnings are Still Displayed.

One of the worst wind storms which has passed over the maritime provinces for years has been raging since Sunday last, and as a result many vessels have been lost and other damage done. The storm commenced at one o'clock Sunday morning, the storm signals having been hoisted on Saturday night. From four o'clock Sunday morning until six o'clock Sunday evening, the wind ranged from 35 to 40 miles an hour. It was at first from the southeast but shifted to northwest on Sunday night. On Monday the wind was still blowing from the northwest. The signals for the first storm were lowered at 11:40 p. m. on October 9th, and were again hoisted at 5 p. m. on Monday. The gale was then moving down over the great lakes. Since Monday the signals have not been lowered, and the storm is not yet over. The worst wind which swept over St. John was blowing at 25 miles an hour. The heavy shower of rain at one o'clock this morning somewhat abated the storm, and the water in the bay was not so rough today.

The executive committee of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation met yesterday and started arrangements for the great temperance campaign to be held in the provinces during November. The world's temperance orator and evangelist, E. Tennison Smith, will arrive at Quebec Nov. 9, and will lecture at Fredericton, Moncton and St. John. Further particulars will be given later.

Last evening Pierless Lodge No. 19 I. O. O. F., celebrated its 32nd anniversary in the hall Simonds street. The musical programme consisted of piano selections by E. W. Stanton, address by Edward Stockford, solo by Miss Hannah, reading by Miss Pearl Sprague, address by M. D. Brown, duet by Messrs. John Salmon and Fred Dunham, address by D. G. Langley, quartette Messrs. Holder, Cochrane, Griffiths and Belvey, reading, Charles Letford. During the evening refreshments were served.

Has Your Boy Ever Worn a Russian Overcoat?

WE ARE SHOWING BEAUTIES
in RICH CLOTHS and COLORS at $3 up to $8

AS THE ACCOMPANYING ILLUSTRATION INDICATES, the Russian model in boys' Overcoats is at once uncommonly pretty and brim full of solid comfort. When dealers speak of clothing it is classified as "fancy," but there's as much good warmth and serviceability in a Russian coat as in any outer garment we know of. Buttoned close to neck, made with gilt buttons or frog loops, velvet collar, etc., it sets off manly lads to perfection, while the interior make-up, such as red flannel linings, etc., ensure protection against colds and weather. No cloth is spared in making our Russian coats roomy and non-binding; and as far as exact cut goes, there's a choice between pleated, plain or strapped backs. In a word, a tip-top assortment.

Russian Coats in Meltons, Blues and Browns.
Russian Coats in Friezes, Browns, Greys, Blues.
Russian Coats in Nap, Navy Blues.
Russian Coats in Cheviots, Navy, Royal, Brown, Green.
