ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 25, 1902.

MR. TARTE.

The members of the federal cabinet who are most likely to feel the lash of Mr. Tarte's criticism are probably Messrs. Blair and Sifton, although he will hardly regard with any marked degree of affection the man who becomes minister of public works. Between Mr. Tarte and the two gentlemen named there has long been a feeling of personal antagonism, and the late minister was by far the stronger man. He was not always careful to conceal his contempt for their administrative policy; and, now that he is absolutely free to criticize, it may be taken for granted that their plans and estimates will be subjected to something more than a careless scrutiny. Mr. Tarte will have no estimates of his own to look after, and will derive considerable pleasure from warming up the men who sometimes, no doubt, stood in his way. It may be taken for granted that a new life will be infused into the dulness of parliamentary debate when Mr. Tarte sees an opportunity to pay off an old score. For beneath the courteous phraseology of his parting words there must undoubtedly rankle a feeling of bitterness. He was a tower of strength to the liberal party in Quebec province, and the most resourceful elector of them all. He will certainly not labor any longer to strengthen a government which has practically cast him out, and on the other hand a man of his restless energy cannot remain idle. The assumed cheerfulness with which government organs regard his defection is merely a cloak. In their hearts they know that Mr. Tarte is a man to be reckoned with, and they know also that they have no further claims upon him. He probably feels that he has done more for the liberals than they have done for him, and he is not the man to forget it. As the Star has already observed, the liberal conservatives can view the whole affair with complacency. So far as Mr. Tarte advocates their policy in relation to tariff and transportation matters, or any other subject, they will give him full credit for his efforts and welcome his support. They are not, however, in search of either a leader or a policy, and the suggestion that they would exchange Mr. Borden for Mr. Tarte is the very extreme of absurdity. For the present it is quite enough that the latter has parted company with Blair and Sifton, and enormously weakened a combination against which the conservatives have waged consistent war.

THE BOYS.

Sunday, more than any other day of the week, is a day of temptation to the idle boy who is not connected with any Sunday school, and has nothing in particular to engage his attention. There is a very large number of such boys in the city. Naturally groups of them gather together, at various places where they are not likely to be in anybody's way or have their own actions too closely scrutinized. In the plans that may be made for the betterment of the condition of boys of this class, something for them to do on Sunday should be a part of the programme. To many of them the atmosphere of an ordinary Sunday school room would be dull and heavy, and they would not attend. If some programme, as nearly secular as the nature of the day would permit church members to approve, and which would be of a character to interest and attract the boys, could be arranged, it would be a good beginning. The first step successfully taken, there would be less difficulty in thereafter arranging in the minds of the boys a stronger sense of their duties to themselves and their fellows. If all the boys and youths in the city whose time tomorrow will be wasted or worse than wasted could be marshalled on King street, the advocates of reforming agencies would have an object lesson which would appeal more effectively to the people than a year's sermons.

The Gazette makes a discussion of provincial politics the occasion of another vigorous attack on Mr. McDade. The organ of Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Tweedie appears to have a particular spite against the late reporter of the debates of the legislature. It cannot be said of him, however, that he waited till the government was defeated before withdrawing his support. He has not as yet, therefore, earned the right to be called an opportunist. Perhaps that is the reason he is not regarded with favor. The easy familiarity with which the Gazette refers to Mr. McDade as Michael reminds one of the time when the same paper affectionately called the Hon. Dr. Pugsley "Sweet William" and "Slippery Bill."

To the various gentlemen, headed by Col. Tucker, M. P., who are supposed to have influence in securing appointments to office, the Star in this crisis extends the assurance of a sympathetic regard. To the good citizen with influence who impartially attaches his signature to every applicant's requisition, the tribute of our admiration is mingled with a solemn dread concerning his future state. To the candidates who call "their eager quest for office we can but say:—Hope on, hope ever."

OPPOSITION LEADER

On His Way Home From the Pacific Coast.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—R. L. Borden and his wife passed through Ottawa this afternoon en route to Halifax. By the time they reach home they will have travelled ten thousand miles in the past eight weeks. Both are in the best of health. The opposition leader and party on their western tour addressed forty public gatherings besides several banquets, eight meetings in British Columbia, seventeen in the Territories, fourteen in Manitoba and one in Ontario.

To the Sun correspondent Mr. Borden said: We found the conservative party of British Columbia in splendid form. They are perfecting their organization and any differences of opinion which may have existed in the past have been amicably settled. As an evidence of their good feeling and as a reminder of our visit they sent a most encouraging telegram on the night of the Winnipeg banquet. Our friends in the Territories are active, energetic and enthusiastic, and the same observation will apply to the conservatives in Manitoba. Nothing could have been more hearty or cordial than the receptions accorded to us everywhere. The banquet at Winnipeg last Monday evening is said to have been the greatest ever given west of Lake Superior. We are told that the effect of this tour in the western country cannot be otherwise than a splendid one from a party standpoint. We have come into personal touch with not only the leaders of the party, but the humblest members. We have had opportunities of studying conditions as they exist in Western Canada, probably not as fully as we would have liked, but yet to an extent which has given us a better conception of our country and has enabled us to realize better than heretofore what a magnificent heritage Canada possesses west of Lake Superior. I had been to the Pacific Coast and back in 1894, but at that time all I saw of the country was from the railway car. All the members of our party know in figures what is the size of Western Canada, but it is only by actual experience and observation that one can grasp a true conception of its grandeur and of its illimitable resources. In my judgment the future of Canada lies very largely in the Northwest. The ordinary traveler simply passes through the country on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, but you can get north and south of the line and see farming land, better than which is not to be found anywhere. Take for instance around Edmonton. There we saw as fine a country as any that I have ever looked upon, and I believe the same is true of the country for hundreds of miles north and south of the railway line. Manitoba and the Northwest show evidences of great prosperity. Crops, as you are aware, have been magnificent. Harvesting is well advanced, although somewhat later this year owing to the season. When it is borne in mind that at the present time 2,000,000 bushels of wheat are being threshed on the average every day in Manitoba and the Northwest, it can readily be understood how busy the farmers are, and yet, notwithstanding the press of work, hundreds of them did not hesitate to take a day off in order to attend our meetings.

Mr. Borden spends tomorrow in Montreal and will reach Halifax on Sunday. MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Hon. R. L. Borden arrived tonight from Winnipeg and was met at the station by leading conservatives. He will be the guest of F. D. Monk while in the city. Tomorrow afternoon the Junior Conservative Club will entertain Mr. Borden at luncheon. The opposition leader is greatly pleased at the reception he met in the west, and particularly with the banquet tendered him the night previous to his departure from Winnipeg.

A MONOTON VIEW.

(Monoton Times.) A month ago the St. John Telegraph was stating that Mr. Tarte's course was an indication of the broad mindedness that existed in the liberal party and that his course entitled him to the respect of liberals. Now the same Telegraph glooms over the fact that Mr. Tarte has been retired from the ministry and extols Sir Wilfrid for capitulating him quickly. The honest liberals, if they have not all left the party, must be sorely perplexed these days.

BOYS' MISSION.

Matter Discussed By Evangelical Alliance Yesterday Afternoon.

A special meeting of the Evangelical Alliance was held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. parlors to hear Rev. Mr. Whitney's plans for the better carrying on of mission work among the boys of this city. Rev. T. F. Fotheringham, president of the alliance, was in the chair, and there were present besides Mr. Whitney, J. F. Bullock, Rev. Dr. Wilson, Rev. G. N. Stevenson, Rev. C. Burnett, Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Rev. Alex. White, Rev. C. T. Phillips, Rev. Dr. Sprague and Rev. J. C. B. Appel.

The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Wilson, after which the chairman explained the object of the meeting and called on Mr. Whitney to outline his scheme. Mr. Whitney first impressed upon his listeners the great necessity of such a work in this city, and then outlined his scheme, or at least a scheme he would like to see carried out. It provided for a mission in Lower Cove, one on Brunswick street, one on Mill street, one at Inlandtown, and if possible, missions at Carleton Place and Fairville. He next referred to the fitting and furniture needed in the missions, baths, gymnasiums, etc. Educational classes should be organized and opportunities afforded for musical study. He also strongly favored a debating society. The speaker at some length urged the necessity of games, and told of the great increase in attendance at the Mill street mission after games had been introduced.

Another feature he strongly favored was providing lunches, coffee, bread, sandwiches, etc., all free, for the boys. One thing Mr. Whitney strongly claimed was that the work should be interdenominational and evangelical. This was necessary to make it successful.

Referring again to his own plans the speaker suggested Sunday meetings in the Theatre at hours that would not conflict with the regular church services. In conclusion, Mr. Whitney asked that they endorse his work, the operation of the ministers was necessary. He asked them to make no bar against Catholic children; they are all going to be citizens, and it is better to have them decent citizens. He had visited many Catholic homes and had always been pleasantly received.

Mr. Bullock heartily endorsed Mr. Whitney's remarks and spoke favorably of the work being done and the great necessity there was for boys' work. The scheme if carried out would require the entire attention of one man and several committees. There was no necessity for employing a high priced man, one could be secured at a reasonable figure.

Rev. Mr. Roach expressed sympathy with the movement and felt it was time some definite action was taken by the city clergy.

Rev. Mr. Phillips considered Mr. Whitney's request a reasonable one. He had not had the support in the past that he deserved, yet he had accomplished much.

Rev. Mr. Burnett also supported Mr. Whitney's scheme.

Rev. Mr. Roach moved: "That we give our hearty endorsement to the work proposed by Mr. Whitney and recommended it to the churches of St. John." Rev. Mr. Stevenson seconded the motion.

Dr. Wilson favored the appointment of a committee to look into the matter at once and report to the alliance, when he hoped there would be a much larger attendance of members.

Rev. Mr. Phillips favored Dr. Wilson's idea, and Mr. Roach, with the content of the seconder, withdrew his motion, and a motion to the effect that the chairman appoint a committee of five to look into the matter and report to the next regular meeting of the alliance, was passed. The committee was then appointed as follows: Rev. Mr. Appel (chairman), Rev. Mr. Phillips, Rev. Mr. Roach, Rev. C. W. Hamilton and Rev. Mr. Fotheringham.

LAURIER'S TROUBLES.

Has Gone to Quebec to Consult Party Leaders.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Laurier left at noon today for Quebec, where he goes to consult the party leaders.

It is now stated that the vacancy in the cabinet will not be filled for two weeks, or until the premier has enjoyed a short vacation at Arthabaska, but it is generally understood that when the announcement is made, Speaker Brodeur will be named minister of public works, and Raymond Prefontaine speaker. The mere mention of the possibility of Sutherland being named minister of public works has brought a storm of protests from all over the province of Quebec. Laurier has been told that a Quebec man must have the portfolio or Tarte will have more of a following than the premier imagines. Brodeur does not hanker after the portfolio. He is not in particularly good health and is quite satisfied with the speakership, pending an opportunity for his elevation to the bench. Laurier would like to make Prefontaine minister of public works, but is afraid to do so. He fears arousing Tarte, and this he would most surely do if he were to fill his shoes with his greatest enemy. Just now the feeling in liberal circles is that if Tarte is properly handled he will not prove a fire-brand, but will remain of much assistance to the party. Laurier is said to recognize the mistakes he made in making his letters of acceptance of the resignation so harsh and giving it to the press for publication before it was received by the gentleman to whom it was addressed. He has apologists among his own friends who say that he was compelled to act as he did by threats of members of the cabinet hostile to Tarte, and they point out that such grave breaches of good manners and etiquette are very foreign to Sir Wilfrid's kindly nature. Evidences is not lacking that Tarte recognizes this and is disposed to make allowances for Laurier's moment of weakness. But if things are to remain pleasant, Sifton et al will have to be most careful.

Mr. Tarte has gone to Sault Ste. Marie to attend the opening of a portion of the Clergue plant. In the meantime La Patrie continues to advocate high protection.
