Information Technology Professional Program at UNB

Hang on. You are about to embark on a new career path.

You are on the cusp of completing your degree. There are good jobs now and in the future for IT experts. Consider the possibilities.

Take your fortune into your own hands by choosing a 12-month, full-time program designed to get results. University of New Brunswick and the Software Human Resource Council of Canada have created an intensive, one-year Information Technology Professional Program, which gives you the specific skills needed to get a good job. ITP is an intensive training environment with a three-month work term, providing real-world experience and adding specific skills to your resumé. Skills like project management that industry is crying out for. Skills that command top price in the marketplace. ITP prepares you for Microsoft, Cisco, Novell, and A+ certification exams. At other sites, where the ITP program is already running, many grads are recruited before their year is even complete.

TUITION: $15,000;
(INCLUDES BOOKS AND MICROSOFT EXAM VOUCHERS).

NEXT INTAKE — ITP 2 — STARTS MARCH 13, 2000

PUBLIC INFORMATION SESSIONS:

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 2000 7:00 PM

— ITP LABS, D'AVRAY HALL, UNB, FREDERICTON.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 2000 7:00 PM

— HILTON HOTEL, DOWNTOWN SAINT JOHN.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 2000 7:00 PM

— ITP LABS, D'AVRAY HALL, UNB, FREDERICTON.
