Liz finds golf maturity

By IAN HUTCHINSON
Times staff writer

Maturity has been a big factor for Credit Valley's Liz Ferrier in her recent success on the Ontario Ladies' amateur golf circuit. Ferrier made it to the semi-finals of last week's Ontario match play tournament at Board of Trade before being knocked out by Barb Bunkowsky who won one-up.

She has also been asked to represent Ontario at the Canadian ladies tournament Aug. 18-23 at London Hunt Club after shooting a 75 to 79 in Ontario test matches and two 82s in the Ontario tournament two weeks ago.

"I'm getting older, I'm maturing," says the 30-year-old. "My attitudes are better, I play for the activity and don't put as much pressure on myself as I used to."

The maturity helps in match play which she feels is one of the toughest types of golf to play. In match play, competitors are put head-to-head against each other and play hole by hole.

"It's a very exciting type of game," she says. "You gamble a little more than you would normally. You have to be mentally strong to play it."

Her strength showed in the first two matches as she beat Karen Munding of the Ladies Golf Club, one-up on 18 holes in the morning and defeated Strathroy's Carol McGahan two-up in the afternoon.

"In regular play, players are playing the course and some will go for par but in match play, you try for birdies," she says.

As for her chances in the Canadian tournament, she says her chances are slim against a field which includes Judy Ellis, of Westmount, Ellis won the ladies tournament at Westmount two weeks ago.

"I'm going in with the same attitude I'll be happy going for par," she says. "It would be unrealistic to say I was going to win. To win, you have to play every day." "It (London Hunt) is one of the more difficult courses around," she adds. "I think that's great because it makes for good golf."

One of the reasons she feels she won't win is because the calibre of ladies golf is improving in Canada, pointing out that people like Ellis are obtaining golf scholarships to Universities in the United States.

"They didn't have anything like that when I was younger," she says. "I think it's great. People should start coming out and watching ladies golf. It's very exciting."

Munro sixth

Margaret Munro, of the Trafalgar Golf Club, has qualified to play in the Canadian Ladies Amateur Tournament slated for the end of August in Sydney, Nova Scotia.

Munro shot an 87 last week to finish sixth in the Ontario Senior Ladies Tournament at St. Catharines Golf Club.

The Mississauga District ladies team won the low net team score at the tournament. Yolande White fired a 90 and Lil Stubbs and Norma Lee shot 89s for the team.

Cawthra downs favored Port Credit Pool

Cawthra-Serson pulled the biggest upset of the year in CIT'SWIM tri-meet action last week as it knocked off previously unbeaten Port Credit 1520-1407 at Cawthra-Serson.

David Ramsey was third with 900 points. In other action, Appelwood, with 1245 points downed Westacres, with 1062 points and Glenforest with 874. Streetsville scored 1317 points to beat Huron Park, with 1260, and Lewis Bradley, with 1138. Clarkson, with 1486, was tops over Westwood, with 1391, and Erindale, with 1228.

CIT'SWIM TRI-MEET RESULTS (Cawthra-Serson, David Ramsey and Port Credit at Cawthra-Serson). Team standings: 1. Cawthra-Serson, 1520; 2. Port Credit, 1407; 3. David Ramsey, 900.
