The Long Ago. BY B. F. TAYLOR.

Oh ! a beautiful stream is the river TIME, As it runs through the realms of tears. With a faultless rythm and a musical rhyme. And a broader sweep and a surge sublime, As it bends with the ocean of years.

they go,

On the river's breast with its ebb and flow, As it glides up the shadow and sheen.

There's a magical ISLE up the river of Time, Where the softest airs are playing ; There's a cloudless sky and a trophical clime, And a song sweet as a vester chime, And the Junes with the roses are staying.

And the name of this Isle is the LONG AGO,

There are fragments of song that nobody sings, And a part of an infant's prayer ; There's a lote unswept, and a heart without strings. There are broken bows, and pieces of rings, And the garments that she used to wear.

There are hands that are waved when the fairy shore,

By the mirage is lifted in air ; And we sometimes hear through the turbulent no longer ago than 1820, was laughed at roar,

Sweet voices we heard, in the days gone before, When the wind down the river is fair.

Oh ! remembered for aye be the blessed isle, All the day of life till night-When the evening comes with its beautiful smile, And our eyes are closing to summer awhile, May that "greenwood" of soul be in sight.

Levi Birtlett, of the Granite Firmer, gives. an interesting statement in regard to raising peaches in New Hampshire It appears in 1840 he sowed some peach stopes, which came up and made a vigorous growth; but were entirely cut down the next winter And so on for three years, during which time the ground was well tilled and manured. He here gave up the effort to grow neaches where the thermometor fell to 28 pelow zero, and left the trees to shirk for themsolves. This neglect, by causing a slow wowth has been their salvation : "the trees now stand in the nursery-rows apparently as hardy as the guaried oak "

"Grass and weeds sprang up among the trees and retarded their growth, and every succeeding winter killed less and less of the new wood up to the spring of 1850, when scattering blossoms appeared on eight or ten of the trees, which produced fruit of various quatries. In 1851 there was a much larger show of blossoms, succeeded by two or three bushels of fruit.

" In 1852 had thirty trees in full bloom : they all produced fruit, ripening in a succession of five or six weeks. Last May we had forty trees in bloom, and probably we had from 59 to 60 bushels of peaches, of various qualities, from very good to poorand of different colors, shape and size, and in time of ripening embracing a period of five or six weeks."

GENTLEMEN,-The lady for whom I ordered your tood s six months advanced in pregnancy, and was suffering is six months advanced in pregnancy, and was suffering severely from indigestion, constitution, throwing up her meals shorly after eating them, having a great deal of heartburn, and being constantly obliged to physic or the enema, and sometimes to both. I am happy to inform you that your food produced immediate relief. She has never been sick since, had little heartburn, and the func-tions are more regular, & c. You are liberty to publish this letter if you think it will tend to the benefit of other sufferers. I remain, gen-tiemen, yours succerely. THOMAS WOODHOUSE.

Bonn, 19th July, 1953 - This light and pleasant Farina is one of the most excellent, nourishing, and restorative remedies, and supersides in many cases, all kinds of me-dicines. It is particularly useful in confined habit of body, as also in diarrhoes, bowel complaints, affections of the kidneys and bladder, such as stone or gravel; in of the kidneys and bladder, such as stone or gravel; in dammator; irflation and cramp of the ureths, cramp of the kidney and bladder strictures, and harmorrhoids. This really invaluable remedy is employed with the most sa-tisfactory result, not only in bronchist and pulmonary and bronchist consumption, in which it counteracts effec-tually the troublescome cough; and I am enabled with perfect truth to express the conviction that DuBarray's Bevalents Arabica is adapted to the cure of incipient hec-tic complaints and consumption.
