EDITORIAL NOTES.

The war has begun in earnest on the Pacific Ocean. The Spanish fleet after taking up its position within the shelter of the batteries at Manilla waited the coming of the American Pacific fleet under Admiral Dewey. On Sunday last a battle was fought between the fleets which resulted in the loss of at least four of Spains ships. Two large vessels were set on fire, it is supposed, by the shells from the American vessels and at least two other Spanish vessels were disabled, and sunk by order of the SCrofula Spanish Admiral to avoid being captured by the Americans. There is no account of the loss of men on either sides except of one Spanish commander, but there is no doubt that many lives were lost on both sides. The only account given is from Spanish sources and they claimed a victory. But it has been a costly one for them as their fleet is completely demoralized and the Americans were able to begin the bombardment of Manila, which, it is thought, cannot long resist the American assault. On the Atlantic nothing of any consequence has transpired since last weeks issue. The Spanish Atlantic fleet has sailed from St. Vincent and where the objective point is, yet remains a secret. It should arrive on this side of the Atlantic sometime this week but whether at Cuba or at some of the northern American cities is not known. Intense excitement reigns at Madrid over the disheartening news of the fight at the Philippine Islands and the notoriously defective state of the Spanish fleet under Admiral Montig's is the subject of severe criticism there.

Probably the most authentic account of a wild child is that youched for by M. Izard. This child was found in Ayignon, France, in 1718, by some sportsmen, and was taken to M. Izard's asylum, in Paris. When found he was without clothes, and, though the thermometer registered several degrees of frost, he was rolling in the snow and apparently enjoying the pastime. His body was covered, with scratches and bites, and it was presumed that he had lately been engaged in other than amicable discussion with some other denizen of the forest. Unable to speak, he was, to all intents and purposes, an animal, but how he became to be in such a deplorable condition it is impossible to say. On his arrival in Paris, M. Izard, the superintendent of a deaf and dumb asylum, took him in hand and endeavored to teach him language. Whenever any one entered the room in which he was, the child made toward them on all fours and sniffed at their legs like dogs. Like the prodigal, he fed upon acorns and husks, and appears to have taken upon this diet in preference to others. M. Izards attempt to teach him to speak always had the effect of throwing him into a violent passion, in which state he would tear up his clothes and everything else upon which he would put his hands, becoming altogether unmanageable. M. Izard, however, had observed that whenever the boy looked down from a height, he became at once frightened and submissive, and so on one occasion, when he had 'run amuck' the superintendent seized him, held him out of a window on the third story and made out that he would throw him down. Cruel as the proceeding appears, it had the desired effect, and from that day the boy became quiet, neither did he ever afterward altempt to tear up his clothes. By degrees he was persuaded to put on clothes, but the attempt to teach him the alphabet on the deaf and silver plated 5 bottle Cruet, regular price $2.25, cut price $1.50. Boy's Life Saved

"One day my little boy, aged 7, got a fall and hurt his knee. Inflammation of the knee joint set in and the decay of the bone of the leg rapidly followed. Doctors removed over a hundred pieces of decayed bone, but the process of decomposition continued. All attempts to stop it failed. The boy had but a few days' life before him according to all human expectations. Mr. Denham, druggist, Petrolia, advised me to try Scott's Sarsaparilla, I did so, and not only saved but completely cured my boy."-Joseph Dun-CAN, farmer, Lambton County, Ont.

A HEAVY MORTCAGE.

How a prominent farmer quickly lifted it.

A mortgage has been described as an incentive to industry, a heavy mortgage, as a sure sign o ruin. The last is particularly true, for if a mortgage is allowed to run it will eat up the farm. In this connection Mr. Henry Fowler, of Huron writes: "From my boyhood scrofula had marked me for a victim and it seemed as if it had a life mortgage on my blood. I suffered fearfully with sores, and knowing my condition I have remained a single man. Doctor after doctor prescribed for me, and finally a Toronto specialist told me bluntly that my complaint was a deep-seated, incurable, blood disease. Sarsaparilla I knew was a good blood medicine, and I sent for a bottle of the best. Mr. Todd, the druggist, sent me Scott's Sarsaparilla, and I have stuck to it. It has lifted my mortgage, for to-day I am free from those horrible sores, my eyesight is not blurred, my tongue is not furry, and I have no irritation. I look upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

Scrofula, pimples, running sores, rheumatism and all diseases generated by poisonous humors in the blood are cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla. The kind that cures. Sold only in concentrated form at $1 per bottle by your druggist. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.
