DEATH OF JAMES PURCELL

Mr. James Purcell, a highly esteemed resident of Rear Yonge, died on Sunday last at his farm near the Athens toll-gate. About six years ago, Mr. Purcell sold his farm near Toledo and bought the P. S. Trickey farm on which he has since resided. He had been sick for some time, so that his death was not unexpected. He leaves a wife (daughter of Mr. W. Chant) and a son of four years to mourn his loss, and they have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement. The funeral took place on Tuesday and was very largely attended. Service was conducted in Christ church by Rev. Rural Dean Wright and the remains were conveyed to the old home-stand near Toledo for interment.

Owes His Life to a Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any, relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by J. P. Lamb & Son.

They were delighted with the beautiful scenery, the many evidences of wealth and refinement, and above all with the friendliness of the people. Many of their friends heard with pleasure Mrs. Houghton's recital at the Presbyterian anniversary concert.

Diminished Vitality

Some people talk very flippantly about diminished vitality. They don't stop to think that vitality is the principle of life—that it is that little understood something on which every function of their bodies depends. Diminished vitality is early indicated by loss of appetite, strength and endurance, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest vitalizer.

ABOUT LADIES' JACKETS

"In the 'good old days,' and not so very long ago, either, the purchase of a lady's jacket was a work not to be lightly undertaken. The selection of material and the question of how it would look when made up were serious matters, and then the mantue-maker had to be reckoned with. And, alas! how many sartorial plans saw their finish right there—garments produced that didn't fit and were 'just a fright.'"

But now all this worry and vexation is a thing of the past. Skilled manufacturers have come to the rescue, those of Germany leading, and have reduced the problem to a simple question of selection—the fit is a matter of certainty. And then the cost, too, has been very greatly reduced, in some cases fully fifty per cent less than under the old system.

As an educator along this line, nothing could be more pleasing or convincing than a visit to the store of Robert Wright & Co., Brockville. There the annex is devoted almost entirely to the display of these goods—over 800 jackets being in stock, and all open to easy inspection. The jackets are hung in rows on movable fixtures, and having decided on about the price you want to pay, the whole range in colors and materials at that figure may at once be seen. These goods were purchased by Mr. Robert Wright, personally, from British and European manufacturers, and the saving thus effected is shown in the price at which the goods are sold. All fixtures and appointments to the new annex to "Brockville's Greatest Store" are now in position, and ladies find it a pleasant place in which to spend a half-hour whether they are buying or not.

Yes, the "good old days" were all well enough in some respects, but the good, new, up-to-date methods of making and selling ladies' jackets have come to stay.
