

RAW FURS WANTED

Will pay cash for all fur skins sent me. Will pay all charges, express, royalty or postage. Mink no. 1 up to $15.00; Red Fox no. 1 up to $15.00 and correspondingly high prices for other furs. Send trial shipment. Reference, Bank of Nova Scotia, Chatham, N. B.

HARRY RICH, 48 Archibald St., Moncton, N. B. Phone 765

COUGHS AND COLDS

We carry a full line of remedies

C. C. AVERY CHEMIST AND DRUGGIST South Devon, N. B. Phone 648-31

A RUDE AWAKING

To find you have ordered dry wood from a Smooth Guy with a Velvet Tongue and he has passed one over you. Misery for the next six months! Order from DUNN.

Telephone 4100-41.

RALPH O. WILSON

Piano Tuning and Repairing in all its branches.

All orders will have prompt attention. Phone 412. 52 Shore Street.

UNCLE SAM'S EXCHANGE

Bargains in all kinds of second hand goods such as sideboards, tables, chairs, parlor suites, rocking chairs, bureaus, commodes, beds, springs, mattresses, pillows, kitchen ranges, heaters, oil stoves, Franklin, hall racks, sewing machines, men's clothing, boots, hats, fur coats, riding breeches, tunics, military overcoats, rifles and shot guns of all kinds, knapsacks, musical instruments, phonograph records, bicycles, watches and a great lot of other useful articles. We buy everything and high prices at ways paid for second hand goods. Call at 507 Queen, below Regent. Phone 294-31.

HAVE YOU TRIED OUR BUTTERMILK?

Sold at 6c. per quart or 20 cts per gallon. FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE DAIRY CO., LTD. 488 King Street

Going Out of the Shoe Business

SPECIAL BARGAINS in Felt-footwear, Men's Boots, Felt Leather Facing, some all felt. To clear at $2.99

Women's Felt Boots $2.49, some leather sales, some felt, actual bargains.

BARGAINS IN ALL LINES NOT MENTIONED ABOVE

Shepherd's Shoe House of Bargains

House of Bargains, 71 Regent St., Opp. Waverly Hotel.

Special Bargains!

M. L. BLOCK

Corner Queen and Regent Streets Fredericton, N. B.

FURS

SAME OLD STAND MRS. J. E. JOHNSTON Ladies' and Gents' Furrier 88 York Street

ARTHUR F. BETTS PLUMBER

Steam and Hot Water Heater Queen Street Phone 670-21, or House 789

TENDERS WANTED

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the undersigned at their office, Globe Atlantic Building, St. John, N. B., until Tuesday, February 7th, at 12 o'clock noon for the Stock of Merchandise and Fixtures of L. B. Elliott Estate, Marysville, N. B.

The stock consists of—Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Hardware, etc., amounting to, $3,333.44. Bids to be covered by Cash or Lien. $140.50

The stock can be inspected by application to J. Bacon Dickson, Solicitor, Fredericton and the inventory may be seen and further information obtained by application to our office, 147 Prince William Street.

Terms are Cash or half Cash, balance satisfactorily secured. The highest or any Tender not necessarily accepted.

THE CANADIAN CREDIT MEN'S TRUST ASSOCIATION, LTD. Authorized Trustee, St. John, N. B.

JAS. A. McADAM UNDERTAKER

REGENT STREET The Best and Most Modern Funeral Equipment in the City. Phone: Undertaking Rooms, 118-41 House, No. 816-41

WRY'S

Hams and Bacon Fresh Today Milk 12c quart

FRED P. HATT'S Cor. St. John and Brunswick Sts. Phone 515-11.

PERSIAN ARMY TO QUELL REBELLION

Government Fighting Out Expedition Against Kurdish Chief

Constantinople, Feb. 2.—The Persian government has organized an expedition to put down the rebellion headed by Simko, the Kurdish brigand chief, who has several times menaced the city of Tabriz, according to advices from Teheran. The government troops have been augmented by Cosacks from Teheran and by contingents from Northern provinces.

Colonel Ludenburg, one of the Swedish officers now in charge of the Persian militia, has been placed in complete control of all the military operations against Simko. The Swedish officers have succeeded the British who have withdrawn from any action with the Persian rifles or in other similar organizations in Persia.

Riza Khan, Persian Minister of War and formerly a member of the Cosack military organization in Persia, who is now almost dictator of the Persian cabinet, is determined to put an end to Simko's uprising.

One of Simko's most recent raids took place in October when part of his forces attacked the American Lutheran Mission at Sybulak when 500 gendarmes who surrendered. Simko's shot down with machine guns. Simko's wild tribesmen then looted the town.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

Charles A. Clark, the Lynn naturalist, and leader in the Uta Monster Society, remarked in a recent lecture that he saw a starfish 17 inches across that was caught in a lobster trap off Tinkers Island. This monster starfish, he said, was one of the largest ever caught on the New England coast. Larger starfish are found in the Pacific.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND

(Continued.) Somebody's pet Skye terrier, blanketed with scarlet satin embroideries with a monogram in gilt, had defied the bipennose of fashionable canine and feline etiquette, by lying at somebody's side, snowy Maltese cat, whose collar of silver bells jangled out of tune, as the combatants rolled on the velvet carpet, swept like a cyclone through the reception room.

Heed up the corridor. Two pretty children, gay as parakeets, in their cardinal plush cloaks, ran to the piano and began a furious tattoo, while their nurse gossiped with the bell boy.

With her hands locked around the portfolio, Beryl sat watching the door, and at last the policeman appeared at the threshold, where he paused an instant, then vanished.

A gentleman apparently forty years of age came in, and approached her. He was short in stature, florid, slightly bald; wore mutton chop whiskers, and a travelling suit of gray tweed broadly striped with blue.

Beryl rose, the stranger bowed. "Ah, you have my sketch book! Madam, I am eternally your debtor. Intrinsically worthless, perhaps; yet there are reasons which make it estimably valuable to me."

"I picked it up from the pavement, and though I opened it and examined it, you will find the contents intact. Will you look through it?"

"Oh! I dare say it is all right. No one cares for unfinished sketches, and these are mere studies."

He untied the thongs, turned over a dozen or more papers, then closed the lid, and put his hand in his pocket.

"I offered a reward to—" "I wish no fee, sir; but the policeman has taken some trouble in the matter, and without his aid I should probably not have been able to restore it. Pay him what you promised or may deem proper, and then permit me to ask for some information, which I think you can give me."

She hesitated, but when he looked in just then; and when the money had been counted into his hand, the latter lifted his cap.

"Sister, shall I see you safe on the car?" "Thank you, no. I can find my way home. I teach drawing at the 'Anchorage,' and desire to ask a few questions of this gentleman, who am sure is an artist."

When the policeman had left them Beryl took the portfolio and opened it, while the owner watched her curiously, striving to penetrate the silver folds of her veil.

"May I ask whether you expect to leave America immediately?" "I expect to sail on the steamer for Liverpool in a few days."

"Have you relatives in this country?" "None. I am merely a tourist, seeking glimpses of the best of this vast continent."

"Did you make these sketches?" "I did, from time to time; in fact, mine has been a sketching tour, and this book is one of several I have filled in America."

With trembling fingers she untied the silk, lifted the sketch, and said in a voice which, despite her efforts, quavered:

"I hope, sir, you will not consider me unwarrantably inquisitive if I ask where did you see this face?" "Ah! Mr. Monk of the mountains? That is 'Brother Luke,' looks like one of Mr. Frazer's wonderful heads, does he not? I saw him—let me see? Egad! Just exactly where it was, yond Assiniboia; somewhere in Alberta I am sure."

"Was it on British soil, or in the United States?" "Certainly in British territory; and on one of the excursions I made from Calgary. I think it was while hunting in the mountains between Alberta and British Columbia. Let me see the sketch. Yes—last of August; I was in that region until 1st of September."

Beryl drew a deep breath of intense relief as she reflected that foreign territory might be penetrated, and leaning forward she asked hesitatingly:

"Have you any objection to telling me the circumstances under which you saw him?" "Is my sketch so good a portrait?"

"It is wonderfully like one I knew years ago, and whom I desire to receive tidings. My friend is a handsome man about twenty-four years of age."

"I was camping out with a hunting party, and one day while they were away hunting I went to sketch a bit of fir wood clinging to the side of a rocky gorge. The day was hot, and I sat down to rest in the shadow of a stone ledge that jutted over the cove where a spring bubbled from the crag and made a ribbon of water. Here is the place on this sheet. Over there are the fir trees. Very soon I heard a rich voice chanting a solemn strain from Palestrina's Miserere; the very music I had listened to in the Sistine chapel a few months before, and peeping from my sheltered nook, I saw a man clad in monkish garb stoop to drink from the spring. He sat a while, with his arms clasped around his knees, and his profile was so perfect. I seized my pencil and drew the outlines, but before I completed it he suddenly fell upon his knees, and the intense anguish, remorse, contrition—what not—changed the countenance that while he prayed I made rapidly a new sketch. Then the most extraordinary thing happened. He rose, and turning fully toward me I saw that one half of his face was nobly regular, classically perfect, while the other side was hideously distorted. Absolutely he was 'Hyperion and Satyr' combined—with one set of features between them. I suppose my astonishment caused me to utter some exclamation, for he glanced at the sketch, saw me, turned and fled. I shouted and ran, but could not overtake him, and when I reached the open space I saw a figure speeding away on a white mustang pony, and knew from the fluttering of the black skirts that it was the same man. My sketch shows the right side of his face, the other was drawn down almost beyond the lineaments of humanity. Beg pardon, madam, but would you be so good as to tell me whether this freak of nature was congenital, or the result of some frightful accident?"

Beryl had shut her eyes, and her lips were compressed to stifle the groan that struggled in her throat. When she spoke the stranger detected a change in her voice.

"The person whose countenance was reflected by your sketch was afflicted by no physical blemish when last I saw him."

"His appearance was so singular that I made sunny inquiries about him, but only one person seemed ever to have encountered him; and that was a half-bred Indian driver, belonging to our party. He told me, another Luke belonged to a band of monks living somewhere beyond the mountains; and that he sometimes crossed searching for stray cattle. That is the history of my sketch, and since, am indebted to you for its recovery I regret for your sake that it is so meagre."

(To be continued.)

GAVE DINNER TO 300 UNEMPLOYED

The Premier of Sweden Personally Entertains Destitute Constituents

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.) Stockholm, Feb. 2.—Hjalmar Branting, the Socialist Premier of Sweden, recently gave at his own cost a dinner to 300 unemployed men, and women of Stockholm. The Premier and Mrs. Branting acted as host and hostess, while the guests were waited upon by the Premier's own family, among them Mrs. George Branting, the wife of the Premier's son.

Later in the evening the guests were taken to the municipal lodgings with lodgings in the municipal lodgings of Stockholm.

This is believed to be the first time the Premier of a European state has personally entertained his destitute constituents. When his guests had eaten their fill Premier Branting addressed them on the economic conditions in Sweden.

The Premier began by informing them that neither this dinner nor any other private or public aid extended to men and women without work was in any sense charity, but simply what was rightfully due them from those who were fortunate enough to be able to help. He said it was not their fault that they were without means, but that it was the fault of the conditions throughout Europe.

Mr. Branting warned his guests that the efforts of the state to better social and economic conditions could not be expected to lead to immediate results.

Alluding to the chaos in Russia, he declared that the slow-moving efforts of the old established Government system to improve social conditions was infinitely preferable to the breaking up of the old system. The world had seen where such a course led, but he could not say that it was not demanded from every person that he help as far as he possibly could in relieving the distress of the more unfortunate.

"That others will follow this example and that you will see thereby an utterance of social solidarity which breaks through all barriers," said the Premier in a speech, which was delivered with great earnestness, was received by a spontaneous and enthusiastic applause.

ZEALAND, N. B.

Zealand, N. B., Jan. 24.—The weather for the past few days has been extremely cold.

Miss Alice Brewer has returned to her home after spending a week with her mother and Lydia Brewer at North Devon.

The death messenger visited this community Jan. 14th and took from this world, Vincent Estey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Estey. The deceased was 20 years of age and is survived by his parents, six brothers and five sisters. He was a general favorite with all who knew him in Devon, where they spent a few days.

Miss Hazel Brewer of North Devon, spent two days last week the guest of her aunt, Mrs. H. D. Hanson.

It is a wise debutante who never shows how "wise" she is.

ONTARIO VETS INTERVIEW DRURY

Want Government to Accept Proposals to Aid the Unemployed

(Canadian Press by Leased Wire.) Toronto, Feb. 2.—The Dominion executive of the G. A. U. V. is interviewing the Ontario Government today regarding the putting into effect of the special provisions for administering relief to unemployed veterans offered by the Dominion Government by which the latter undertakes to contribute fifty per cent. if the province and municipalities each furnish twenty-five per cent. That immediate action be taken along these lines was requested in a resolution passed at the provincial convention of the G. A. U. V. at Kitchener, and the Dominion executive with the Government while the municipality is being communicated with also.

ADMINISTRATION OF QUEBEC JUSTICE

Opposition Leader Criticizes the Inefficiency of the Provincial Police

Quebec, Feb. 2.—Quite a warm debate was staged in the legislature yesterday afternoon between the leader of the opposition and the Premier relative to the administration of justice, with particular reference to the Blanche Garneau case. Mr. Sauve had all correspondence between the government and certain persons relative to complaints as to the inefficiency of the provincial police, and he took occasion to once more remind the Premier of his statement last session that the murderers of the unfortunate young lady in Victoria Park had been arrested and would be hanged.

This stung the Hon. L. A. Taschereau into making a further declaration that despite the decision of the jury in the trial of Binet and Palmer, he believed really that the two men were guilty of the crime, although later on he admitted to Mr. Sauve that there was no means by which they could be brought to trial a second time for the same offence.

PENNIAC, N. B.

Penniac, Jan. 23.—The weather for the past few days has been cold and stormy.

Mrs. Dan Thompson, of Beaver Harbour, was called here by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. John McSorley.

The many friends of Mrs. John McSorley will regret to hear that her condition is considered critical.

Mr. Harry Waugh spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McNeil spent Sunday with Mrs. John McSorley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby boy.

Mr. Thomas Daley of Penniac was called here on account of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. John McSorley.

Mrs. John Christie has returned to her home in Penniac.

Miss Della McCluskey is visiting friends of this place.

Mr. Leo McSorley is visiting his uncle, John McSorley.

Mr. William Christie of Penniac, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Silas Waugh of Stanley, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. John and William Christie are getting out their pulp wood. They have a fine lot.

THE DAILY GLEANER'S SALES AGENTS

St. John—News Stand, Royal Hotel. Woodstock—Guy L. Hanson's Bookstore, Queen Street, and by Newsboys.

St. Stephen—Harry L. Wall, Book and Stationery Co.; R. R. E. Hyslop.

Houlton, Me.—O. M. Smith, Book and Stationery Store; Adam Junction—H. A. Truck, Newstead; C. P. R. News Agent, Train No. 15.

Federicton Junction—James Clarke. Chatham—John Johnson, Stationer; William Dickens.

Miss A. Hearn's Book Store, Newcastle, N. B.—R. A. N. Jarvis, John S. Johnson.

Boston—Old South News Co. Campbellton—Wran's Drug Store.

Douglstown—John Kirkpatrick. Stanley—Geo. F. Dunham.

Marysville—Wm. Miller, Nellie White, Rowley Manzer, (Sandville).

Barker's Point—Chas. Flowers.

J. B. Stevens, Jr., of Littlefield, Me., shot a large Arctic owl in his hen pen after it had killed 15 of his hens the other day. The bird measured about five feet from tip to tip of wing.

W. R. FRASER & Co., Ltd.

430 Queen Street The cash store. Buy for cash and save money

New Chintz House Dresses

These Dresses are very pretty, durable and all the rage at the popular price, $1.75 each. New Serge, Flannel and Tricotine Dresses in popular styles and very moderate prices.

R. L. BLACK - - York St.

SALE

If you are looking for Bargains call at our store and we will give you real Genuine Bargains. Men's Real Heavy Overalls, Blue or Black, at 20 lbs. Bagg, $7.20. Men's Heavy Working Braces at 40c. pr. Men's Cashmere Socks at 45c. pr. Men's Cloth Top Gum Rubbers at $1.25. Men's Cloth Low Overshoes at $1.50. Men's White Gum Rubbers at $1.95. To clear, and you can only buy these goods at

Geo. R. Thompson's 87 REGENT STREET.

Good Values

FOR WEEK BEGINNING FEB. 1st

Brooms, 65, 75, 85, 100 Granulated Sugar, 13 lbs. 10c. Orange Pepp. Tea, bulk, 45c. lb. Good Country Butter, 40c. lb. Best Mollasses, 75c. gal. 6 gal. lots, 72c. gal. Kerosene Oil, 32c. gal. Rensselaer's Cream Soda Biscuits, 15c. lb. Small boxes, about 12 lbs., 13c. lb. Marver's Fancy Biscuits, 35c. lb. New shipment just arrived. Purity and Five Roses Flour, 98 lb. bag, 24 lb. bags, 30c. gal. Surprise, Gold and Naphtha Soap, 6 boxes, 100 cakes, $7.20 box Pure Lard, 20 lb. Belle, $3.40 Domestic Shortening, 20 lb. Pails $3.10 Canned Peas, 25c. tin Canned Apples, 25c. tin E. D. Smith's Marmalade, 16 oz. jars, 25c. Jar Good supply of Fresh Meats and Fresh Fish for this week. 15c. lb. 2 lbs for 25c.

Federicton Provision Co.

Phone 305. Corner King and York

WOOD

Dry split 16 in. hard wood $4.50 per load. Dry mill wood, $3.00 per load. Furnace wood and 4 foot wood.

T. W. FULTON

Phone 308-41

FOR A LONESOME NIGHT DROP IN AT THE