He is said to have stated to a rether recently that his electric light had en perfected in all its branches, and that eps had already been taken to introduce the steps had already been taken to introduce the light in Chicago, Detroit, Toronto, Cincin nati, Washington, and other cities. There was some hitch, Edison said, in New York regarding the laying of the wires. Edison and his shareholders have so often, like the boy who cried "wolf," screamed "light," that few people will now believe in the inven-tion until they see it and realise its blessings. if blessing it is to be.

The Port Hope Guide wants to run Mr. Bake for East Durham in 1883. The Time ave that it would be an honour to defeat Mr. Blake, and feels certain that the Conservative of East Durham are equal to the undertaking But the Opposition leader is not so green as his Port Hope organ would have us believe, He has a safe constituency in West Durham, and has no desire to experience afresh the lisgust with which his rejection by South ruce filled him. If the East Durham Grita ally wish to please and honour their leader, et them give him a dinner. He could not be elected in either Toronto or Montreal, but can and will be dined in both these cities.

The Opposition reminds one of Artemus Ward's militia company-every member is n officer. Failing Mr. Blake, Mr. Mackenie assumes the baton, with Mr. Charlton a od third. Sir Richard Cartwright com good third. Sir hichard Cartwright com mands a battalion of his own, consisting of himself. Mr. Paterson, of Brant, has charge of an awkward squad, which fights the battle of protection to confectionery. Mr. Hunt-ington marshals the Turveydrops, and serves under the banner of deportment. But when the session is about over, and all the other officers have gone upon furlough, the member for South Perth leads himself forth to the fray. The remaining subalterns, such at Messrs. Anglin and Rymal, generally follow eir noses, and with the usual results.

The Boston Advertiser refers to the fact that an agent of the Dominion Government is now travelling through the Eastern States diffusing information about the new North-West, and says :- "The Government of Canada is thoroughly alive to the value of emigration as a means of developing the resources of the country." It also says :---"The growth of Winnipeg is one of the wonders of the day, as it has in the last nine years increased from a population of two or three hundred to thirteen thousand, and now that the place is becoming a railway centre the de-velopment will be still more rapid. It is vident our energetic neighbours are not slow to avail themselves of the opportunities there seems to be how occurring for bringing into heir country suitable emigrants.

The Essex Review calls attention to the fact hat through the influence of the N. P. addiions are being made to the industries of Windsor. It says :

"Mr. Mummery, of Detroit, naturalist and taxidermist, has opened a branch of his busi-ness in the Sutton Block, to retain his Canalian trade, and promises to erect a museum on a large scale this coming summer. Messrs. Selling Brothers & Sinn, wholesale crockery lealers, finding that they can only retain their Canadian business by locating on this side, have opened a branch in the Crawford ouse block, and intend to push operations as far as possible.'

Facts like these are the best refutations of the wholesale denunciations of the N. P. ut ered by members of the Opposition.

A gentleman of the name of Smith, who resents Hants county in the New Brunsrick Legislature, propounds, a scheme for he reduction of the cost of government in that province. He proposes to reduce the number of members of the Provincial Executive from nine to five. In this Province of Ontario his proposal would not be con-sidered an unreasonable one. He also attacks the perquisites of the Speakership, and urges that Mr. Speaker should for the future receive um instead of and not for what he gives away.

A respectable gentleman writes us from Ballintrae to complain of the unnecessary expense to which the ratepayers of York county were recently put by the action of a coroner. A man named Nesbitt, of unsound mind, was found some weeks ago stark and stiff in the snow with a razor in his hand and the razor-case in his pocket. There was no suspicion of foul play in the minds of his friends and neighbours, yet the coroner in question de-clared an inquest necessary, and brought twe doctors from a distance to hold a post-mortem. doctors from a distance to hold a post-morean upon the body. After a considerable expen-diture of time and money the to-be-expected verdict of death by suicide was brought in, and our correspondent wants to know if the law justifies such proceedings. We can only answer that coroners enjoy certain latitudes of private judgment under the law, and that coroner makes the necessary declaration he may insist upon holding an inquest; but there are few "crowners" who would declare an inquest necessary under such circumstances as those alleged to have surrounded this case.

Many of our contemporaries have some thing to say of an anti-Catholic organization alleged to have been recently founded in this city, and they unite in condemning it. The Montreal Watness says :

"A telegram announces that some person in Toronto are attempting to form a secret society to unite Protestants politically against Roman Catholics. The scheme has no hope of success. If such a society were needed surely the Orange society is the organization for the purpose. But Orangeism repudiates politics in theory, and its members are gov-erned by other issues in practice. If Protestants cannot hold their rights by open discus-sion and personal weight, they will not gain them by intrigue. If they seek advantages that they cannot demand in the light of day, it is surely because those advantages are sel-fish. The people who generally profit by such schemes are the paid agents, who get salaries, and the managers, who make them stepping-stones to position."

Our Montreal contemporary's criticism will meet the views of the majority of sensible men of all classes, but we conceive that it is aimed at a shadow, inasmuch as the rumour referred to is traceable to no authentic source, and probably had its origin in the busy brain of some ingenious newsmonger. Such a so-ciety has no mission in this country, and cas only share the fate of the Catholic League. which ended its career so soon as a few of founders secured appointments from the Grit Government.

The town in question (Stacksteads) is about twelve miles from Manchester. The man is a tall, burly, and ferocious-looking in-dividual, who not infrequently goes through the performance of worrying live rats, and occasionally tries his powerful teeth on pots and glasses. The bulldog is noted for its prowess. His master having frequently boast-ed of the powers of the dog, the man was challenged to fight him a few nights ago. Whipped by his Wife for Playing Pool. agreements was that the dog should have the same chance as if pitted against another of the panine species, while the man was to have als hands securely fastened in front of him. Everything being ready, s bad-looking fellow, freesed in a quarryman's garb, gave the word 'Go,' upon which the masculine combatant descended to the level of the brute, and on bands and kness awaited the attack of the descended to the level of the brute, and on hands and knees awaited the attack of the dog. The latter, on being unmuzzled, was hounded on by the wild, fanatical yells of the spectators, and at once rushed to the throat of the man, and the fearful combat commenced. The yelling of the crowd ceased, the spectators of the discusting scene looking on with bated breath. The brute made sev-eral futile attempts to seize the man's throat, but the latter dodging it for a time, the growd became impatient, and again and again hound-ed on the dog. The latter became infuriated, it made, the police contenting themselves with taking the names of those present, in order that warrants could be served on them to-day. One dead bird and thirty-two live ones were secured by the police and brought to the city. The necessary warrants will be issued without delay, when the cases will be heard before the radius and thirty-two live ones heard before the necessary warrants will be the city. The necessary warrants will be the city about which they before the cases will be the city about the basin, from which they drove the English like sheep, Mr. Cameron was the case down, run over, trampled upon, and cantered.

The English like sheep, Mr. Cameron was knocked down, run over, trampled upon, and captured. He showed his newspaper credentials and note-book, and having established his profes-sional identity, was requested to act as a flag-of-truce bearer to enable the English to take care of their wounded. He reached the British camp that night and wrote his des-patch of 2,500 words. That despatch was put upon the army field wires and reached the coast. Hence it travelled up the east coast of Africa, over 3,000 miles, and tapped the East Indian wires in the Gulf of Aden ; thence on the bottom of the Red sea another 2,000 or 8,000 miles to the Mediterranean to Italy ; thence through Italy and over the Alps and through France and across the British channel to London. Not stopping there, it goes to Valentia, on the west coast of Ireland, and speeds across the Atlantic to Newfoundland, thence to New York, and from New York across the continent to San Francisco, and on the following morning it is printed in every daily newspaper in the civilized world—a thousand of them in this country. issued without delay, when the cases will be heard before the police magistrate. Mrs. Blaisdell, the woman from Lynden accused of abortion and murder, was then called and pleaded not guilty. After a con-sultation with her counsel, Messrs. C. A. Sadleir and K. Dingwall, however, Mrs. Blaisdell withdrew her former plea of guilty to the charge of abortion, and the murder charge was withdrawn. The judge then ad-dressed the prisoner on the heinouaness of her crime, and sentenced her to the Kingston penitentiary at hard labour for the remainder of her natural life. The prisoner took her of her natural life. The prisoner took her scattence very composedly, hardly a muscle of her face moving. Court then adjourned till

A Bird Story

A sight so strange that it would pay strangers to come miles to see occurs every night five miles south of this place, on the Cedar Bluffs of the Cumberland river. Every service read by the flickering light of torches, in broken tones, made up a picture of desola-tion long to be remembered. The bereaved wife was conveyed away from the scene in an almost prostrate condition, while the aged mother was unable to be present to take a last and look at her loved son. The Napance Beaver says :--On Saturday last the proprietress of one of the hell holes with which Napance abounds received into her house a young girl, almost an infant in years, in company with a young sprig not many months her senior. The parents hear-ing of the girl's whereabouts immediately took steps to reclaim her, but to the disgrace of her sex the woman brazenly denied all knowledge of the girl's whereabouts, and was only induced to surrender her to the anam-stricken parent upon "threats of legal pro-ceedings. We hope the police, who have full knowledge of the affair, will mark the above establishment for their next raid. Keep the ball rolling.

A Cheerful Set of Folks. The Lepchas, of India, are Buddhists, short in stature, bulky, and of fair complexion, their features being distinctly of the Mongolian type. They are gross feeders, gorging them-selves constantly to repletion, and eating the field of the elephant, thincoerce, and monkey. Their habits are nomadic. They do not usually live longer than three years in one place. They buy their wives for prices varying from forty to five hundred rupees, and, if they have no money, will serve their fathers-in-law as bondsmen in recompense.

Every evening just about sundown the sky is dask-ened as far as the eye can see by great flocks of birds coming to roost in these odars. Your correspondent, accompanied by a native and a taniern, spent a couple of hours last night among the cedars watching this won-derful congregation of every tongue, plumage, and almost every country this side of the tropics. Startiled by our approach, great from their perches in the cedars and fly off with a noise like deep and distant thunder. We had to scream at the top of our voices to near one another speak. Large limbs of the trees were broken off, caused by the accumu-lated weight of birds. Hundreds, blinded by our lantern, would fly into our faces. We could pick thousands of them from the branches of the trees. But what seemed so strange about this bird convention was the seeming peace and harmony that existed be-tween the birds. The hawk and dove roosted in peace on the same branch, while hundreds of robins and sparrows circled in perfect safety sround the perch of large owls.
