Announcement Postponed.

We regret we are unable to make the announcement we said yesterday we hoped to make. A delay of a few days must ensue before we shall be able to give Sir Robert Bond's decision on the appeal made to him to lead the Opposition forces.

Non-Sectarian Schools.

It is somewhat singular that the letter which contains the false report about the "Change Island" meeting which asserted that Mr. Conker, who is reported to have made the statement, as false in every particular. We know that no such agreement was made and that it was never even discussed, as it is neither the policy of the Liberal Party nor of the Fishermen's Union. There was never any negotiation entered upon dealing with any such intention. We said, however, that it was singular that the report should have been made in the organ of the Hon. Donald Morison who has put himself on record as in favour of such a policy. We have been supplied with the following extract of a speech delivered by that gentleman in April, 1890. It runs as follows:—

"Mr. Morison would support an increased grant but thought there should be an entire change in the educational system. At present value was not received for money spent for education and never would be until we had free non-sectarian education. He did not think we were in a position at present to attack the question of compulsory education. He believed in it, but thought we should wait until education was made free and non-sectarian and had got into good working order before attempting to make it compulsory."

We give this extract merely to show that those who live in glass houses should not throw stones. The question of non-sectarian education is not an electoral issue. It is not practical politics. There is no desire on the part of the Opposition to make it an issue either at the polls or in the CHATTERTON died 1770, aged 18. Of all instances of precocity of mind his is one of the most wonderful. Receiving only a few years education at a Charity School, the wealth of his genius found in itself resources, and his indomitable perseverance and energy found time to rear an amount of intellectual fruit that might furnish forth the labor of many a literary lifetime.

Poetry is the eloquence of truth.

Thompson, he says, I need money to help me now and it's up to the Thaw. I was framed up to getting this case. They ought to stand by me now. I have not a cent; if they admitted me to bail, I could not raise money. Even if I could I would be arrested if I crossed the New York State line. It's rough stuff. The other four who were mixed up in the game made their getaway, but I stuck to Thaw to a finish, and I am the goat; that's pretty hard. What about the details of the escape, he was asked. Don't ask me, says Thompson, I can't talk about that now. Thaw is in a cell in the corridor above. He refused to admit if even he had ever seen him. Oh, that man, he said, you know I can't tell you anything about him. Counsel has been employed for him by the Thaw family and it was through their efforts that Thompson's arraignment as a violator of the Immigration laws was postponed until Friday next.

Regular price would be from $4.00 to $4.85. We offer them at

Headaches and Heart Trouble

Nervous Prostration of Three Years Standing Cured a Year Ago by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Anyone who knows the discouragement and despair which accompanies the helplessness of nervous prostration will appreciate the gratitude felt by the writer of this letter.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C. B., writes: "I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, bad appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors, without obtaining satisfactory results, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was completely cured by this treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my housework with pleasure and comfort, and am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

At least some benefit is bound to be derived from each dose of this great food cure, as day by day it forms new blood, and builds up the system. 50 cents a box, $2 for $1.50, all dealers. Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

GEORGE KNOWLING.

Runner Should Beat the Ball.

Stealing second base in an important ball game is a pretty difficult task, but figures show that the runner especially if a fast man like Cobb, Bescher, Collins or Evers, should be able to beat out the ball in the majority of cases.

According to accurate recording of the time taken by the pitcher in delivering the ball to the catcher, the catching of the sphere by the backstop and his throwing to second, the grabbing of the ball by the baseman and putting it on the runner, the steal, and ball shall arrive at the bag at exactly the same instant. But the pitcher, catcher and second baseman have to make an absolutely perfect play to keep up to the best figures, and there are many chances of a slip-up of a fraction of a second that is always to the advantage of the runner.

The pitcher has to throw the ball approximately 68 feet, the catcher has to receive it and throw to the second baseman a distance of 132 feet. The baseman has not only to get the ball securely in his mitt, but he has to put it on the runner, and when the pitcher is coming in spikes first there has to be some slight amount of caution used in this.

While the pitcher, catcher and baseman are performing their stunt, the runner has to cover about 85 feet or less. With a clever pitcher and first baseman working together the chances are that the runner will get a lead of the bag of only five feet, leaving him 85 feet to run while the ball is being thrown about 200 feet. The 200 feet is somewhat of an estimate, for allowance is made for the arching of the ball in the long throw to second base and the fact that the catcher stands behind the batsman.

The player must run the 85 feet in three and one-third seconds to be successful. The average time of the play from pitcher to catcher to baseman is shown to be two and three-quarter seconds when a straight ball is being used, three and three-quarter seconds on curve balls and on spit balls or slow balls three and a quarter seconds. Actual figures of the official records of the major leagues for three years show that nearly 60 per cent. of the attempted steals of the fast men are successful, while some of the stars get away with at least 75 per cent. of their attempted pilfers.

A Peep at Ireland

I must allow that it sometimes rains in Ireland, but Irish rain is not quite like other rain. It is, as a rule, softer than rain elsewhere, and if the truth must be told I like rain so long as one has not to say, "For the rain it raineth every day."

Irish weather is not so much capricious as coquetish. It likes, to plague you, if but to prepare you to enjoy the more its sunny, melting mood. It will weep and wail all night and, lo, the next morning Ireland is one sweet smile and seems to say: "Is it raining I was yesterday? Ah, then, I'll rain no more."

And the runnels leap and laugh, and the pastures and very stone walls glisten; the larks carol on their celestial journey; there is a pungent, healthy smell of drying peat; the mountains are all drenched with the joy of life and sunshine; the lake lies perfectly still, content to reflect the overhanging face of heaven, and just won't your honor buy the stoutest pair of homemade hose from a barefoot, bareheaded daughter of detroned kings with eyes like dewdrops and a voice that would charm the coin out of the most churlish purse?

If on such mornings as these you do not lose your heart to Ireland it must be made of stern, unimpressionable stuff indeed.—Blackwoods Magazine.
