The Stove Deal Off.

A Hamilton dispatch says: "The proposed stove combine is off, and the five local manufacturers of stoves are settling down to business again, as though there had not been any $7,500-000 deal talked of for several months.
Dr. McCauley, the Chicago agent of the syndicate that was to effect the big deal, left this city Saturday last for home, it being understood that the whole matter was off. He had been in Ontario for a couple of weeks trying to get the ten manufacturers who were interested in line, but failing, he threw the enterprise up."

"It is said the trouble was that some of the ten manufacturers declined to extend the time for the options on the same terms as the manufacturers secured.
The Hamilton stove men were satisfied to have the options renewed on the same basis as those that expired at the end of the past year, but some of the outsiders wanted concessions that could not, or would not, be granted. As one of the local manufacturers said this morning, the manufacturers could not be got into line again, could not be got to agree, as they had been in the first place. This was why the deal was declared off, not because it could not be financed."

"John H. Tilden, who has professed to have confidence that the deal would go through, and who had said that it was off. He explained that it was simply a case of Dr. McCauley not having been able to get the whole ten manufacturers to come together in the matter of agreeing. They had agreed when the option were first negotiated, but the subsequent negotiations failed, and Dr. Tilden said it was not a question of finance, but of the deal, but merely the question of the manufacturers not going in on the second deal, as they had done on the first."

DEATH OF MRS. PHILLIPS.
Mrs. Margaret Phillips, relict of the late Wm. Phillips, one of the pioneer land surveyors of Western Ontario, died yesterday at the residence, 702 Adelaide street, of her son-in-law, C.
P. R. Conductor G. Armstrong. Mrs.
Phillips had attained the age of 82 years. She was in every way an estimable woman, and during a residence in this city of upwards of a third of a century, she had many friends. The surviving family comprises Mrs.
Summers, Toronto; Mrs. W. H. Mahony, Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Eliza, London, and Messrs. L. G. Somerville, Lofus, Toronto, and William, London.

JUDGMENT HANDED DOWN.
Chief Justice Falconbridge, on Monday handed out judgment dismissing the action brought by Thomas Baker, of the Dymott Baker Company, of this city, against the Royal Assurance Company and North British and Mercantile Assurance Company. The plaintiff, who formerly conducted a business as a lumberman at Graven-hurst, had insured some dressed lumber under policies in the defendant companies. A fire having destroyed the lumber, he claimed $872 from each defendant as the amount of his loss, but they resisted payment on the ground that the plaintiff had transferred the lumber before the fire to R.
Thompson & Co., to whom they paid the insurance. Hence the action.

WHIST.
The whist players of the Young Conservative Club took part in their first game, played under the Howell compass system at their club rooms last night. As this system is somewhat complicated and new to those taking part a certain amount of delay was unavoidable, but all present expressed themselves as pleased with the network of play, and anxious for another game. The Howell system gives each pair a certain number of deals with each other pair in the room, and is very popular with the large American clubs. Twenty-four players in all took part, and the following players made high scores: Jones and Macklin, plus 12; Wallace and Wallace, plus 10; Jones and Jones, plus 8; Chittick and Wilcox, plus 5; Graham and Flaherty, plus 4; Hardy and Whittaker, plus 2.

A COLD BATH.
The Sarnia Observer publishes the following regarding a former well-known resident of London: Yesterday (Monday) Terminal Superintendent Cunningham, of the G. T. R. at Port Huron and Sarnia, paid a visit to the Sarnia Bay, where ice cutting operations by Jones & Murphy are in full swing, this firm having the contract to lay the ice streets leading to the Port Huron tunnel depot. While viewing the scenery about the bay shore, and incidentally having an eye to business in seeing how the G. T. R. cars were loaded with the large cakes of ice, Superintendent Cunningham walked into a large hole where the ice had been taken from, and as was expected, got a cold bath—a very cold bath. He was rescued by Paul Jones, who brought the genial superintendent down town and had him resuscitated.

STREET RAILWAY IN COLUMBUS.
The city council of Columbus, Ohio, seems likely to pass an ordinance binding upon the city a long-term street railway, blanket franchise, whose conditions are strenuously objected to by the newspapers, without councilmen to delay action until he is heard from, and has entirely re-

OFFICERS ELECTED.
At the annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant Cemetery Company, which was held recently, there was a good number of shareholders present. The president, Mr. P. Mackenzie, took the chair and read the report of the directors of the year. Mr. George Robinson read the financial statement of the past year, both reports being satisfactory. The following officers were declared duly elected: Messrs. Mackenzie, Thomas McCormick, Geo. Robinson, Samuel McGee, G. A. Somerville, A. M. Hamilton, John Ferguson, J. H. Chapman and Gilbert Glass. The directors re-elected Mr. P. Mackenzie president; Thomas McCormick, vice-president; G. A. Somerville, treasurer; S. McBride, secretary. For the executive committee the above four were again elected, and S. McBride as chairman of same.

BLUE LABEL CARNIVAL.
A highly successful carnival was held in the Jubilee rink last night by the Blue Label League. The attendance was very large and the music, furnished by the Musical Society Band, was excellent. The prize-winners were as follows: First prize, Miss F. Rhoder and Harold Stephens, as Cinderella and prince; second prize, Miss Eva Lillierap and Henry Rhoder, as Spanish queen and prince; third prize, Miss Charles L. Lillierap, as Queen Isabella of France; fourth prize, Miss Maud Perkins, as Queen Isabella of France; fifth prize, Charles Daniels, best dressed negro; sixth prize, who formed the best clown; seventh prize, Lloyd Briefly, as Spanish cavalier; eighth prize, Fred. Hancock, best looking soldier; ninth prize, Miss Mary Lillierap, as Queen of Spain; tenth prize, Miss Lily Jones, as Queen of Spain. Messrs. A. Wootton, J. McLeod and L. Jacobs officiated as judges in a highly satisfactory manner.

HYPNOSIS.
The possibilities of hypnotism were again demonstrated by Prof. McEwen to an average-sized audience at the Auditorium last night. Unlike many of the profession who have been here in the past, he disclaims absolute personal power, and acknowledges that were it not for mental submission of the subjects he would be unable to control them. The complete absence of pretense and the anticipation of the audience, the suggestion, are contributory factors in an interesting and amusing program. The last night's program was particularly entertaining, as several of the subjects were unusually receptive and had themselves in a state of complete automatism. The first subject, Miss Wallace, was particularly interesting, as she was able to entertain a large number of suggestions. Everything was done in a most scientific manner, and the audience was entirely captivated. The program will be repeated on Saturday, and the work of Prof. McEwen and his clever assistants, Miss Wallace, will be repeated at the Auditorium.

ARCHITECT'S FOOD.

Grape-Nuts Turned Into Big Buildings.

The duties of an architect are so multitudinous, looking after the thousands of details required in the construction of large buildings, that many of them suffer from the constant mental application and require the best of food to keep their working power up to the mark. The chief draughtsman in the office of R. T. Newberry, architect, at 1227 New York Life Building, Chicago, by name Henry C. Hengels, says:

"After nine months' constant application in the preparation of the necessary plans and details for the large hotel known as the Post Taveand the Post Building, at Battle Creek, as well as several other large institutions, I found myself in a very debilitated and dyspeptic condition and unfit for work."

"Instead of medical treatment, I used Grape-Nuts food in place of the usual breakfast cereals. The first few days gave great encouragement, and after a week's use, quite an appreciable improvement manifested itself.
Since then, daily use has entirely resulted in a scientific study of the situation, Governor Pingree writing letters to the papers, and Tom L. Johnson giving his time to his three-cent wine merchants, who stock their cellars with new and freshly labeled wine, sprinkle dust upon the bins, and ad-webs from cork to cork. The cobwebs naturally lead the customers to believe that the wine has been stored for years and higher prices are therefore obtained. These weavers are collected from many parts of the world.

Some of the large ones of the garden variety are greatly prized, as they weave a particularly strong, thick web.
When received these spiders are placed in a large cage of very fine wire netting and are fed daily on small insects.

GOURKO'S BRAVERY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—In Gourko's death the czar has lost his ablest soldier. Gourko established his fame for bravery and reckless daring, as well as for the other essential qualities in a general, in the campaign which ended in the wresting of Shipka Pass, in the Balkans, from the Turks. Gour-ko, on reaching the head of the Shipka Pass on July 12, 1877, instead of halting immediately, set out upon a daring foray into the enemy's country. Gourko's headlong attacks sent the Turks flying into the plains below and left him possessor of the southern gateway to the Balkan Pass.

This passage of the mountains, and by a pass which is one of the rockiest and wildest in the Balkans, the only feet wide on the mountain side, and fect that Emperor William's sudden departure for England had been due to the Prince of Wales' urgent wish to settle a private debt affair to the emperor before ascending the throne. It is characterized as a gigantic hoax.

SITUATION IN VENEZUELA.
According to advices received today from Caracas, a trustworthy engineer, who has arrived there from Pich Lake, reports that the situation in Venezuela is disastrous. He says that a hundred and fifty negroes, who were employed to do police duty, fled when the insurgents began firing into the jungle, only 25 Americans being left to protect the lives and property of American families.

The revolution in Eastern Venezuela, near the asphalt deposits, is increasing, but the disturbances are remote from Caracas, which remains tranquil.

MURRAY HALL'S CAREER.
Glasgow, Jan. 30.—Sir Henry Littlejohn, medical officer of Edinburgh, believes that Murray Hall, the Tammany politician, who upon death on Jan. 17 was found to be a woman, was the same person who, in 1871, was brought to the small-pox hospital dressed as a man, but who was subsequently found to be a woman. A hospital employee, supplementing the statement of Sir Henry Littlejohn, says that a woman, who went under the name of John Campbell, and was a stonemason, married a girl in Edinburgh. The bride claiming to be a woman, and her supposed husband was a woman, and the magistrate locked up the im-poster on a charge of trifling with the registration laws. Campbell suffered from a slight attack of small-pox, and was taken to the hospital. She was released when she recovered. She gave as reason for her conduct that she was left an orphan, and dressed up in the clothing of a dead brother because it was easier to get employment.
At that time she was supposed to have gone to the United States.

ENGLISH WOMAN THRASHES TRAMP.

Paris, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Meredith Willard, an English woman, occupying the Versailles villa, where Elsie de Wolfe lives, was the heroine of a thrilling adventure the other evening. Her husband had gone to London, and the Willard children and maid were alone in one room, while Mrs. Willard sat at the piano. Suddenly the garden door was opened by a rough-looking tramp, who said: "You're a woman, aren't you? Well, don't scream or I'll kill you. What do I want? Why your jewels and silver first; it's there," pointing to the dining room. The tramp walked in, and Mrs. Willard followed. Having him in front of her, the woman, who is 6 feet tall and a great athlete, suddenly sprang him by the throat, strangling him.

"Don't scream or I'll kill you," she said to the almost suffocated man.
Mrs. Willard dragged the tramp to the garden door. "Now get out," she hurling him outside. She heard the footsteps of the man as he ran down the road. This incident is the chief feature of a sensational novel, "The speaking colony. It has not yet appeared in the press. Paris papers never ascertain the news before it is a fortnight old."

LONDON'S REVELATIONS.

London, Jan. 30.—The telephone excavations in London are revealing the fact that the city is built over one vast graveyard and innumerable cellars. Whatever the trenches have found, human remains have been thrown up. Anticipating public feeling on the matter, the postoffice authorities have given strict injunctions that the remains shall be buried on the spot from which they were taken, and the work is closely supervised in order that no profane injunctions shall be carried out to the letter.
The innumerable cellars which are constantly being unearthed prove to be serious difficulties in the way of progress. For the most part these cellars have been disused for years. They are ancient in the character of their architecture, and in many cases come very near the surface of the road.
