YI AT SHANGHAI

Chinese Premier Escorted by French and British Police.

[Canadian Press.] Shanghai, China, March 22.—Premier Tang Shao Yi arrived here today from Peking and was met on the quay by a guard of honor of Chinese troops. He was escorted to his hotel by detachments of French and British police. The premier will probably leave for Nanking tomorrow.

No official announcement concerning the constitution of the cabinet will be made prior to its submission for the approval of the national assembly at Nanking.

Tang Shao Yi is decidedly optimistic about the situation in China. He says that all questions concerning loans and the organization of the Republic government will be solved satisfactorily within the shortest possible time.

Standard Oil Claim.

Hong Kong, March 22.—Trouble is brewing between the various sections of the populace in the Province of Kwang Si, and an outbreak may occur at any moment, according to reports received here.

During the fighting at Swatow, in the Province of Kwang Tung, the Standard Oil tanks and warehouses were struck frequently by stray bullets. The Standard Oil Company, which has its headquarters here, has put in a claim for 1,000,000 taels (about $700,000), for damage done to its property during the course of the fighting at Hankow.

The command of the United States monitor Monterey, when it was reported to him that American property had been damaged at Swatow, landed a party of men. He informed the leaders of the Chinese troops that he did not wish to dictate to them where they should fight battles between themselves in their own country, but informed them that he was prepared to protect American property.

They would put a stop to the burning and looting.

Guerrilla fighting is still progressing at Canton and in the vicinity, but vessels can now proceed along the coast, and the river in comparative safety.

WHAT IS A SARDINE?

Interesting Test Case at London Police Court—Sprats Not Sardines.

At Guildhall, London, on March 8, Mr. Angus Watson, of Ellison Buildings, Newcastle-on-Tyne was summoned for having unlawfully sold fish in oil packed in tins to which the word "sardines" was applied. Opening the case, Mr. Bodkin said the prosecution was at the instigation of a number of French firms, who were the producers and exporters of sardines. The defendant traded under the name of Angus Watson & Co., and was the proprietor of the brand of "Skipper sardines," fish which were prepared and tinned in Norway.

The foundation for the prosecution was that the expression "sardines" as used by Mr. Watson was a false description within the meaning of the merchandise marks act, and that he was really selling, under this designation, sprats in oil.

Scientifically and commercially, Mr. Bodkin submitted, there was a very clear distinction between the sprat and the sardine. The home of the sardine was the Mediterranean, and the sense of being matured; for it matured into the pilchard, which was well known as a Cornish fish. The sprat, on the other hand, was a perfect fish, remained a sprat, and did not develop into anything larger. He insisted that a sprat and a sardine were different things, and even if it could be proved that one was as good as the other, that would be no excuse for selling things under a false description.

Mr. John Thomas Cunningham, teacher of zoology in the University of London, gave expert evidence. He declared that a box of "Skipper sardines" produced contained small sprats. So far as his knowledge went, that was no such thing as a Norwegian sardine.

My Funniest Story

The Beginning and End of the Deacon.

BY BLANCHE WALSH.

BLANCHE WALSH.

To be really funny, a story must have actual human touches, it seems to me, and here is one that always had an appeal because of its dramatic situations.

A Baptist deacon from a small western town took his wife east for a visit with relatives. While there, the wife died.

The grief-stricken deacon wrote the sad news back to his brethren, and expressed a wish to place a large memorial window in the church, one that would symbolize the heroism and beauty of his wife.

A large opening was made, and the church wardens awaited anxiously the coming of the memorial. The deacon remained in the east. Weeks lengthened into months—three of them passed, and then came the window. It was fixed in place with all pomp and ceremony, and on the following Sunday the entire congregation turned out, armed with handkerchiefs and sincere sympathy. For word had been received that the long-absent deacon would be at the service.

When the deacon appeared on the scene of mourning he showed not a long, lugubrious face, but a countenance wreathed in smiles.

To his arm clung a sweet young thing whom he presented as his wife. "We have been married just a week," he announced triumphantly. The congregation was charmed. They glanced from the bridal couple to the memorial window; and back again. An embarrassed silence. Then someone in the choir snorted. It nearly broke up the services.

For in the vari-colored letters on the memorial widow, they read, "The Alpha and the Omega."

The deacon, who had written the inscription in the first moments of his grief, had been an unconscious joke.

CANADA IMPORTS MILLIONS OF EGGS FROM THE STATES

A Little Item of 2,500,000 Dozen Appears in Trade Reports for 1911.

Exportation of eggs from the United States last year, notwithstanding high prices, was the largest ever recorded. The market reports have indicated unusually high prices in the domestic markets the bureau of statistics is reporting a larger exportation than ever before.

The number of eggs sent to foreign countries in the year ended with December, 1911, was 12,250,000 dozen, valued at $2,750,000, while the highest record of any earlier calendar year was $2,500,000, valued at $1,750,000, in 1907. In addition to this there were sent to Hawaii and Porto Rico about 150,000 dozen. Meantime the importation of eggs in 1911 amounted to less than 1,000,000 dozen, valued at about $120,000.

Formerly the importation of eggs was large and the exportation small, says the National Provisioner.

A quarter of a century ago an importation of 15,000,000 dozen eggs was not unusual, the imports of 1884, 1885 and

HARD TO DROP

But Many Drop It

A young Calif. wife talks about coffee:

"It was hard to drop Mocha and Java and give Postum a trial, but my nerves were so shattered that I was a nervous wreck, and, of course, that means all kinds of ills. (Tea contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee, and is equally harmful.)

"At first I thought bicycle riding and I and gave it up, but my condition remained unchanged. I did not want to acknowledge coffee caused the trouble, for I was very fond of it. Last week, when I began again, here at your table, I don't see how anyone can like coffee, anyway, after drinking Postum!"

"I said nothing, but at once ordered a package of Postum. That was five months ago, and we have drunk no coffee since, except on two occasions when we had company, and the result each time was that my husband could not sleep, but lay awake and tossed and talked half the night. We were convinced that coffee caused his suffering, so he returned to Postum, convinced that the coffee was an enemy. Instead of a friend, and he is troubled no more by insomnia."

"I, myself, have gained eight pounds in weight, and my nerves have ceased to quiver. It seems so easy now to quit the old coffee and take up Postum. Name given by the Canadian Postum Company, Windsor, Ont.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Canada amounted to 350,000 pounds and from Germany 75,000 pounds in the year ended June 30, 1911.

This large exportation of eggs, in the face of the extremely high prices existing in the United States, suggests that prices of this class of merchandise must also be high in other parts of the world, and this is confirmed by consular reports reaching the department of commerce and labor, which indicate that prices of eggs and other provisions are unusually high in England, France, Austria, Germany, Spain, Japan and many other countries.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE TO DROP THAT CLAUSE

Bill Nationalizing the University Will Be Materially Changed.

Kingston, Ont., March 22.—Representatives of Queen's University Board of Trustees and of the Presbyterian General Assembly met yesterday afternoon and evening at the university to consider the advisability of withdrawing from the bill nationalizing Queen's, the clause requiring all professors of the university to subscribe to the Christian religion. A decision was practically reached at a late hour, it is understood, dropping the clause.

THE RACING CHARTERS CAUSE CRITICISM

Charges That London Association Had Its Privileges Rushed Through.

Ottawa, March 22.—When Hon. C. J. Doherty's race track bill was before parliament today, the minister came in for some pretty sharp criticism from members of the Opposition over the recent granting of charters by order in council to two racing associations at London and Thornecliffe.

Hon. Wm. Doherty charged that these charters had been rushed and the bill held back in order to give special rights to the associations which would be denied to others by the bill.

Hon. George P. Graham thought the public would argue that the promoters of these associations were afraid to come to parliament for their incorporation.

Hon. C. J. Doherty argued that these applications for charters were of long standing. The secretary of state had no right to refuse them, as all the requirements of the law had been complied with.

GUARDING THE KAISER.

Vienna, March 22.—On the occasion of the German Emperor's visit to Vienna Saturday extremely rigorous police measures will be taken, especially about the park and imperial residence, which will be entirely closed to the public, a thing which has never been done before. The reason for this is the fear of anarchist attempts.

Symptoms Mean What? Physician Advises Men

[From Health Record.] A general failure of the vital organs, such as the stomach, liver, kidneys, heart, etc., to perform to the full extent their normal functions, is responsible for many symptoms, often classed as "diseases" by the unlearned. However, such symptoms are not to be regarded lightly, for they are the forerunners of disease and premature death. Many of the symptoms are in the nature of warnings of the approach of low vitality, despondency, brain fatigue, and all the more or less dreaded ailments to which mankind is heir.

The faithful use of the prescription given below will so establish the normal natural functions of the various organs of the body as to cause to disappear all of the following symptoms: Despondency, fatigue, dull, drunken, drowsy, cold extremities, pains in small of back, pains in back of head, spots before the eyes, weakness in spine twisting and trembling, impaired memory, loss of appetite, wasting to thinness (or over-fat), shrunken, flabby flesh, premature wrinkles, dull headaches, irritability, and a general breakdown of ambitious spirit and mental energies.

First get compound of fluid balsam—three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix, and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound of cod liver oil and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not codomene). Mix all in a six of eight-ounce bottle, shake well, and take one tea-spoonful after each meal, and one when retiring, followed by a drink of water.

By mixing at home, no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment, even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given.
