

FEAR FOR RECOVERY OF ACCIDENT VICTIM

Mrs. William Chapman in a Serious Condition in Victoria Hospital.

Little hope is held for the recovery of Mrs. William Chapman, 55, Globe street, who is now in Victoria Hospital as a result of injury received when she was thrown from a street car several weeks ago. Hospital authorities report that Mrs. Chapman has not rallied since her accident. Mrs. Chapman, two weeks ago last Saturday, fell to the pavement from

JARED VINING'S CONDITION SHOWS MUCH IMPROVEMENT

Jared Vining, chairman of the public utilities commission, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in Victoria Hospital yesterday afternoon, was this morning reported by officials of that institution to be getting along splendidly.

Mr. Vining was taken to Victoria Hospital at noon yesterday, and was operated on at 4 o'clock. He has been suffering from several mild attacks recently, and Dr. Grant, his physician, thought it advisable to operate before an acute attack set in.

HEALTH FOR WORKING WOMEN

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Help You to Become Well.

Thousands of girls have to work in homes, offices, stores, mills or factories who are physically unfit for work, with often an aged or invalid father or mother dependent upon them for support. Standing all day week in and week out, or sitting in cramped positions a girl often contracts some deranged condition of her organic system which calls a halt to her progress and demands restoration to health before she can be of use to herself or any one else.

For these distressing weaknesses and derangements these girls have found health to do their work in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Toronto, Ont.—"My work is to run a power-machine which is very heavy, and I had a pain in my left side and a weakness caused by getting my feet wet. It was only a few days later when I saw your advertisement in the paper and began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash. The pain left my side and the weakness disappeared after I took the first bottle of Vegetable Compound, but I took five in all and used two of the Wash. I didn't have a physician and I didn't take any other medicine. If this letter will help you you may use it."—Mrs. KATY KELLY, 21 Sullivan St., Toronto, Ont.

Nova Scotia Woman Helped. Scotsburn, N. S.—"I have been bothered for over three years with a weak side caused by female illness. At times it has bothered me so that my side ached so I could feel it way to my toes. I took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it helped me considerably, and I intend taking more as I know the results will be good. I saw the medicine advertised in the newspapers, and before I had finished the first bottle of it, noticed a difference in my health. I hope every woman who has female troubles will try it."—Mrs. JOHN R. McLEOD, R.N.I., Scotsburn, N. S.

Pains In Side

Portreeve, Sask.—"My sides would get so sore and pain so that I would be unable to move around. I felt just as if there was a weight bearing on the abdomen down. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound from a neighbor who took it, and that soreness has left me. I live on a farm and have housework to do. If this letter will help any woman who suffers from female troubles you can use it. I know of no better medicine than the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. MATTICE, Portreeve, Sask.

Churchill Selects Fleet To Force the Dardanelles

Precautions Taken To Guard Against Results of Defeat—No Dissenting Voice in Outlining of Fateful Plans.

By RT. HON. WINSTON CHURCHILL. I now called for definite plans and orders to be worked out by the staff, and I outlined the fleet that was evidently available for the operation.

First sea lord, Chief of staff.

January 12.

"(1) The forcing of the Dardanelles as proposed, and the arrival of a squadron strong enough to defeat the Turkish fleet in the Sea of Marmora would be a victory of first importance, and change to our advantage the whole situation of the war in the East.

"(2) It would appear possible to provide the force required by Admiral Carden without weakening the margins necessary in home waters, as follows:

"Ocean, Swiftsure and Triumph (already in or assigned to this theatre).

"Vengeance, Canopus (from the Atlantic).

"Albion (from the Cape).

"Caesar and Prince George (from Gibraltar).

"Victorious, Mars, Magnificent, Hannibal (already ordered to be dismantled at home).

"Queen Elizabeth (detached for gunnery preparation at Gibraltar).

"Inflexible (ordered to Mediteranean to relieve Indefatigable).

"Indefatigable (already on the spot).

"Thus no capital ship would be ordered from home waters, except four already ordered to be dismantled.

"(3) The above takes no account of four French battleships on the spot, and six others reported available.

"(4) Operations could begin on February 1, by long-range fire from Queen Elizabeth on forts at the entrance. It is not necessary to develop the full attack until the effect of the first stage of the operation has become apparent. All arrangements should be secretly concerted for carrying the plan through, the seaplanes and ancillary craft being provided. Admiral Carden to command.

"Definite plans should be worked out accordingly. W. S. C."

Lord Fisher approved this minute, and himself at a later date (February 9) added to the proposed fleet the two quasi-dreadnought battleships, the Lord Nelson and the Agamemnon. This was a great reinforcement, and involved a diminution to that extent in the margin of the grand fleet.

On January 23 I brought the project before the war council. I circulated Admiral Carden's telegram twenty-four hours beforehand to its principal members, including, of course, the prime minister and Lord Kitchener.

Proposed Action in Adriatic. Lord Fisher and Sir Arthur Wilson were both present. Neither made any remark and I certainly thought that they agreed. The decision of the council was, however, as was recorded in the following curious form:

"That the admiralty should consider promptly the possibility of effective action in the Adriatic at Cattaro or elsewhere—with a view (inter alia) of bringing pressure on Italy.

"That the admiralty should also prepare for a naval expedition in February to bombard and take the Gallipoli Peninsula with Constantinople as its objective."

I had now become deeply interested in the enterprise, and nothing but new facts and reasons, the merit of which might convince me, would turn me from pressing it forward.

I now proceeded to open the matter to the French government with whom among other things the question of the command in the Mediterranean required readjustment.

At the same time, while giving decided orders and allowing no doubt or uncertainty to appear in the admiralty attitude, I was careful to preserve the means of backing off the operation, if it began to miscarry.

First Lord to Lord Kitchener.

January 20, 1915.

"Until the bombardment of the Dardanelles forts has actually begun, we cannot tell how things will go. We must guard against the appearance of a serious rebuff, and we shall therefore at the outset, only use the battleships needed for the initial stage, keeping the rest of the fleet spread between Malta, Alexandria and Alexandretta, whence they can concentrate very quickly. It is also very desirable that the Alexandretta operation should be so timed as to be practically simultaneous with the attack on the Dardanelles, so that if we are checked at the Dardanelles we can represent that operation as a mere demonstration to cover the seizure of Alexandretta. I believe this aspect is important from an Oriental point of view.

"Could you therefore arrange this and let me have your Alexandretta dates? We are aiming at February 15 for opening fire on the Dardanelles."

"P. S. I am sending a copy of this to the prime minister to keep him informed."

Responsibilities. It will be seen that the genesis of this plan and its elaboration were purely naval and professional in their character. It was Admiral Carden and his staff gunnery officers who proposed the gradual method of piecemeal reduction by long-range bombardment. It was Sir Henry Jackson and the admiralty staff who embraced this idea and studied and approved its details. I outlined the resources at our disposal in the old battleships. But it was the staff who proposed the addition of the Queen Elizabeth, with all the possibilities that that ship opened out. It was the first sea lord who added the other two most powerful vessels, the Lord Nelson and the Agamemnon, to the Dardanelles fleet. At no point did lay or civilian interference mingle with or mar the integrity of a professional conception.

I write this not in the slightest degree to shift my own responsibility. But this was not where it lay. I did not and I could not make the plan. But when it had been made by the naval authorities and fashioned and indorsed by high technical authorities and approved by the first sea lord, I seized upon it, and set it on the path of action; and thereafter espoused it with all my resources. When others weakened or changed their opinion without adducing new reasons, I held them strongly to their previous decisions; and so in view of the general interest of the allies, through the business steadily forward into actual experiment.

VETERAN PRINTER DIES AT VANCOUVER HOME

William Bailey, Formerly of London, Expires in Coast City.

William Bailey, veteran printer, and well-known to many Londoners during the years he was connected with The Advertiser, died recently in Vancouver, where he had been working as pressroom foreman for the Vancouver World.

Mr. Bailey was with The Advertiser for eleven years from 1879 to 1890. He left London for Vancouver 23 years ago, and held a position on the Vancouver World until his retirement a few years ago.

Born in Sunderland, England, 58 years ago, Mr. Bailey had been a resident of Canada for nearly half a century. He was one of the earliest settlers in the Collingwood district, and one of the oldest members of the Independent Order of Foresters.

Besides his wife, he leaves a family of six sons and three daughters. They are Harry of Portland, Charles, William, Ted and George of Victoria, Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. E. Mills, and Kathleen.

TRUSTEES EXPLAIN REPUTED HIGH COSTS

Chairman Udy of School Board Replies to Criticism by Mayor Wenige.

Mayor Wenige knows the reason for the increase in board of education expenditures as well as anyone else, declared the chairman of the board, A. N. Udy, when informed that the chief magistrate had said it was time to call a halt in the spending of the board money.

Mayor Wenige said yesterday that, in accordance with statements by the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, it was time to call a halt. He also stated that from figures which he had compiled, it was seen that the expenditure in the years 1919-20-21 had totaled more than the amount spent in the ten preceding years. It was these figures which had impressed him with the need of considering the educational problems, increasing in size year by year.

"Of course the expenditures during the three years mentioned were high," stated the chairman. "These three periods followed on the heels of the war, when everything cost an abnormal price. For years before the war we had curtailed our expenditures as much as possible, with the result that there was insufficient accommodation for the school children of the city."

"During the war no building was carried on to take care of the gradually increasing school population, and consequently, in 1919, we found we would have to have more schools. The buildings then in use were congested, and children and parents dissatisfied with conditions. "While the school population had increased, expenditures likewise had taken a jump, everything having doubled or tripled in price. This was a natural condition consequent on the state of the country following a war, and was to be expected. Therefore, when we did start our building program, we had to cope with these high prices, and the consequence was increased expenditures."

"All of this was necessary to relieve the congestion, and although the amounts we have spent may seem to be high, we have only provided accommodation as it was necessary. "Furthermore," concluded Mr. Udy, "Mayor Wenige knows this as well as anyone else."

Trustees Silverwood and Smith said they would have to see the mayor's figures before expressing an opinion, but both of them were sure that any increased expenditures could be accounted for in a perfectly natural manner.

The Monthly Cheque — That Never Fails

How the Money was Lost

"You see I had only a few thousand dollars left after the estate was settled."

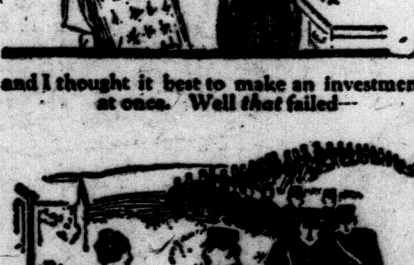

"and my brother borrowed some to help him along; of course that went and then—"

"I simply had to help father with his business. he was so worried—"

"and I thought it best to make an investment at once. Well that failed—"

"and, really, if it were not for the monthly income cheque from the Canada Life I don't know how I should be getting along now."

It is all so simple and effective!

Just a few dollars set aside regularly, and the Canada Life will guarantee to your home a continuous monthly income.

What a relief to know that no matter what may happen, the monthly cheque that never fails, issued regularly by the Canada Life, will come to your home!

"Your present Life Insurance will perhaps 'clear the mortgage,' pay off the obligations of your estate, and leave something for your family, but

Consider This:

Financial problems should not be thrust upon a woman who is not used to business deals.

Therefore in addition to a "lump sum" of money, you should provide a definite income that cannot fail—

Because a weekly or monthly income is the natural thing for most people—

And a woman can keep a family together on even a small income, provided it is regular.

Moreover, the hands of unscrupulous men are always outstretched for money held by the unwary.

The Monthly Income Plan

Will solve the problem.

Only a few dollars saved and set aside from your regular earnings can be multiplied into a substantial income for your Beneficiary. You will be surprised to learn what a reasonable proposition can be made to you.
