For Deputy Reeve

To the electors of the Town of Waterloo:
Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been nominated for the office of Deputy Reeve, and solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections on my behalf.

I am not without experience in municipal affairs, as I served three years in the council some years ago, during the time that the waterworks plant was taken over by the town, and about ten years on the school board.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,
Your very truly,
C. W. Schiedel.

Your Vote and Influence are respectfully solicited for

A. E.

Sanderson For Mayor

Of Waterloo for the year 1912. Wishing you all a Happy New Year

For Deputy Reeveship

Having served you for two years as councillor, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence for the Deputy Reeveship for 1912. Wishing you a Happy New Year.

J. CONRAD

To the Electors of the Town of Waterloo

I herewith make my announcement for candidate as Mayor of the town of Waterloo for the ensuing year, and solicit your vote on my past record in municipal affairs of the town.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain, your obedient servant,

J. B. Fischer.

For the Reeveship

To the Electors of Waterloo:
Ladies and Gentlemen—You will have to decide again on the 1st of January whether myself or my opponent is to represent you in the County Council. I have had the honor to serve you two years as Councillor, 2 years as Deputy-Reeve, and one year as Reeve, and I am asking you for the second term as Reeve.

There are several very important matters coming up in the County Council this year—the separation of Berlin from the County; the question has been in Council the last two years of which I got the benefit over and above my opponent, and claim that I can hold up Waterloo's end better than a new man.

I expect that the matter of equalization will be brought up again. I was on the committee in 1911 and I claim and can prove that I did as well and better for our town as the reeves of former years, and can do so again this year if elected, as I find the experience to that effect.

In regard to home affairs, my point is to be honest and upright and economical as possible with the financing of the town and having the aim of progress in view at the same time and do justice towards the workmen as well as the manufacturer and business man and the town at large.

I therefore kindly ask you for your vote and influence in this contest, and if elected, I will give you no reason to regret that you voted for me.
Your servant as Reeve, M.
C. N. HUEHN.

WATERLOO GROCERS SET A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Waterloo grocers are setting a good example which other towns should follow. This morning farmers who brought in butter not up to the standard had to take it home with them, for they could not dispose of it in Waterloo. Farmers who take pains in making good butter think this is the best thing grocers can do for there is no encouragement, whatever for the making of a good article when anything and everything is taken merely to get the trade. Waterloo grocers and merchants are given much credit for this stand they are taking. It is hoped other towns and villages will follow suit.

At The Market.

It is many a day since Waterloo has had such a poor market as was the one this morning. There were very few farmers there and even these could not dispose of their produce. Hardly any fowl were on the market, and those that were there were mostly small. Butter and eggs sold for 30 and 35 cents, potatoes at a dollar a bushel and maple wood for $7.25 per cord. Beef quarters sold for 8 and 10c, and other produce went slowly at regular prices.

Miss L. Planitz left this morning for her home in Neustadt, where she will spend the holidays.

Mr. Chas. E. H. of Hawkesville is visiting at her father's home, Mr. J. Weidenheimer, for a few days.

Mr. W. Weiler of Trout Creek, Muskoka, is visiting friends in town.

The placiers engaged in the New Mutual Life Building left today for Toronto and other points to spend the New Year at their various homes.

BADEN REJICES

child, and a steady young man and way back in even those olden days he had been esteemed on his native heath. He had advanced by leaps and bounds in estimation of the public. He had taken hundreds of thousands out of darkness into light.

(Three cheers and a tiger were here given for Mr. and Mrs. Beck and all standing sang, "For he's a jolly good fellow.")

Hon. Adam Beck, in responding, evidently did so lavishing under considerable emotion: the man seemed to have been swallowed up in recollections of his boyhood in Baden. He appreciated the kindly and deep-hearted praise lavished upon him, and for himself and Mrs. Beck, he could say it was more than a public-spirited act in coming to his native village; it was a real holiday in a busy lifetime. He thanked God it had been given to him to help them abolish the coal-oil lamp—to walk in safety, to travel their village in comfort. Your wants were heavy, your appreciation is truly great. Eventful as it is for Baden to have Hydro Electric, it is an eventful epoch in my career as a public man, who is proud of the village of his birth. You are a German peace-loving, happy, contented community by character and birth.

(Turning to Mr. F. Holwell, Esq.), he said: "It is nearly 30 years since I met you first. I inherited a splendid constitution from a healthy, vigorous and strong, virile race, and it has been a blessing to me to have been able to conserve my strength. I need it. One thing, kind friends, we were all taught in Baden to work and labor. My father, in the early fifties, helped to found this village with kindly Chris. Miller, who was our immediate neighbor, and he helped the hardy pioneers here their way through forests and brush, to found a home. My father knew nothing greater than hard work and honest labor and was an example to his sons, which we have tried, and I hope successfully to emulate fully. We all learned trades, and I served an apprenticeship of seven years in a Toronto machine shop. At 13 years of age, I treated rivets for the first boiler my father furnished to Petrolia. In your Court House to-day is an old stove made in Baden and I am trying tonight to pay a small share of my gratitude. I left Baden 37 years ago; I was a boy, but I had a good training and experience. I had learnt to be self-dependent, and it is self-dependence which makes big men and big industries. Waterloo is doing her share in the prosperity and development of Ontario. In my heart to-night are tender feelings for these dear women of Baden, who were associates of my mother, in founding that dear little Lutheran Church (here the speaker was deeply moved) in a virgin community hewed out of the woods and snatched from nature. Today is the first visit of Mrs. Beck to her husband's boyhood home. As a family, the Beck's have gone their way from you in flesh—but we are with you in thought—we have taken the precepts taught us here and woven them into the warp and the weft of our destinies.—(Turning to his wife, the Honorable Gentleman said with deep feeling)—Mrs. Beck has been a great help to me in my public and private life. To her be the glory for such deeds as are credited to me. I have represented London from Hospital Trustee to Mayor and for 14 years in your legislature. Mrs. Beck has been my unflinching aid. I hope to see a still greater and more rapid development in the Province of Ontario. Hydro Electric is more than an illuminant. You will iron, cook and eventually heat your homes with electricity. It will give you great sanitary features, and remove many burdens. I thank you, my friends, of my native village, for your unbounded fraternal, hearted friendship as given me today.

(Prolonged Cheering.)

Mr. Geo. Pattinson, M. P., struck a happy chord when he said that human nature loves to receive the applause of the heart upon which we were born. Adam Beck was honored as a Public Benefactor, but he was welcomed today as a frank, faithful and fearless pioneer in electricity for the public welfare. He had borne the brunt of the battle, to him belonged the major portion of the victor's honor. The Hon. Adam Beck had fought big financial interests, but had never wavered. In honoring Adam Beck, Baden honored herself. The kindly expressions "Mr. Beck made regarding Mrs. Beck were characteristic of the man in public and private life. He was a big man, with a big outlook, but never so big, but he remembered those to whom honor was due. Big men come from just such outposts as little Baden. It will ever be so. All the honest, sturdy lives of great men bring us back to the soil. In all branches of life—Commercial, Industrial, Financial, Literary, Legal, Artistic and Political, you will find the country is the reserve from which our nation draws its brains."

(Cheers.)

Mr. Clare, M. P., in responding, said in part: "To-day is a milestone in the progress and prosperity of a new Baden. It means a big thing for all small communities to get Hydro Electric. You can now offer good sites, cheap labor and good power. You will now get outside firms to come to you."

Mr. Weichel, M. P., said in part: "I admire our honored guest for his staunch and sterling integrity. Our guest must have had a good mother, because he is such a good son. His name is a household word in Canada, and Ontario honors him second to her Premier himself. He has cut our old electric bills in two in Waterloo. The workman can now throw away his gasoline lamp and have a better light at less cost and better eyesight in his old age. I congratulate you, Baden, on the glorious success of today."

Dr. Lackner, M. P., received quite an ovation in responding. He said in part: "Our guest has the inside track to become Premier of Ontario if he wishes it. I have been, and am in, the Legislature, and I give you this as a tip. Hydro Electric Power will go down to history as one of the world's greatest events, and Beck will receive the just dues he deserves from posterity. I, too, was born in Waterloo, and I, too, belong to the dear little Lutheran Church, so to that extent I can shine in the reflected glory of our guest."

(Cheers.)

With a vim and a dash, the speaker had gone on until 7.45, and the Hon. Adam Beck briefly replied, and among his concluding remarks, said that Messrs. Livingstone, of Baden, had had a rate quoted them by the Hydro Electric Commission which gave Baden a ten-dollar advantage. He hoped that firm would inaugurate a new industrial era in Baden by accepting it. They had the opportunity.

The Hon. Adam Beck and Mrs. Beck here adjourned with the guests to the Lutheran Church. For some fifteen minutes, all approaches were jammed with visitors, and some hundreds could not get into the little church so dear to the Beck family.

Once inside, a perfect blaze of light flooded the building from nine clusters, which with all other fittings were donated by Hon. Adam Beck in honor of his mother. At eight o'clock sharp, the lights were turned on. A huge Xmas tree, lit up by hundreds of miniature electric lights, reached from the floor to the roof, and stood just as it did on Xmas Day.

An eloquent address was given by the pastor, Rev. Voss, and it was also stated Mr. Jacob Beck had donated a bible for the pulpit.

Mr. Adam Beck spoke but a few moments in German, and with difficulty, the reference to his mother evidently again overpowered him. The great man again gave way to the feelings of the son.

A musical surprise was here sprung upon the Lutheran Church, for Mr. Beck had brought with him a celebrated English Ballad—Mr. Cyril Dwight Edwards, of London, who sang "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star" from Tannhauser in German, and "The Star of Bethlehem" in English, accompanied by Mr. H. E. Watson, of London, and Mrs. Beck, in a duet, sang "The Promise of Life," and a duet, "A Night Hymn At Sea," with Mr. Dwight-Edwards, and later "Still Is The Night."

At 9 p. m. the services and celebration closed with the Doxology.

To sum up the whole happy holiday of this truly great man, I want to strike a note of warning. He is overtaxing his strength. He is drawing too heavily on his reserve force. There is a limit to even his great natural capacity for work. I took several times a good look at him at close quarters. I talked with him. He is a man who does things as we know. His firm jaw tells the bulldog tenacity of purpose; his aquiline nose shows good heritage; his deep-set eyes appear tired and overtaxed; his smile is cheery, but it has been taxed too heavily with public functions; his droop of one lock of hair reminds me of Thomas Alva Edison and also of pictures of Napoleon; his full color denotes good blood and strong vitality; his hair is slightly tinged with grey; he is broad-shouldered and erect; clean shaven and youthful for his 53 years. You would take him in for a fifty-year-old man; he was dressed severely, plain and with no jewelry; wore a hat with a collar, and a sober tie—a true type of a gentleman and a captain of industry combined. They are not always synonymous. The kind of a man to make things move when he wants them—a man in politics. For Hydro Electric—a true-headed, whole-souled boy, when the best instincts of mother and son and husband are called into play as they were today. He appeared to be today a boy home for a holiday—let us not work him to death in the future tomorrow. Henceforth, we need him rested.

Public Service says the vitality of the best of men; it burns out fast quicker than Nature as a rule can replenish it, and the President of the Hydro Electric Commission is more than a man—he is the actual live visual embodiment of his principles and his supervision of the Hydro Electric Commission is an active one and Ontario cannot lose him; we value the man, and the Minister, and his success. We urge him to preserve his health.

Great credit must be given to the Committee of Ladies in Charge of the Banquet, among them being: Mrs. J. P. Livingstone, Miss A. C. Holwell, Mrs. A. Hunsberger, Mrs. W. Waugh, Mrs. W. Russell, Mrs. W. Ebbach, Mrs. H. J. Steffelmeyer, Mrs. J. O. Bricker, Mrs. C. Magdalinski, Mrs. A. Bechtel, Mrs. H. Schumm and Mr. G. Fowler.

TORTURED FOR THIRTY FIVE YEARS

I really could not live without "Fruit-a-tives"

FRANKPATRICK, Ont. Jan. 29th, 1910.
"For thirty-five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation. No matter what remedy or physician I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About two years ago, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' and I decided to try them. I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for 'Fruit-a-tives' I am satisfied that I could not live." JAMES PROUDFOOT.

The greatest remedy in the world for all forms of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, is "Fruit-a-tives". Doctors as well as hundreds of people proclaim it. "Fruit-a-tives" cures all stomach troubles because it makes the liver active, strengthens the kidneys, purifies the blood and keeps the stomach sweet and clean. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy made of fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Vancouver Province: Hugh Lehman the Berlin goaltender, who will guard the net for New Westminster this winter, took a hand in the practice, lending one goal last night, while "Burr" Clark of lacrosse fame was in the mount.

Of the other goal. Clark is not this same old reliable in the net in the winter pastime as he is in the national summer sport, but he is still some goaltender, and Frank Patrick is just about convinced that he will make good with the Vancouver team. Ernie Johnson, Jimmy Gardner, Harry Hyland, Si Giffis, Tom Phillips, Abby Nichols, Newey Lalonde, and the other high-salvaged performers were on the job and they put in some lively moments. The players went to it in energetic fashion, considering it was their first real chance on the ice this winter, and they were quite ready to quit when Frank Patrick called a halt.

Victoria Times: Lester Patrick thinks he will have the players on the ice 300 day, and says he will work them three times a day. There is nothing doing in that line, according to Walter Smaill. He is of the opinion that twice a day is enough. The Patrick Bros. were deluged with offers of cups for competition on the league from business firms here and in Vancouver, but would have none of them. Some day early in January Walter Smaill of the ice hockey team will enter marital bliss.

Calgary Herald: Eddie King is the first "home brew" who has ever tried his prowess with the best hockey teams of Canada, and his effort will be watched with great interest by all Calgary hockey fans. Eddie was born in Calgary and learned the game here. He has played on several of the local amateur teams and has always attracted attention for his natural ability. He is undoubtedly the best and most natural skater who has ever performed in Alberta, and his slick handling has been the attraction that has caused many local fans to attend the games. Last year Eddie opened the season with the St. Mary's and played up until the time that Smaill challenged for the Fitz-Roy Cup. This was Eddie's first taste of pro. hockey, and that he made good is evident by his offer from the best hockey team in Canada. The anxiety which the Ottawa management has shown in getting Eddie to sign a contract speaks volumes for Eddie's ability and is a recognition of the class of hockey that is produced in the Alberta Hockey Association.
