GEO. MATTHEWS HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Entangled in Wire Was Held Fast as Train Approached

Moncton, Sept. 28.—A young man had a narrow escape from being run down and killed by an I. C. R. train at Westcook crossing on Wednesday afternoon. It appears that, in company with a gang of men, the young fellow, whose name is George Matthews, son of Mr. Aulie Matthews, locomotive engineer of Campbellton, was engaged in track work at the point named. In some manner Mr. Matthews leg became entangled in a stout wire which the men were using; the other end of which was fastened in the frog of a switch.

While attempting to free himself, McLeod's freight special came along, running at high rate of speed. On account of a number of box cars in the siding, the driver of the freight could not see the young man until the train was almost on him. When he did, however, he slammed on the brakes and reversed the engine. This, however, did not stop the train before it reached the place where the man was held fast, and he had not succeeded in getting clear of the wire at the moment when the engine was almost upon him, he would undoubtedly have been drawn under the wheels. This is the second narrow escape from a fatal accident reported on the Moncton-Trois section of the I. C. R. this week.

"How is it that Rufus never takes you to the theatre any more?"
"Well, you see, one evening it rained and so we sat in the parlor."
"Yes?"
"Well, ever since that we—oh, I don't know, but don't you think that theatres are a awful bore?"

Teacher—Now Tommy, suppose you had two apples, and you gave another boy his choice of them. You would tell him to take the bigger one, wouldn't you?
Tommy—No.
Teacher—Why?
Tommy—Cos 'twouldn't be necessary.

"That was a great sermon you preached this morning," said the old church warden; and it was well-timed, too."
"Yes," rejoined the parson, with a deep sigh; "I noticed that."
"Noticed what?" asked the puzzled warden.

"That several of the congregation flocked at their watches frequently," answered the good man.

SOLDIER FOUND AS A WILD MAN

After Ten Years, Cave Life Arthur Britton Loses Nearly all Semblance to a Human Being.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Almost nude, his head and face covered with hair, and armed with a club and barking like a fox, Arthur Britton, forty years old, who has been missing more than ten years, was found today living in a cave in the Pawling Mountains.

He was committed to the Hudson River State Hospital this afternoon and the physicians there say he has reverted into a veritable wild man.

Britton, because of his isolated life, has almost lost the power of his speech. His mind is shattered, and although he is thin he possesses the muscular strength of a giant.

He lived in a hole in the rocks in the side of the mountain, and it required four hours' work to induce him to come out. It was the calling of his brother, Irving Britton, that at last induced him to appear. Then captors fell upon him and bound him with ropes.

Britton's mind became affected while serving in the Philippines in the Spanish-American war. Soon after he returned to Pawling, after the war, he began to wander into the woods and camp out. Later he would stay away several days at a time. Eventually he made his home in the open and seldom returned home. Ten years ago his family lost all trace of him.

Five years ago the mountain residents began to tell stories of seeing a wild man in the woods and fields. The story circulated through the whole region, but no attempt was made to make a captive of him because the residents were afraid. The man they saw rushed through the underbrush and barked like a fox. At times, they said, he climbed tall trees.

Britton's family finally heard of the wild man, and Irving Britton went into the mountains to investigate. He trailed him to his cave and there identified him. He carried food to the cave dweller and enlisted the aid of Justice Davis, deputy sheriff, made several trips into the mountains to capture the wild man, but day after day he eluded them.

Justice Davis sent for Sheriff Townsend and Under-sheriff Horback, and today accompanied by Dr. Merriam, of the Hudson River State Hospital, who is a hypnologist, he went to the cave. The entrance to the cave was only three feet wide and piled in front of it were bowlders. A dug-out further up the mountain side was Britton's winter home. A trap excited Britton barks like a fox. A trap excited him.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS OF ORANGE ULSTER

New York, Sept. 30.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: "An effective counterblast to the talk of the 'United voice of Ulster in opposition to home rule,' has been made by the government by the mere republication, in blue book form, of the latest Ulster population statistics. This document recalls the awkward fact that in a population of 1,581,696, Catholics, being 43.7 per cent. of the whole, Ulster covers 26.3 per cent of the total area of Ireland, and has a population of 1,581,696, (770,962 males and 810,734 females) or .07 percent less than it had at the last census 1901."

Of the total 386,947 are on the Belfast County borough, being an increase of 37,077 over the number in 1901.

The following statement shows, according to religious professions, the inhabitants of Ulster in 1911. Roman Catholics 690,816, 43.7 percent of the total population; Protestant Episcopalians 866,778, 23.2 percent; Presbyterians 52,410, 26.6 percent; Methodists 48,918, 3.18 percent; all other denominations (and religion unascertained) 52,343 persons, 3.3 percent of total population. Information refused 1,588, 0.1 percent total 1,581,696 persons, 100 percent.

WILL NOT SELL METHODIST CHURCH

Tempting Offers for Montreal Edifice are Refused.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—The Rev. Dr. Sparkling made an important announcement from the pulpit of St. James Methodist Church last evening, which is a refutation of the repeated rumors of the impending sale of St. James Church.

Dr. Sparkling emphatically stated that the Board of Trustees protested against the reports as to the disposal of the church property. On behalf of the body he would like to say that St. James Church would not be sold.

FIVE DROWNED WHILE FISHING

Canoe Upset When Large Fish Was Hooked—All of same Family

Omamee, Ont., Sept. 30.—Five persons, a family party, were drowned on Saturday afternoon in the Pigeon River near Omamee, when their canoe was overturned by the pull of a 14 pound muskonge on a trolling line held by William McCaffrey, assistant supply manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, Toronto. The dead are:—

William McCaffrey, aged 38, South Drive.
Laura Seager McCaffrey, aged 38, his wife.
Mrs. Mary McCaffrey, Omamee, his mother.

Grace Maxie McCaffrey, aged 12, his daughter.
Howard Seager McCaffrey, aged 8, his son.

Mr. McCaffrey, a son of Charles McCaffrey, of this town, came here with his family on Friday to spend a short holiday. With his wife, mother and two children, he started down the Pigeon River on Saturday morning on a fishing expedition. The weather was fine and though rain came on towards evening, there was nothing in the nature of a squall.

No member of the party was seen alive after the canoe passed down the river. An investigation was made by the local coroner. He decided that the facts were so manifest as to render an inquest unnecessary. A quadruple funeral will be held on Tuesday to the cemetery at Omamee.

William McCaffrey had been in the employ of the Canadian General Electric Company for about 22 years; practically the whole of his business life. He joined the company's staff originally at Peterboro, but had been assistant supply manager in the head office for a number of years.

The surviving members of the family are the father, Charles McCaffrey, Charles, Jr., and James, brother, both of Toronto, and seven sisters.

Silly—Jack is too slow for any thing.
Wise—Why, dear, I thought you liked him so much. What is the matter?
Silly—Well, we were sitting on the sofa last night and he—became I—couldn't whistle. I turned to him and puckered up my lips and the mean thing let me whistle.

NO POLICY TO BE FRAMED NOW

Early Session Simply to Enable Mr. Borden to Make A Pronouncement

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 30.—Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, makes the following statement regarding the navy question:

"The meeting of the Dominion Parliament, called for November, two months earlier than intended, is for the special purpose of enabling Premier Borden to make a pronouncement on the navy question."

"Not with the idea of framing a permanent policy, which will be dealt with later, and which in due course will be submitted to the people, but for the purpose of presenting the view of the Government as formed after the recent conference with the British Government and the Admiralty."

BIRDMEN KILLED IN MACHINES FALL

Signal Corps Lieutenants at Washington Dead as Result of Accident.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Lieut. Louis Rockwell, U. S. A., and Sergeant Frank S. Scott, of the Signal Corps, both attached to the army aviation corps, are dead as the result of an accident to an army aeroplane today. The machine, while in the air, fell about fifty feet, killing Sergeant Scott almost instantly. Lieut. Rockwell was so badly injured that he died a few hours later at the Walter Reid Hospital.

killed this evening while flying in a Farnam biplane with his mechanic, Pierre Chavallier. Seventy feet in the air a wire connecting the control of the biplane became jammed and the machine instantly overturned, striking the ground with such force that it was buried two feet. Longstaff fractured his skull and received serious internal injuries from which he died a short time later. Chavallier is seriously but not mortally injured. He will probably lose his left eye. Longstaff held a pilot license from the Royal Aero Club of England. He had been flying as a scout with the insurgent army in Mexico until recently. He had planned to take up a passenger and was tuning up the machine. Longstaff was thirty-five years of age.

Mamma—Willie, what's the baby crying for?
Willie—He is ungrateful, that's what he is.
Mamma—Ungrateful?
Willie—Yes, I just showed him how to eat his cake and he don't appreciate it.
