DETLEY & CO.'S LIST.

A TRIP AWAY WEST.

BY JOHN MACLEAN.

Lake Superior.

Stake neither time nor space to make notes this trip until drawing near to the great inland sea, Lake Superior, with the beginning which the denizen of the east is apt to at which the denizen of the east is apt to fancy himself gettinz into quite another country. Once fairly into the long and narrow passage through which the vast volume of Lake Superior's waters find their way to the east, he thinks he perceives, a change. At all events a change was made perceptible the forenoon of Sunday Aug. 25, when the good ship. Alberts, of the Canadian when the good ship Alberta, of the Canadian Pacific line, plying between Owes Scine and Port Arthur, began to feel the first intimations of the current, which is at its strongest some distance farther up, at the Sault. Stc. Marie. The air has become a good bit colder and there is a mist that might do for a section of the Highlands of Scotland. Arrived at that important point, the Sault, American side, about noon, and now the air is positively chilly, al-though on Saturday we had been experiencing the heat of summer at Toronto, Owen Sound and between, while the weather was fine and warm, going up the Georgian Bay late afternoon and early evening. At the Sault we are detained two hours getting through the lock or delay somewhat longer then necessity.

The Rev. Dr. Ormston of New York will preach in this church to-morrow at 11 a.m. and 7 p. m. Strangers made welcome.

Bond—St. Congregational Church. sary. I venture to say the new lock is a splendid work, and of capacity sufficient to pass from two to four vessels through at once, ording to size. The At habasca, the Al-Berta's sister ship, is the last before us to some through (down) the next going through There is a great rush of waters at the Sault, and the white caps give you to see that they are "there." Across the river we can see the Canadian city, not very well defined as yet, but making great show of new buildings, and evidently destined to be a place ere long. The building of the Canadian lock, which must be hurried on, now that Uncle Sam is bent on retaliation, will cause the development of the Canadian city to be bound to be a most important point, and to hold its importance permanently as a crossing-place, which suggests how far-sighted Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald Smith proved selves when they managed to get control of it, with very powerful competition against them. The full importance of this acquisition of theirs does not yet appear; in fact people are only just beginning to see what a "big thing" these hard-headed north country Scottlemen have are held of at the Sarthmen have got hold of at the Sault. Let no one imagine, however, that ships are shortly to become superfluous things, and that soon after this the railway will be sufficient for the needs of inland commerce. Below Niagara Falls, lake commerce looks small comparatively; but a look ahead over the upper lakes is fitted to give you expanded iews of what these vast unsalted seas really are, and of the large commercial importance they must continue to retain. Nothing to be seen on Lake Ontario can give you a fitting idea of what western lake commerce amounts to; but once get a glimpse of the great fleets of vessels navigating the upper lakes, and crowding through the St. Clair river and the Bault passage—and you may realize that it is ration at all to speak of inland seas It is to be regretted that so small a proportion of their whole commerce is Canadian; but already people ere saying that this retaliation ing in disguise, if only it develops among us more imperatively to "paddle our own cance." Within a few days back we have heard a great deal of self-reliance talk in Canada; let s hope that it will prove something more ST. LEGER SWEEP. Shan mere "gush" and "spout."

Port Arthur and Fort William. Ever since their respective beginnings th have been spoken of as two places; but they appear to be in the way of becoming practically one. The Globe's charge—that Mr. MaKenzie started out to improve Fort Wilham's natural advantages and to make it a place whereas, since the C. P. R. Company came in they have let it go to the dogs and that not for good public reasons but for private seasons of their own—is far away from the truth in the matter. The truth is that in Mr.
MacKenzie's time the Fort William of to-day did not exist; and that the splendid tranship-ping place which does exist to-day has been created by the Canadian Pacific Company. Port Arthur is a port on the lake shore with good docks to tie vessels to and pretty well the Herat. But the fort has advantages equal to all this and a great deal more. Fort William means miles upon miles of the navig-able Kamministiqua River, with water so deep that it is easy to build along its banks wharves where large vessels can load and unload, the rails running alongside close by. Natural condocks and elevators along the Kamministiqua river as where the vast trausfer trade in western gram is to be done; while for the trade in ores and other merchandise, also destined to be a vast one, is destined to take hold at Port Arthur. And putting the two together, the trade of the whole place will be a great one some day; call it Port Arthur or Fort Wil; ham, which you please, or continue to use both names if you like it better.

During my brief stay at Port Arthur on Monday I fell in with Mr. George Marks, a leading merchant here, and heavily interested in the shipping. He says that as a grain ex-porting boint Port Arthur is but of yesterday, taking its rise along with the Prairie Province where the grain comes from. But now that the second big harvest is supposed to be on hand, he expects that Port Arthur's export

The college will open on Monday, September 17. Intending pupils are requested to register before that date. hand, he expects that Port Arthur's export for the crop year 1888-89 will be ten million bushels at least. He says that of late it has been gaining greatly on Duluth, which is still ahead, however, having gained its celebrity the city of the unsalted seas" years before a rail was laid on the Canadian Pacific. What on the American side has for awhile been an ald story, is on the Canadian side only just

To show you that the natural capabilities of Fort William and the Kamministiqua Riverare not being neglected, let me mention that the Canadian Pacific Company have during the most of this season had some 300 men employed in two impeases always as which will ployed in two immense elevators, which will ployed in two immense elevators, which will Pupils thoroughly prepared for ensemble and be completed ere grain enough gets down the solo playing. be completed ere grain enough gets down the coming winter to fill them. They have also a fine large elevator at Port Arthur, which will do a big business the coming season. Last year's grumblers, if any of them survive, will surely be astonished to see the changed state of prepations by this year; though how far they will "acknowledge the corn," WRITE for described Creations of all paralles such as a state of prepations of the corn," WRITE for described Creations of all paralles such as a state of the corn, and the corn, and the corn, and the corn of t selves, as the times do, remains to be seen.

The Alberta. 1 Left Owen Sound on Saturday afternoon by the Alberta, which is commanded by Capt.
2 B. Anderson, formerly of Oakville, but who now has his home in Sarnia. Mr. John Edwards, originally from Glengarry, is purser; and both of them have had years of experience on the old Beatty line of steamers, so named from Mr. Henry Beatty who is now Superintendent for the Canadian Pacific company of the present upper lake line. Mr. E. Masterson of Cleveland is steward of the Alberta, and Mr. David McLean is 1st enginer. Everything goes well, and is kept ship-shape as far as a landsman can judge. The steamers are doing good business these days, the Alberta this time having about a hundred

Perjury and Arson. On Jan. 15, 1886, the residence of Mr. Jas. Johnson, in the Township of York, was destroyed by fire. Recently Wm. Ashley and John Viol were arrested charged with the crime of indendiarism. Yesterday they appeared before Justice Wingfield, but the evidence given against the prisoners was not of a character likely to convict them of arson.
