

Master of Knights seeks the restoration 348-349; Nelson's 413, 428; successes unwarrior, 417; subs, and anger of,
and Great Britain, ation at the refusal to surrender Malta renews the Armed 80, with Sweden, russia, 458; Bona-ment of, 459; mur-sh frigate, efficain compelling the

"Guillaume Tell," e-line, 431, 684. e Minister of Great courtesy shown to in England by,
of Nelson with,
gar, 678, 683.

nd of Elba, seized 96, 202; British n Bastia to, 216;
of, superintended 4.

Lord, quotations
lating to Nelson, 605, 608, 614, 651,

h ship-of-the-line, ounded by a shot

en, Nelson's plans re to attack the t of ships in, 468, e, 500; Nelson's results of Nelunds the frigate light squadron openhagen, 475,

signal to retire,

erations of Nel-1796, 157-201;
e French, 157-

of the French
Nelson's combina-

Rodney, Admiral, Lord, effect of his victory upon Nelson's plans for Trafalgar, 704.

Rogers, Samuel, anecdote of Nelson, 447.

Rose, George, Nelson's interview with, in 1788, 70-72; accompanies Nelson on board ship before Trafalgar, 691; Nelson's message to, when dying, 740.

Ruffo, Cardinal, leader of the Neapolitan
"Christian Army" at Naples, 1799, 356; concludes with the insurgents in the castles a capitulation: which Nelson annuls, 367-374; stormy interview of, with Nelson, 375; evidence concerning relations between Nelson and, 375-390.

"SAHUNA," Spanish frigate, captured by the "Minerve" carrying Nelson's broad pendant, 221; recaptured, 222.

"San Josef," Spanish three-decked ship, taken possession of by Nelson at Battle of St. Vincent, 233-236; flagship to Nelson in the Channel Fleet, 453, 460.

"San Nicolas," Spanish eighty-gun ship, boarded by Nelson at Battle of St. Vincent, 233-236.

Santa Cruz, Canary Islands. See Teneriffe.

Sardinia, Island of, importance of, in Nelson's opinion, 575-579.

Saunarez, Sir James, commands the "Orion," at the Battle of St. Vincent, 236; relieves Nelson in the blockade of Cadiz, 246; accompanies Nelson as second in command in the Nile campaign, 270, 278, 284, 285 and note, 287, 295; at Battle of the Nile, 298, 302; sent to Gibraltar with the prizes, 313, 315; Nelson's eulogy of, in the House of Lords, 541.

Scott, Rev. A. J., private secretary to Sir Hyde Parker, and afterwards to Nelson in the Mediterranean, 472, 483; testimony of, to Nelson's religious feelings, 541; Nelson's method of transacting business with, 602-604; mention of Nelson's kindliness by, 605-607; anecdote of Nelson, 654, 655; remark of Nelson to, 717; at Nelson's death-bed, 735, 740, 741.

Scott, John, public secretary to Nelson, 602; remarks on the quickness of Nelson's intelligence, 605, and on his kindliness, 607; killed at Trafalgar, 732.

Sicily, importance of Malta to, 282; Nelson's anxiety for, in 1799, 354, 359, 362, 365-367, 396, 398, 408; in 1803-5, 562, 567-569, 571, 585, 644, 647-648; Nelson's estate of Bronté in, 405, 499.

Sidmouth, Lord. See Addington.

Smith, Sir Sidney, Nelson's indignation at the mission of, to the Levant, 343-345; Nelson's relations with, 346-347; successful defence of Acre by, 418; Nelson's peremptory orders to, not to permit any Frenchman to quit Egypt, 420; nevertheless, Convention of El Arish countenanced by, 421-422; Nelson's distrust of, 413, 569.

Smith, Spencer, brother to Sir Sidney, minister and joint minister of Great Britain to Constantinople, 343-346; letter of Nelson to, quoted, 348; becomes secretary of embassy, 414.

Spain, Nelson sees that Spain cannot be a true ally to Great Britain, 89; effect upon Nelson of declaration of war by, 207-213; political condition of, in 1803, 559; Nelson's views concerning, 562, 574, 615, 618, 620, 624, 625, 630; Nelson's letter of instructions to a captain contingent upon action of, 619.

Spencer, Earl, first Lord of the Admiralty, 251; letters to Nelson from, quoted, 243, 309, 402, 432-433; letters of Nelson to, quoted, 251, 280, 309, 344, 395, 396, 397, 408, 409, 413, 414, 418, 427, 432, 433, 460; indicates to Jervis the Government's wish that Nelson command the squadron in the Mediterranean, 274; Nelson tells him circumstances of surrender of castles at Naples, 381; selects Sir Hyde Parker for Baltic command, 462.

St. George, Mrs., description of Lady Hamilton, 325, 327; account of meeting with Nelson and the Hamiltons at Dresden in 1800, 441-443; remarks likeness of Nelson to the Russian Marshal Suwarrow, 442.
"St. George," British ship-of-the-line,