NOTABLE ASSEMBLAGE MARKS WEDDING OF PRINCE ARTHUR

Less Than Three Hundred Persons Present in Chapel, But Gathering Was Most Brilliant Scene Since Coronation of King George—Simpli city Was Keynote.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Can. Press).—Prince Arthur of Connaught, son of the Duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada, and Princess Alexandra Victoria, Duchess of Fife, eldest daughter of the widowed Princess Royal Louise, were today made man and wife in the ancient chapel of St. James' Palace, where both of them had been baptized.

There was room for less than 300 in the simply the daintily decorated chapel, but not since the coronation of King George, had there been such a gathering of royalties and notable personages as on this occasion.

Besides King George, Queen Mary, Queen Mother Alexandra, the king and queen of Norway, and other royal relatives of the couple, to the number of a score or more, the congregation consisted of members of the diplomatic corps, of the British cabinet and of the royal household, and of a few distinguished persons who had been especially honored.

Glitter of Diamonds.—The chapel in fact glittered with diamonds and pearls, almost every woman present wearing a tiara and necklace, each of fabulous value.

Lord and Lady Strathmore and Mount Royal, and Lord and Lady Mount Stephen were among the very few to whom the invitations had been issued. The bride, who entered the chapel between King George and her mother, looked charming in a dainty dress of white, charmingly embroidered with pearls and diamonds, and adorned with exquisite Brussels applique lace, of which the bride's veil also was made. Much admiration was expressed at the appearance of the five bridesmaids, who were Princess Mary, daughter of the king and queen; Princess Maude, only sister of the bride; Princess Victoria and Princess Helena of Teck, daughters of the Duke and Duchess of Teck; and Princess Mary, the little daughter of Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck. Their frocks were made of delicate shell-pink charmeuse and cream lace, and they carried beautiful bouquets of carnations and lilies, the same flowers as decorated the chapel royal.

The pages were little Prince John, the king's youngest son, and Prince Olaf of Norway, whom everybody in the British isle adores.

Were Military Uniform.—Prince Arthur wore his uniform as a captain of the Royal Scots Greys, with its bright scarlet tunic and high bearskin busby, and all the women among his royal relatives also wore military uniforms covered with decorations. The king was dressed as a field marshal. The queen and other ladies wore in beautiful costumes, dazzling with jewels.

The ceremony was extremely simple, and was performed by the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London as dean of the chapel royal, and Canon Edgar Sheppard, sub-dean of the chapel royal, before an altar embellished with gold candelabra.

Prince Arthur and his bride entered the altar in the bride's carriage. After the ceremony, the archbishop of Canterbury delivered a short address, in which he pointed out that the wedding only a few had been able to assist at the ceremony, millions of Britons all over the world joined in rejoicing at the marriage of an English prince and princess. The first part of the honeymoon is to be spent at Sandringham, on the southeast coast of England.

MRS. S. A. STRONG TO SPEAK HERE

Distinguished Visitor Will Give a Lecture on Thursday Evening.

A lady visitor of rare distinction in the fields of classical scholarship and art will arrive in Toronto in a day or two for a brief stay. Mrs. S. Arthur Strong, Litt.D., LL.D., assistant director of the British School in Rome, may be said to be the outstanding authority in the English-speaking world on the art of ancient Rome, and on the invitation of the archaeological institute of America has consented to give a number of lectures before the branch societies in Canada and the United States. Mrs. Strong will give an illustrated lecture in the physics building, University of Toronto, this evening, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m. her subject being "The Symbolism of the After-Life in the Later Roman Sculpture."

An invitation is given to those who may wish to hear what will certainly be a most interesting and instructive lecture.

EXCELLENT STOCK

If all the bones that are trimmed from the roast either at the market or at home are crumbled and put into a kettle, they will make an excellent basis for rich gravies or a soup, says the Newark News.

To every pound of bones allow a quart of cold water, a carrot, turnip, two tomatoes, an onion and a stalk of celery, all the vegetables cut into small pieces. Simmer slowly until the soup has been reduced about half. Then cook, skim and strain.

Fabric hats will be leaders in the millinery world, the loveliest being of velvet, moire, taffeta, crepe or velour.

Taffeta will be used to trim the new fall hats; many of the draped and mob crowns are of this material.

The most distinctly oriental note in the newest frocks is the broad sash, which is swathed around the figure.

Odds and Ends

October is one of our most important months in the garden. It is the month of the year when a successful gardener keeps his eyes open every minute of the time, to attend to an infinite number of odd jobs. He is on the alert constantly. A few long trailers have developed here and there since the last clipping of the shrubs, leaves now falling every day must be husbanded for mulching and protective purposes; borders must be kept trim and neat; borders must absolutely be looked after as carefully as in the middle of summer, or there will be a terrific battle to the death in the "spring" all litter and rubbish must be put out of sight; also keep the beds well watered.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

Our Irish Friend

A NEW industry has been formed in our midst to make lead pencils from potatoes. This might make us fear that the supply of our favorite vegetable would be short were it not that progressive farmers are now raising two potatoes on stems that formerly grew but one.

Appearance and taste are the points by which we judge a cooked potato, but to select a good variety of potato on the market is not easy. Smooth skin and shallow eyes are desirable, tho the appearance has little to do with the merits of the tuber.

Divide the potato in four parts with a knife and examine the exposed surfaces. If it is so moist that slight pressure will form drops of water you may be sure, no matter what the dealer may say, that it will not be dry after it is boiled.

The qualities you must look for in the uncooked potato are a pearl white color (yellowish potatoes are not wholesome), firm, close-grained flesh and a solid center. Rub the pieces together, and if a froth appears around the edges and over the surfaces the potato is rich in starch; the more starch present, the more nutritious when cooked. The tests are by no means infallible, they are employed by experts, and potatoes answering to them should cook well, be dry and mealy and sweet flavored.

The most economical way to cook potatoes is in their skins, as the valuable part of the tuber lies near the peel and this is lost when they are pared; heat affects the different constituents of the potato in various ways. The protein hardens much as does the white of an egg when heated; the starch cells swell and burst, part is changed to dextrine and part is filled with moisture. The mineral salts which are most important are not affected by heat.

A great deal is said in regard to the splendid work done on a potato diet by the Irish, but we know that too much starch in any form causes rheumatism and other ills; a potato diet needs to be balanced. The pigs and the cow and the horse are fed on potatoes that grow somewhere near the potato patch give the other articles necessary to the Irish as well as the American.

These same things apply to the famed rice diet of the Japanese. We are told they live and work upon a handful of this cereal a day; in reality the soy bean, rich as meat, and other legumes are cooked with the rice and a great variety of fish meat to expose to that hashed browned potatoes are not so dangerous as certain "experts" would have you believe; if cooked quickly in very hot drippings, instead of lard, they are quite as safe as "bath-mitts—breakfast food. To prepare them, cut cold boiled potatoes in small dice, have the fat smoking hot, turn in the potatoes and stir until they are heated thru. Salt and pepper them; cook until well browned on the bottom. They may be further seasoned with a few drops of onion juice or with dry mustard.

Baked potatoes, stuffed with meat, curried potatoes, shoe-string or macaroni potatoes and croquettes, balls and cakes are self-explanatory, but potatoes, "like you have in hotels, au gratin," are often asked for and are not forthcoming at home. Here is how to prepare them: Dice the cold boiled potatoes, toss and arrange in the baking dish in alternate layers with this simple white sauce: Two tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of butter, a cup of stock or milk. Mix the flour and butter and heat; add the milk; stir until smooth and free of lumps. Add four heaping tablespoons of cheese, yolks of two eggs well beaten and seasoning of salt, pepper and paprika. Bake in a moderate oven until the contents of the dish are a light brown. O'Brien potatoes are made as above, but strips of red sweet peppers and a little minced onion are added.

Synod Passed Resolution Appealing to Government for Religious Instruction.

SOCIAL VICE THE TOPIC

At Yesterday's Session—Toleration System Charged by W. E. Raney.

"Toronto streets are unsafe," declared Rev. D. C. McGregor of the social service department at the Presbyterian synod in St. James' Square Church yesterday afternoon. The synod had been appalled by Miss Rattee's description of conditions in British Columbia and other western provinces. Rev. Mr. McGregor said that while in the aggregate moral conditions were better in Toronto, some of the cases of juvenile immorality in the west were duplicated here. He had a demonstration of this in the case of two girls of 14 years of age, who were dealt with by Commissioner Starr, the particulars of which it was not desirable to relate.

More Sunday Motoring.—Rev. T. A. Rogers presented the report on secret service. It stated that the Lord's Day Act was better enforced than ever before, but the enforcement of the law appeared to be decreasing, and motor car riding and other forms of pleasure were increasingly prevalent. In Owen Sound the enforcement of the local option law would have been very unsatisfactory if left to the local officials, and a hundred citizens organized a citizens' league, which had proved effective.

Toleration Here?—W. E. Raney addressed the synod. He quoted from the annual reports of the chief of police to prove that the social evil is tolerated in Toronto. Both the chief of police and the senior magistrate, he said, as well as one of the coroners, appeared to assume that other women were in less danger of vice was tolerated. Public sentiment in Toronto was apathetic. The only potent remedy was an aroused and fearless public opinion.

The Midway Scored.—Even the Canadian National Exhibition pandered to vice for revenue. "The midway was a carnival of vulgarity, indecency and criminality. Only the force of public opinion will move the directors, and it is the duty of the churches to arouse this public opinion."

Miss Rattee, secretary, declared that the toleration of the social evil in British Columbia was of so glaring a character that the attorney-general of that province should be prosecuted like a "common criminal" for his inactivity.

Passed Resolution.—A series of resolutions were adopted calling upon the congregations to support the work of the moral and social reform department for the suppression of vice.

Rev. J. Beattie, Cobourg, made an appeal for more evangelistic work, both for the general good, and the credit of the Presbyterian church. The fact that the Dominion census gave half a million more nominal Presbyterians than the membership rolls showed demanded serious attention. He advocated either special evangelistic measures, or an organized canvass by the church members. Both methods had proved very successful.

Bible Study in Schools.—A resolution was unanimously adopted in favor of an appeal to the Ontario Government to have Bible study as part of the public school course.

The evening meeting was devoted to home missions. The remaining committee will report this morning. The annual meeting will conclude this afternoon.

La Argentina, "Queen of Castanets," Will Appear in New York.

MADRID, Oct.—La Argentina, "Queen of Castanets," as she is called, one of the most famous Spanish dancers of the day, if not the most celebrated, will soon electrify New York as she recently electrified St. Petersburg and Moscow.

Altho not strictly beautiful, she embodies in her person all the grace and abandon which characterize Spanish dancing. She is a Spaniard, and she has the grace and beauty of Spain.

She has adopted La Argentina as her stage name, but she is a Spaniard, and she has the grace and beauty of Spain.
