—A demand of assignment has been made upon Wm. Rutherford, lumber merchant of this city, which is being contested. The action has been taken by the Banque Nationale, on an endorsement on paper of his former partner, Alex. Holmes, who is at present in insolvency.
Mr. Rutherford makes the following statement respecting the matter:—"The note in question I am endorser on for the accommodation of the next endorser, whose property the note was.
It went to protest in July last. On being notified by the manager to attend to it, I informed him of the accommodation nature of the endorsement, and requested him to collect from the next endorser. This endorser told me a few days after that he had put it all right.
I never heard more of the note until I saw the notice of the demand for assignment on Saturday. The Bank never made demand on me for payment, and, under the circumstances, I consider the demand a gross outrage. As to the —The extraordinary mildness of the past winter, and the early spring which is already upon us, have furnished much food for comment, and astonished European visitors, whose ideas of a Canadian winter are inseparable from early descriptions of the lives of Hudson Bay trappers and Esquimaux seal-fishers, and whose school books still teach them that in the Province of Quebec milk is frozen solid and sold by the pound from November to May. We are informed by persons who lived here in 1824-25 that the winter of that year was still milder.

Vegetables ripened in the open air at Kingston in the month of December, and sailing vessels from Boucherville arrived in this port on the 23rd March following.

—The two firms of Allard & Larivière, store keepers, and Larivière & Frere, carriagemakers of St. Hyacinthe, have been attached at suit of G. R. Fabre. Mr. Joseph Larivière was the moving spirit in both these concerns, and at one time was considered a man in good circumstances, but a disposition to expand and get too many irons in the fire has led to his serious embarrassment, which has probably been hastened by the extensive fire of a year ago.

was perpetrated in the Hochelaga-Bank in this city. Two respectably dressed men entered the bank, and one engaged the receiving teller in a conversation about purchasing exchange on London, while the other engaged the paying teller in making change for a small amount.
The party of the first part was referred to the cashier about the exchange, but, as he did not know him, asked the teller to introduce him. A package containing $1000 greenbacks received in exchange a few minutes before from Marler & Payne lay on the counter, but, when the teller returned, a hasty search revealed the fact that a robbery had been committed. The stolen money consisted of one $500 bill and twenty-five $20 bills. Men answering the description were seen in St. John, Que., the following day, changing a $20 greenback.
