Many of the delegates, however, were prevented from attending, including some of the occupied regions of the Rhine, the Ruhr district and South Bavaria.

There was one woman delegate, who sat at the central council's table. Some of the foreign representatives were in the galleries.

Surprise was caused by the announcement that there were nine delegates from German-Austria.

The confirmed Majority Socialists will have a majority in the congress, but it is considered premature to draw inferences from this, owing to the absence of party discipline, and some surprises are expected.

This congress appears to have stirred up the Government into the preparation of considerable social and socialistic legislation. A semi-official announcement says that preparations for the creation of unified courts for labor to govern all labor relations are so advanced that they can be laid before the committee of the labor ministry soon after Easter. In the near future there will be a systematic, clear and purposeful reconstruction of the all-labor legislation, and that unified labor courts are contemplated for all warkingmen and employers.

This committee will present a report at another meeting to be held before the House prorogues.

The provincial convention will be held entirely independent of the gathering called by the Dominion Liberals for the selection of a federal leader in August.

In Complete Accord.

It is generally known that the Liberal members in the Legislature are working together in complete accord.

Tonight's meeting was a most harmonious one. The members discussed the outlook carefully. The temperance question, as crystallized in the announcement of Sir William Hearst in the Legislature on Monday, was discussed toward the close of the meeting. There was no divergence of opinion manifested on the matter and no resolution was adopted. Whatever the Liberals have to say on the Government proposals will be reserved until the bills are definitely before the House.
