VANDALS WRECK
CAR AT BRIDGE

Door Broken Off, Electric Lamp Smashed and Other Damage Done

A disgraceful act of vandalism was the work of ruffians last night between ten and eleven o'clock when the car used as a waiting room was besieged and one of the doors broken off and thrown inside, the electric lamp smashed and the heating apparatus interfered with, infact everything easily taken hold of was demolished or partly broken.

The Street Railway authorities placed this car at the disposal of the people as a waiting room about a month ago and the shelter afforded has certainly been appreciated. Those responsible for last night's performance should be taught a lesson in common decency.

It is said the passenger traffic over the bridge last evening was particularly heavy and surely some citizens must have witnessed the outrage. If they would communicate with the police it is believed prompt action would be taken.
Judging by the progress of the construction crew it will be two weeks yet before a thorough car service is inaugurated.

GENERAL BENSON
PLEASED WITH
INSPECTION HERE

The visit of General Benson, O. C. 6th division, Halifax, accompanied by Lieut.
Col. Powell, D. A. A. and A. G. G., to the city today, overshadowed other events in military circles. The divisional officer commanding made a thorough inspection of the local unit and the general quarters, and seemed well pleased. They will leave this evening on their return to Halifax.

With the 68th battalion, the officers occupied most of the morning. They were brought to the armory in Lieut.
Col. Dunsen's car, and found the battalion drawn up en masse. Battalion drill, company drill and other manoeu-vers were gone through, and the general expressed his pleasure with the efficiency shown by the unit. He also visited the barracks and made an inspection of equipment. An inspection of the work on the quarters being arranged for the 110th in the agricultural hall was conducted, and the general looked over the recruits drilling with this unit in Broad street.

On West Side General Benson yesterday visited the battalion on Paradise Island, and at the close remarked: "A very smart unit." He was pleased also with their quarters, as well as with the barracks of the 140th and the appearance of the men of that unit in the immigration buildings. Both he and Colonel Powell seemed to think that the new quarters being prepared for the 110th would be entirely satisfactory. Before returning to Halifax they will inspect the discharge depot, the ordnance stores and the convalescent hospital.

Home for Christmas
Many of the men of the local units are planning their return home for Christmas. Leave will commence tomorrow, though in some cases where volunteers live a considerable distance away, they will leave tonight. Those who do not have the Christmas leave will have a holiday at New Years.

Visiting Cadets
Two cadets from the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., are in the city on Christmas leave—Frederick Foster and Harry Barker. Mr. Foster is a son of Mrs. A. B. Pines of Dorchester, and a nephew of W. E. Foster of Vassie & Co. Mr. Barker is a brother of Major L. W. Barker, O. C. the 4th Siege Battery. Both will graduate with their commissions in June and will receive appointments either in the Canadian or imperial artillery. Both young men are well known in St. John, and have been volunteers. They are former students of Rothschilds College.

Pay-Day
The recruits signed for the 110th will parade at the Mill street offices this afternoon to receive their pay.

Route March
The members of the 68th will be taken about the city on a route march this afternoon. Company drill will be practiced by the unit.

CHILDREN'S AID WORK

From Police Station to the North End—Evidence That Watchful Care is Needed—The Boys' Club Honor Roll

A Times man took "a night off" last evening and made a tour with Agent C.
D. Howard of the Children's Aid Society. It was an interesting experience.
They went first to the police station, where Mr. Howard had an appointment with a relative of a boy whose mother is in jail for a term and whose three children must meantime be cared for.
While waiting, the officer at Central showed the newspaper man the pleasant room with two comfortable cots in it, where delinquent girls may spend a night instead of being thrust into a cell in the jail. There have been great improvements at Central under the new regime.

While waiting, also, the visitors had a chat with Chief Simpson. He told of a number of very young girls who must be taken from the streets, and who have already gone far on the downward path; and added that the Children's Aid Society would have a busy year. He himself was handicapped through having a small force, and two men were away last night on the trail of military deserters. The chief noted the fact that there were more police officers in the North End twenty-five years ago than now.

As the man for whom the visitors waited did not come, they left Central and went down to the St. John Boys' Club, where Harry Scott, the faithful caretaker, produced an honor roll, showing that twenty boys who had been members of the club in the last three years are now in khaki. Surely this is a notable record. About forty boys were in the room, enjoying various games.
There are seventy-five members or more, and several applications for membership were received last evening. The newspaper man was decorated with a club membership button.

After an hour or more with the boys Mr. Howard and the Times man took a car to the North End, where a complaint of brutal treatment of a child was to be investigated. The two children in the case were found clinging fondly to the alleged head of the family, and the investigation proved that somebody had been mauling a neighbor. The visitors did learn, however, that a woman in a very delicate state of health with two small children and no personal friends in the city, just as she alone a great deal because her husband has to work every day, or sometimes every night. Mr.
Howard joined in the name of a minister, and the latter will doubtless see to it that some of the ladies of the congregation make friendly calls.

Returning by way of old streets the newspaper man was shown an old house where a father, mother and eight children live in three rooms. Another was pointed out where a girl lives who is likely through the good offices of the society to have a brighter future open up before her with the new year.

Passing along Main street, the two men saw a tall young man, and in a mere girl, not more than thirteen years of age, whispering together. Mr. Howard was about to use his authority and admonish the girl, for it was after ten o'clock, but seeing a policeman coming on the other side of the street his attention was diverted to the pair, and as he moved toward them the young man moved hastily away and the girl disappeared.

A little farther along two small boys were observed in a place where there did not appear to be good reason for their presence at that hour, and Mr.
Howard made a note of it for enquiry later.

In another side street three young girls were seen who should have been in their homes long before, and in a dark corner that is sometimes a rendezvous for young delinquents.
Still later in the evening, telling of his experiences, the Times man was in turn told of a mother who is working out herself this week to get a few dollars to make a Christmas for her children, because every cent of her husband's earnings is required to meet the ordinary expenses of the home.

He who goes about with his eyes open sees much in the streets of St. John, and if his ears are open he hears much that is likely to prompt him to do some hard thinking.

SUIT OVER SCOW

The case of Robert H. Lee vs. Frank L. Boone was taken up this morning in Chambers before Mr. Justice McKeown, and will be continued this afternoon.
The suit arose over an agreement for the hire of a scow in connection with the construction of the new marine wharf at West St. John. H. S. Keith appeared for the plaintiff, and J. B. M.
Baxter, K.C., for the defendant.

Advertising and Price

Who pays the price of advertising is a much discussed question.
Listen to what Jules B. Schloss has to say in Newspaperdom.
"Good advertising creates a passive expense which is overbalanced by the decreased cost of production or selling—and it reduces the price of the commodity to the consumer. It lowers the cost of living.
"Poor advertising remains an active expense, which must be added to the price of the commodity, because it does not proportionately increase the sales—poor advertising increases, instead of decreases, the cost of production and selling! Consequently, it raises the cost of living. When advertising is run in media to which it is not suited, it is decidedly poor advertising, and it will not bring the necessary results." And because they produce results at low cost the newspapers are today the most favored of all advertising mediums.

Sensible Gifts
For the Home!

Presents that combine usefulness and beauty are the more sensible, being prized far the more highly than gifts that are simply ornamental. A table for dining or living-room, a sliding couch, or mantel mirror, a taboret, a screen or hall seat; perhaps an umbrella rack. These things are useful, besides being attractive.

Shirt Waist Boxes are not only practical, but are always most warmly welcomed. These we offer you in various pretty effects and suitable sizes at $4.50, $6.75 and $7.75.
