

ELKS LODGE HERE
READY BY MIDDLE OF NEXT MONTH

Organizer Says It Will be
One of Finest in the Dominion.

Major Douglas Roy Beresford, D. S. O., a veteran of battles in China, the Afghan frontier and of the Great War, is at the Royal. Major Beresford, who is grand organizer for Canada and Newfoundland of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, is here in connection with his duties as organizer of the new lodge in St. John. Since his appointment as grand organizer he has been from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and has had great success on his mission. He will go from here to other points in the Maritime Provinces, and then to Newfoundland.

He said this morning that some of the foremost business men in St. John had made application to join the order, and he expected that one of the finest lodges in the Dominion would be formed here. It will be installed by the Grand Exalted Ruler, W. Frank Murphy, of Montreal, a former St. John man, and at present a prominent real estate broker in the city of his adoption. The lodge will be installed by him and members of the grand lodge probably about the middle of September. Several lodges throughout Canada have been instituted in the last two weeks. Such prominent men as Governor-General Lord Byng, Sir Henry Thornton and Sir Lorne Spavin were members of the order. A lodge would be instituted in the British West Indies this fall, and members of the British and American residents of Shanghai expect to form a lodge about April of next year under the Grand Lodge of Canada. By the end of this year it is expected that the order would be 120,000 strong in Canada.

Major Beresford has made many friends since his arrival in the city, all of whom will join in wishing him success in his work.

GUNNER SMITH
WON FROM QUINN

Gunner Smith won from Battling Mike Quinn, of Sydney Mines, on a foul in the third round of a ten-round bout to a decision in North Sydney on Monday night. The contest, up to the time it was called by the referee, was a slugging battle, with very little display of the finer points of boxing.

BURIED TODAY

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth Stewart took place this afternoon from the residence, 9 Leinster street, to Trinity Church, where burial services were conducted by Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong. Interment was in Fernhill.

ORGANIZING ELKS
Major D. R. Beresford, D. S. O.

DOROTHY DALTON;
LEONARD TENDLER

Imperial's Double Bill
Tonight and Tomorrow.

The programme at Imperial Theatre for the mid-week is an especially alluring one. It will have Dorothy Dalton, Theodore Kiploff and other notable stars in a few mid-European melodramas entitled The Law of the Law. This is a seven-act feature and entirely unlike anything yet shown on the screen. The second part of the show will hold perhaps the most interest to the sporting public, at least as the main feature. This is a full moving picture, entitled The Law of the Law, featuring the lightweight championship boxing battle in the New York Stadium a few weeks ago. The fight went the full limit of fifteen rounds and is a thrilling encounter of skill and stamina. The evening begins at 7 and 8:45 in the afternoon. The boxing bout is shown once in the afternoon (between shows) and twice at night. It is to be especially noted that tomorrow (Thursday) night the Imperial's second show will close the public mass meeting when the Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, Hon. G. C. Cabell of Virginia, will speak. In order to handle the two full shows the programme will commence at quarter to seven.

LANCASTER LIGHTING

The erection of the poles by the Civic Commission in the Parish of Lancaster is still held up awaiting a conference between the members of Highway Board and the committee from the commission, who have the matter in charge. It is understood that the Highway Board want the line carried from the bridge to Water street, West, across the lots rather than the highway and as this would involve appropriation proceedings for a right of way across private land the commission want to use the street. They also contend that the location chosen is a better one for the cable as it brings the main line in closer touch with the customers.
