PLAN TO RAISE SHIP
OF SPANISH ARMADA

English Syndicate Hopes to Salvage a Treasure Galleon; She Carried Much Gold

Stories of the seeking and finding of treasure are always attractive, and although the amount of seeking is usually very disproportionate (except in romances) to the finding, interest in enterprises of this character never fails.

One of the most romantic, and also, it would appear, one of the most hopeful, of present day adventures in search of treasure is the attempt to recover the great amount of gold that is known to lie in the wreck of a large Spanish galleon, one of the vessels of the Great Armada, that was sunk off Tobemory Bay in 1588. This is the fourth season that a treasure-hunting syndicate has brought modern image, skill and appliances to bear on these operations. Many of the descendants of families connected with the Countess of Elizabeth, or belonging to the days of the Armada, are shareholders in the salvage venture now being determinedly carried on in the stormy bay in the northern part of the island of Mull, in the Scottish Western Highlands. Among the names on the syndicate register of members are those of several of the Argyll family and of the Clan MacLean. There is also a direct descendant of the Mr. Smollett to whom centuries ago was entrusted the duty of preventing the galleon from setting sail from Tobemory. This task—doubtless a pleasing one—he accomplished with the aid of some of MacLean's men.

Bright hopes are held of the success of the salvage venture. The latest auction pump plant is being called in to aid; apparently dynamite is not the most satisfactory agent for clearing the mud and accumulations of centuries away from the sunken ship. But a spiral wheel cutter at the lower end of the suction pipe slices up the material, and the great sucking power of the steam pumps brings the mud, sand, clay, small stones, and shells in a constant stream to a large sieve-like apparatus on the deck of the lighter, where everything is examined before being cast away. Already various objects of value—coins, plate, arms, etc.—have been recovered.

An ambitious scheme is projected. The aim is to raise the galleon bodily, repair it, and tow it to London. It is said that the plan is quite practicable. The ship was one of the stoutest of the Spanish Armada, built of oak, clamped with tons of copper bolts. Imbedded in the mud at Tobemory Bay the warship would be prevented from harm, and oak is a wood that endures.

In any case, the treasure on board—sheets full of gold and silver—would be of great value, and it is hoped, be brought to the surface, together with brass cannon and other equipment.

RUST REMOVER.
Nothing answers the purpose of a rust remover like rice. A recent stain, or one of long standing, can easily be removed by using it, says Good Housekeeping. Boil a cupful of rice in two quarts of water for thirty minutes. Let it stand overnight, then strain through a cheesecloth. Soak the iron-rust spots in the rice water for four or five hours and then rinse in clear water. No matter how old the stains they will be effectively removed.

Evening Technical School Has An Enrollment of 674

A STEADY GROWTH

Five Years Ago Number Was 220—Features of the Work and Some of the Good Results That Have Been Seen

(Halifax Chronicle)
The enrollment in the evening technical college this year has been the largest in the history of the school, being 674. It has grown to this number from 220, five years ago. The increase from the session of 1907-11 was more than forty per cent.

A large part of this increase is due to the establishing of classes in needlework for women in the fall of 1911, which were announced as classes in plain sewing, shirt waist making, coat and skirt making. One hundred and seventy women made application to join these classes, but only 125 could be accommodated. The classes were designed for young women who were earning their own living. At the opening of the school in October last year a large number of the applicants were found who had not even been taught the art of plain sewing, in the public schools, or at home.

A surprisingly large number of students who did not know the simplest manipulations connected with a sewing machine. The great need of such instruction among women was apparent by the lack of knowledge of the students.

Carefully Chosen
The instructors were very carefully chosen, with a view to their teaching qualifications as far as these could be ascertained, and also because of their good reputation for competency in the lines of work which they were to instruct.

From the very beginning a great deal of assistance was secured from the Local Council of Women, and a committee consisting of the following ladies: Mrs. William Dennis, Miss Mary Ritchie, Mrs. W. Schorn, Mrs. Michael Keefe and Mrs. Stenard, was appointed to distribute pamphlets through the various organizations affiliated with the council, in the homes of girls who were in need of instruction, and to see that the course offered.

The committee also recommended dress-makers who they thought would be competent instructors. A visiting committee was also appointed, which would visit the evening classes, and watch the progress of the young women. The instructors of the classes were: Mrs. Norton, Miss Mary Ritchie, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Fader, Miss Dee.

The attendance of the pupils in the classes during the session was excellent. It may be safely said that practically none of them have been absent during the whole session, except on account of sickness or night work.

Remarkable Progress
The progress of the young women has also been remarkable, and has surprised even the teachers. Some girls who did not know how to operate a sewing machine have learned plain sewing, simple shirt waist making, and are now engaged in making their third or fourth plain dress. All this has been accomplished in fifty sessions of two hours each.

The girls furnished their own materials, so that the cost of the classes to the city and government is extremely small. The girls pay $5 deposit on entering the class, which is refunded at the end of the year. The girls themselves prize the classes very highly and some of them have said it did not seem right to take any refund because they had learned far more than would repay them for their deposit.

A number of the young women have acquired better taste in dress because they are now able to afford much better garments than if they purchased them ready made at the stores.

Another Feature
A number of women who have been newly married or are about to be married have learned how to make children's clothes as well as their own clothes, so that the funds which go to support the family will be much better expended than formerly.

The general work of the technical school has increased in efficiency during the present year. The same classes have been offered in other years have been well attended, being as follows: Four in arithmetic, four in English, one in bookkeeping, one in electricity, chemistry, practical mathematics, mechanical and architectural drawing, and a class in garment making for tailors' apprentices.

The director of the cutting school of the American Fashion Co., of New York was so impressed with the effectiveness of the plan for training tailors' apprentices that he offered a free scholarship in his cutting school, to the value of $100 to the student in the evening class who should make the highest record. This was the only class for training garment makers in America, except one that had been started in New York by the Y.M.C.A. during the last year.

Direct Results
A number of students who have passed through the course at the technical school have been promoted, say their promotion is due to the knowledge gained in these classes.

There is a growing belief in the effectiveness of technical education among employers, as well as young men and women engaged in industry. The evening technical school which has been so highly developed in Great Britain offers the greatest opportunity to young men and women who have had to go direct from the common school into industry.

LUNCHING AT THE CLUB
The house committee of a certain club recently received this unique complaint: "I have the honor to inform you that I lunched at the club this afternoon and had as my guests three gentlemen, all well-known gentlemen. Among other things an omelet was served. It contained only three files. As an old member of the club, jealous of its reputation, I naturally found this very embarrassing, as, in order to make an equitable division of the omelet, it was necessary either to divide a fly—a nice bit of carving, as you must acknowledge—a fly, or myself. I beg to suggest that in future, when an omelet is served for four persons, it should be either with (a) four flies or (b) no flies at all."

MAYOR GAYNOR
LIKELY TO ENTER
PRESIDENTIAL RACE

New York, April 9.—With the return today of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, from Atlantic City, it was declared that if the councils of the party leaders, were followed, as there is every reason to believe they will be, New York's ninety delegates to the Democratic national convention will go to Baltimore pledged to any candidate for the presidential nomination.

It was freely predicted by leading Democrats today that the speech of Mayor William J. Gaynor before the National Democratic Club, which is to celebrate the 100th birthday of Thomas Jefferson at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria on next Saturday evening, would be the formal announcement of his candidacy for the presidential nomination.

It is declared by close friends of the leaders, including those of Mr. Murphy, that ninety delegates from New York, even though, as seems probable, they are to go to Baltimore uncommitted, will vote for Mayor Gaynor.

It was pointed out today that friends of Mayor Gaynor already have engaged rooms at a Baltimore hotel, and that headquarters will be opened there in the interests of Mayor Gaynor should he be elected to be a candidate for the presidential nomination.

NEW YORK MERCHANT
ARRESTED FOR LIBEL
ON CONGRESSMEN

Henry Page Issued Pamphlet Calling Them Crooks and Perjurers.

New York, April 9.—Henry W. A. Page, a well to do commission merchant and importer of lines and coffins, was arrested here today on a federal warrant from the District of Columbia, charging him with libelling Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the house committee on judiciary, and other members of congress. Page took his arrest coolly; in fact he requested that the federal officers be notified that he was waiting for the arrival of officers. When arraigned he gave $5,000 bail for his appearance in Washington where he will go without fighting extradition.

In the indictment which contains three counts, Page is charged with having circulated alleged libelous matter in a pamphlet, bearing a title page as follows: "The Crime of the Hon. Henry D. Clayton, Congressman Commit Perjury." On the title page these captions were followed by these questions:

Q.—"Do congressmen take a solemn oath to defend the constitution against all its enemies?"
A.—"Yes."
Q.—"Do congressmen keep this oath?"
A.—"No."
Q.—"Why do not congressmen keep this solemn oath?"

A.—"Because all congressmen are crooks."
At the bottom of the title page is the following from Ecclesiastes, V. 3: "Better it is that thou shouldst not vow, than thou shouldst vow and not pay." This pamphlet, addressed to all the members of the house committee on judiciary, was circulated among all the members of the sixty second congress.

THE Y. M. C. A. WORK

Citizens to Be Asked Tomorrow to Assist in Practical Way

One of the points of interest to which visitors to St. John are directed is the fine building of the Y. M. C. A., one of which citizens have reason to be proud. Visitation is always courteously welcomed.

Among the industries that are helping to make a bigger, better and more prosperous St. John, there is none of more importance than that which is conducted for the "making of men." The success of a city depends upon the character of its citizenship, and every agency that helps in making better men and for the right "forming" rather than reforming of boys, it is felt, should have the encouragement of every loyal citizen.

The Y. M. C. A. is doing a work not paralleled by any other organization. To keep the association within the reach of those who need it most, the fees must be kept low, and the revenue from this source cannot be expected to meet the current expenses. About 25 per cent. of the budget is annually contributed by the business men, and each year since the association has entered its new building, the management have been able to present to the annual meeting a statement showing all current expenses met.

Members of the association will wait

FOR CANAL FROM HARBOR
OF ST. JOHN TO MARBLE COVE

Frederick, N. B., April 9.—The corporations committee met this afternoon. Bills to amend the act incorporating the St. John Rural Cemetery Company, and to amend the act incorporating the St. John Law Society, were agreed to.

A bill relating to the Buctouche & Rexton Railway Company was agreed to with amendments, to provide that construction shall start in two years and be completed in five years.

A bill to incorporate the Norton & Springfield Telephone Company was agreed to with amendments.

J. S. Armstrong supported the bill relating to the Auto Road Company, relating to the company proposed to improve the highways and to establish auto routes. The bill was referred to a sub-committee.

A bill to incorporate the Sussex, St. John & Havellock Railway Company was agreed to with amendments, that construction should commence in three years and be completed in five years.

The committee considered a plan relating to the St. John Canal & Dock Company. Mr. Armstrong presented a plan of the proposed canal which proposed to construct from the head of St. John harbor to Marble Cove. He said that the expenditure for the canal would be between two and three million dollars, while an additional expenditure of several millions for wharves and other accommodations might be made. The committee decided to further consider the bill at a later date.

At a religious service in Scotland the late Lord Kelvin noticed a youngster accompanying his grandparents and looking wise as a young owl through the sermon. At the close of the service Lord Kelvin congratulated the grandchild upon the excellence of the lad's behavior.

"Och," says," returned the veteran: "Dance's head threatened afore he gae."
