Serious Disturbances by Anarchists in Paris Sunday.

Sebastian Faure and Faberot, well known revolutionary anarchists, were the ringleaders. Faure, standing on the pedestal of the statue which rises in the centre of the Place De La Republique, addressed the crowd. Among other things he said that the anar-chists should be masters of the streets. three arrests.
The crowd at this point dispersed.

out a column of demonstrators, headed by Faure and Henri D'Horr, made for the Place De La Nation.

The police broke through the column and a struggle for the mastery followed. Shots were fired and M. Coullier, commissary of police, was stabled with a knife. This threw the police into momentary confusion. The stabbed with a knife. This threw the police into momentary confusion. The mob reassembled and ran toward the Place De La Nation. The police, reinforced by a squad that had been held in reserve, made another attempt to stem the current, and fresh fierce fighting occurred, three constables being wounded.

Faure and D'Horr jumped into a passing street car that was going to the Place De La Republique, and the car driver on arriving there gave a signal to the police, who immediately arrested them both, together with two other anarchists.

All were conveyed to the Chateau D'Eau barracks. Only D'Horr was found in possesssion of firearms.

In the meantime the anarchist meb retraced its course to the Place De La Republique, smashing the windows of religious edifices on the way.

Suddenly, either at the word of command or in obedience to impulse, the mand or in obedience to impulse, the column made a loop and curved to-ward the church of St. Ambroise, where the rioters smashed the win-urg Du Temple, which they reached the corner of Rue Darboy, and the Rue St. Maur Popincourt, they formed up into a compact body. Hatchets were suddenly produced with long knives stolen from the counters of shops and a concerted rush was made upon the church of St. Joseph.

The aged Sacristan, seeing the mob, hastly closed the outer gate, but this was soon forced with hatchets and bars

According to the first account the wild horde burst into the church, which estantly became a scene of pillage and acrilege. Altars, fonts and statues were hurled to be floor and smashed; The crucifix above was made the target for missiles, and the figure of the Saviour was fractured in several places. Then, while raucous voices sang the "Carmagnole," the chairs were carried outside, piled up and set on fire in the centre of the square

When this stage was reached the rucifix was pulled down and thrown nto the flames. Suddenly a cry was alsed that the statue of the Virgin alsed that the statue of the Virgin and been forgotten, and the crowd re-urned and tore this down also.

Mrunwhile the Sacristan, who had been captured by the anarchists, escaped and called for the police and ped and caued for the police and publican guards, who promptly ar-ved with many constables. They are compelled to fall back in order form up into line of defence, as the

At length the officers began to gain the mastery. A score of anarchists took refuge in adjacent houses. THE DREYFUS TRIAL.

Col. Jouanst Publicly Hoists the Anti-Dreyfus Colors.

The Prisoner Changes His Attitude in Regard to Replying to Witnesses, Much to the Delight of His

RENNES, Aug. 21.-Three points stood out prominently in today's proceedings. They were Col. Jouaust's display of partiality, the new attitude taken up by Dreyfus and the contemptible conduct of the last witness, Junck. The spontaneous utterance of Jouaust of the word "Again" when Picquart asked to be heard has been the topic of conversation this afternoon, as Jouanst for the first time openly and candidly revealed his partiality and hoisted the anti-Dreyfusard's end hoisted the anti-Dreyfusard's colors. Throughout the trial neither he nor any of the judges have ever shown particular love for Picquart. But he has never before committed such a flagrant violation of justice and his duties as a judge as he did to and his duties as a judge as he did today. Col. Picquart's attitude of manly independence and utter fearlessness when at the witness bar, his refusal to gently murmur evidence in the ears

of the judges instead of as he did,
uttering his testimony in a trumpet voice so that not a person in court missed a syllable irritated the judges, who showed their impatience in the tone of the questions they put to him.
The second point, the change of attitude upon the part of Dreyfus, has given universal satisfaction to his friends. Hitherto he had confined himself, when asked by the judge if he had any reply to make to witnesses, to an impassioned protestation of his innocence. This made an immense

Impression on his hearers, but it only left a transitory impression.

Moreover, Gen. Roget made the significant remark in court last week that an innocent man does not merely protest his innocence but defends himself.

This indoubtedly stung Dreyfus into the line he adopted today when he rose and replied argumentatively and in a calm voice to the various points raised by the witnesses. It was in responce to Capt. Junck that he made his longest statement, occupying about ten minutes, during which he used the notes he had taken while Junck was used king and with methodical arguments.

The third point, the conduct of Junck in repeating confidences made to him, as comrade, by Dreyfue, dissusted his hearers, and in the mind of any right thinking man must have considerably impaired the value of the remainder of the evidence. He and Dreyfus sat together in the same office, and, naturally, exchanged confidences regarding their relations with women. But, it was pointed out, no one but a contemptible person repeats is thour women. But, it was pointed out, no one but a contemptible person repeats them in court, especially in the case of Vistor, on the outer of Third street and a nan posing as an officer and a gentlaman.

Dreyfus, in replying, scored distinctly when he brought out Junck's utter lack of sense of honor and himself declined to enter into a discussion of the ROME, Aug. 21.—A prominent Ital-an politician, according to the Don Chisciotte Della Mancia, has in his documents referred to in the bordereau in the Dreyfus case, and the hand-writing of the document is unquestionably not that of Capt. Dreyfus.

PARIS, Aug. 21.— A despatch from Ems says that Col. Schneider, the Austrian military attache whose alleged letter incriminating Dreyfus has been one of the principal weapons of the prosecution, has started for Paris with the intention of instituting proceedings for forgery and the employment of forged documents against those responsible for the authorship and use of the letter which he has already distinctly repudiated. nably not that of Capt. VERY FAST RUN.

Special Train Between Halifax and

This City Beats All Records.

A special train on the I. C. R. left Halifax at 11 o'clock standard, Sunday night, and rushed into the station here at 5.15 Monday morning, having covered the 275 miles in 375 minutes, or 320 minutes actual running time. This is a record-breaking trip for the I. C. R., and one of the fastest long distance runs ever made on any Canadian road, and shows what the I. C. R. can de when occasion requires it. This trip was made to enable George H. Mahoney of Troy, N. Y., who, with a sister, aunt and other triends, have been visiting the provinces, to reach home on Tuesday morning. At Halifax, Sunday evening, he received news of the death of his father, manager of Mahoney Manufacturing Company, of Troy. To get home on Tuesday it was necessary for him to catch the Flying Yankee, leaving here at seven o'clock this morning. The I. C. R. authorities at Halifax were appealed to at 9 o'clock Sunday evening, and at 11 o'clock their special, an engine and one car shot out of the station. Besides Mr. Mahoney and his friends, there was on board W. McConnell, travelling passenger agent of the I. C. R. and Conductor George Margeson, This City Beats All Records. travelling passenger agent of the I. C. R., and Conductor George Margeson, while Engineer John McClelland was at the throttle. The train covered the distance to Truro, 62 miles, in 68 min-utes. There was a detention of five minutes, making the actual running time 63 minutes. Here a new engine was put on and another car added to steady the train. Engineer John R. Champion took the throttle, and with Conductor Newton Hopper in charge of the train, the 124 miles to Moncton were made in 175 minutes. The detention was 25 minutes, making the actual running time 150 minutes for the 124 miles. At Moncton the engine and train over a grain changed and with train orew again changed, and with George Anderson as driver and H. B. Gordon as conductor, the 29 miles to St. John were covered in 122 minutes, or deducting running time, 107 minutes. The total distance covered is 275 the trib. utes. The total distance covered is 275 miles, and the total time of the trip, including time lost in changing engines at Truro and Moncton, was 375 minutes, or 220 minutes actual running time. At some places, where curves and grades are steep, the speed of the train had to be greatly slackened, while at others, where there were good stretches of road bed, mile after mile was covered at from 50 to 60 seconds. Mr. Mahoney and party had a good hour and three-quarters time to breakfast before resuming their sad but rapid journey homeward.
