Poetry.

"What is that, Mother?"

"What is that mother?"
"The lark, my child—
The morn has just looked out and smiled,
When he starts from his humble grassy nest,
And is up and away with the lay on his breast,
And a hymn in his heart to you pure, bright sphere,
To warble it out in his Maker's ear,
Ever, my child, be thy morn's first lays
Tuned, like the lark's to thy Maker's praise."

"What is that, mother?"
"The dove, my son—
And that low, sweet voice, like a widow's moan
Is flowing out from her gentle breast,
Constant and pure, by that lonely nest,
As the wave is poured from some crystal urn,
For her distant dear one's quick return.
Ever, my son, be thou like the dove,
In friendship as faithful, as constant in love."

"What is that, mother?"
"The eagle, boy—
Proudly cereering his course of joy.
Firm on his mountain vigour relying,
Breasting the dark storm, the red bolt defying;
His wing on the wind, his eyes on the sun,
He swerves not a hair, but bears onward, right on
Boy! may the eagle's flight ever be thine,
Onward and upward, true to the line!"

"What is that, mother?"
"The swan, my love—
He is floating down with his native grove,
He loved one now, no nestling nigh;
He is floating down by himself to die;
Death darkens his eyes, and unplumes his wings
Yet the sweetest song is the last he sings.
Live so, my love, that when death shall come
Swan-like and sweet, it may wait thee home."

VARIETY.

The Effects of Eating Horse Meat.—There is a professor in Berlin who has been a hippophagist for the last ten years. About two months ago he woke up his wife in the middle of the night by neighing loudly. The wife expressed her surprise, and the surprise made the professor laugh; but such a laugh, is was a decided horse-laugh, that elicited a response from all the horses on a neighboring cab-stand! In the afternoon his wife had the greatest difficulty in getting him to pass a seed shop, where a quantity of oats in the window was spread out for sale. Soon afterward his hair (which is of a rich auburn) began to grow to a tremendous length, and to assume more and more the shape of a mane. His face, too, became covered with hair, and he gave great amusement to the little boys of Berlin by appearing one day in the streets with a pair of blinkers. Various other changes gradually came over him. He would start, as if frightened at the crack of a whip—the scream of a railway whistle would set him on galloping at full speed—whilst the sound of a trumpet would make him prick up his ears and dilate his nostrils in a most equine manner. It was noticed, also, that his ears of late had grown considerably longer, pointing upwards to some height above his head. One night he was missed, and after considerable search he was found stretched at full length upon the straw in the stable. When his poor wife approached him, he began roaring and plunging in such a violent manner that it was only by putting on the kicking straps that he could be kept in the least still. Other curious symptoms soon declared themselves. He could not be induced to keep on his boots; and as it was found very uncomfortable to allow him to run about the drawing room barefooted, he was removed, and permitted to indulge in his eccentricities only out of the house. He would spend whole afternoons in the different stable yards; his favorite associates were ostlers and omnibus conductors; his favorite haunts the offices of the silvagens and the most fashionable bear houses. Nothing pleased him so much as to sleep in a stall. After a while his feet began to harden, and it was observed that a hard substance, not unlike a horse's hoof, was forming over them. The same peculiarity became soon observable on his hands. From this time forth he refused to walk upright; and one frosty morning he was found on all fours outside a farrier's shop, stretching out one of his feet, as if he were anxious to be shod. Since that period he has been put under the care of a veterinary surgeon, who gives but faint hopes of his recovery. —Punch.

Condensed Forage; Excellent Invention.—Mr. Penrose Julyan, an officer in the Commissariat service, has recently introduced a new method of preparing field forage, which besides its advantage in other respects, is likely to prove of much importance, in facilitating the mobilisation of the army. He mixes up the hay, bruised oats, and bran or whatever other descriptions of food are considered desirable, in certain proportions, and then subjects the whole mass to so enormous a pressure as to get the ton weight into fifty cubic feet of space. It then becomes so solid, that it can be cut like wood by a circular saw into square blocks of a given size without any trouble. Each block contains half a day's ration for a horse, and not only is an immense economy in freight and land transport effected, but, being at once fit for use, it does away with all the waste and inconveniences attendant on the old systems.

Poverty the Alley of Genius.—Homer was a beggar; Plutus turned a mill; Terrence was a slave; Bathius died in jail; Paul Borghese had fourteen trades, yet starved with them all; Tasso was often distressed for a few shillings; Camens, the writer of the "Lusaid," ended his days in an almshouse; and Vaugelas left his body to the surgeons to pay his debts. In England, Bacon lived a life of meanness and distress; Sir Walter Raleigh died on the scaffold; Spencer died in want; Milton sold his copyright of "Paradise Lost" for £15, and died in obscurity; Otway perished of hunger; Lee died in the streets; Dryden lived in poverty and distress; Steele was in perpetual war with the bailiffs; Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle, to save him from the grasp of the law; Richard Savage died in prison at Bristol for a debt of eight pounds; Butler lived in penury and died poor; Chatterton, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself.

African Logic.—An old farmer—one who feared neither god nor man—had hired a devout negro; and to get Sunday work out of him would always plan a case of "necessity" on Saturday, and on Sunday morning would put his case to the man's conscience. One morning Sambo proved refractory; "he would work no more on Sunday." The master argued with him that it was a case of "necessity"—that the Scriptures allowed a man to get out of a pit on a Sabbath day a beast that had fallen in. "Yes, massa," rejoined the black, "but not if he spent Saturday in digging for de berry purpose."

The Truest Beauties.—Brantome, on female beauty, gives the Spanish version of the thirty "ifs." If—how, ladies lend an ear—If Three things are white—skin, teeth, and hands;
Three things black—eyes, eyebrows and eyelashes;
Three things red—lips, cheeks, and nails;
Three things long—waist, hair, and hands;
Three things short—teeth, ears, and feet;
Three things wide—breast, front, and brow;
Three things narrow—mouth, waist, and ankle;
Three things large—arm hip, and calf;
Three things fine—lips, hair, and fingers;
Three things small—nose, head, and bosom;
Then there are thirty beauties in all.

The Way to the Workhouse.—John Reeve was accosted on the Kensington Road by an elderly female, with a small bottle of gin in her hand. "Pray, sir, I beg your pardon—is this the way to the workhouse?" John gave her a look of clerical dignity, and pointing to the bottle, gravely said, "No, madam, but that is."

Cause for Apple Dumplings.—Take sifted flour with a little salt, and pour in boiling water enough to make a dough stiff enough to roll out—then proceed with the dumplings as usual. The success of this recipe will depend entirely upon the exactness with which it is compounded. A teaspoonful of saleratus, cream of tartar, or baking powder to a quart of flour, and water enough to wet it, will be found sufficient. The cream of tartar and saleratus must be well mixed with the flour, and the water must be boiling when it is put in. The crust will be good, and extremely nutritious to those who object to the richness of ordinary paste.

"NEW" HORSE SHOEING AND GENERAL BLACKSMITH ESTABLISHMENT

JAMES SCRYMGEOUR begs leave to state to the Public of New-Brunswick that he has commenced Business on his own account next to the Golden Ball corner where he is prepared to execute all work in his line in a scientific and approved system.

MR. SCRYMGEOUR having served under the celebrated Professor Dick, and been taught the business of SHOEING in the most scientific manner and with all the modern improvements, he conceives himself fully master of his trade, and above making any attempt to imitate or adopt any other persons' system. The method pursued by Mr. Scrymgeour is calculated when horses have been injured in their feet by bad shoeing, to remedy the evil, and restore them again to perfect usefulness.

The subscriber respectfully solicit a call from the public, as he feels assured of giving ample satisfaction.

St. John, N.B., March 27th, 1855.

Mr. Stevens:

Dear Sir.—It is with pleasure I make known to you the opinion of myself and many others of the MELODEON purchased from you a few months ago. This instrument manufactured by Mason & Hamlin, has given the utmost satisfaction, both in Tone, Touch, and Power, and I do freely, and cheerfully admit it is the best I have ever seen. Since the introduction of this instrument in our Choir Practice we find a great improvement, thereby sustaining the Voice, and procuring a perfect Tone to every Note.

I am dear Sir, yours truly,

Soap and Candle Factory AGAIN

GEORGE WOODS,

THANKFUL for the extensive patronage received for the last twelve years, respectfully informs his customers that since the late disastrous fire in Water street, he has erected a new Factory on a more extensive scale in Princess street, a short distance above the Post office, and next adjoining Dunn's Steam Mill, where he expects to do a more extensive business than formerly, on the most accommodating terms, with punctual paying customers.

Orders from any part of the Country, prepaid, will be strictly attended to.

Small profit, quick sales and ready Money being the object; parties purchasing on those terms will do well to give a call before purchasing elsewhere.

REMOVAL.

JAMES EATON,
Tailor and Draper,

BEGS to inform his friends and customers that he has removed his business to the premises in Germain Street, recently occupied by Dr. Midar, where he has opened an assortment of the best West of England CLOTHS, Doeskins and Single Milled Cassimeres, Oxford Mixed Cloths Scotch TWEEDS, Waistcoatings, and other materials in his line of business, all of the finest quality and newest style, which he will be happy to make up in a substantial English manner, after the newest fashion, and on reasonable terms.

In returning thanks to his numerous friends and customers for the liberal encouragement received since his commencement in business, he begs to assure them that no exertions on his part shall be spared to merit a continuance of their favors.

To the Officers of H. M. Army.

J. E. would beg to state that having been for years employed in the Cutting Department of HARTT'S Military Tailors, 26 Pall Mall, he is prepared to execute in a superior style all orders with which he may be entrusted.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons Assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or other, nor do they depend on any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies:—

For the terms of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Redemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum as apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be restored within three months, by paying the premium, with a fine of 10s per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good health of the life assured.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at St. John, N. B.

I.—RESIDENCE.—Persons assured for the whole term of life will have permission, without the payment of extra Premium, to reside in any part of Europe, or in any place in North America to the north of 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

II. VOYAGES.—They will also, if not seafaring by profession, be allowed, without any extra charge—

To cross and re-cross the Atlantic Ocean, in steamers or first class sailing-vessels;

To pass from any part of Europe to any other, or from any part of North America to another, within the limits above specified; also,

To pass to and from, but not to reside in any place which shall not be further south than 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.
