When the wheels ran on the plank the plank flew up and struck Mr. Perkins on the stde of the head, knocking him on the track; the wheels passed over his right foot, terribly mangling it, also jamming one of his hands. He was placed on a stretcher and brought to Sussex by No. 2 train. Drs. Burnett, McAlister and Murray were called and did all they could for the sufferer. He arrived here in an unconscious state and remained so until this afternoon, when he revived a little. The doctors think that his chances for recovery are very slight. If he should live the foot will have to be amputated.

Mr. Perkins is twenty-four years of age and has a wife and three small children. He has been employed by the Central railway only a short time. He formerly worked for the C. P. R. as brakeman, running east of Brownville Junction.

An Appeal for Generous Contributions to Aid in Spreading the

To the Editor of The Telegraph:

Sir: March 6 last was "Bible Sunday." Ministers of all denominations were to observe it in honor of the centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society and collections were to be taken in aid of the much needed "Centenary Fund." Many of the pulpits in our branch were vacant that day, and few services were held. We held a centenary meeting on the evening of March 7. The night was stormy; attendance small; collection $4.83. So that our branch which, with the exception John, was hitherto the largest contributer to the N. B. Auxiliary, has as yet done little for the centenary fund.

I would, therefore, remind the friends of the Bible that the time for contributing to this fund extends to March 7, 1905, and that the society still lacks £90,000 of the amount required. There is no need so urgent as sending the gospel to the 100,000 people who die every 24 hours with no knowledge of the way of salvation, and reading the Bible for and learning those women to read it who are shut up in the where none but native Bible women can which a Biblewoman made among the hills of Corea she read to 663 women and out of these 113 determined to give up worshipping idols and try to follow the teaching of the Bible."

To employ more of these Biblewomen is one of the objects of the centenary fund. It costs only $39 a year or about 75 cents a week to maintain one of them, and there is perhaps no other way that so much good can be done with so little money. A few years ago Miss Stone, a mis ary, was captured by brigands in Macedonia, who demanded $100,000 for her ransom. The Christian world raised that amount or so near it that the 'man of given to the cert nary fund might be the means of liberating more than one wo-

Stone suffered.
I mention last what is of the first importance. We should pray for the comoletion of the centenary fund. The infidel may sneer, the sceptic may scoff, but George Muller's Orphan Houses at Bristol during the past year received an income of £34,094, nearly a quarter of the contributions to the Bible Society, ast year, 'as the result of prayer to God, without any one having been personally applied to for anything.' Hoping that our branch may yet give a good account of itself as it has in the past, I predict that none of us will have chance to contribute to the next centen
