Good news for patrons of the Valhalla Inn's Merry Mermaid Lounge. The Ina and Al Harris Trio have been held over until February. This fine trio is very popular with customers of the Valhalla Inn, and entertain nightly for both diners and dancers.

An Evening Out with Roger Doris

It's hard to keep up with all the new dining facilities that are opening in the area.

One of the latest to open, is the Careless Navigator Restaurant and Tavern, 1149 Lakeshore Road East, Mississauga, just 3 blocks west of Dixie Road.

The Careless Navigator should be a fine dining spot, as the principal owners are the same as the well known and highly rated Black Angus in Etobicoke.

The host and manager at the Careless Navigator is Bob Jako, who is familiar to those who have dined at the Black Angus.

Should you be so careless as to navigate to the Careless Navigator, I am sure you will not be disappointed. Both the decor and the cuisine are excellent.

This is one place that has finally gotten away from the ever so popular red and black decor that is seen in most steak houses in the area.

The colour scheme throughout is white and blue, and is most relaxing and bright.

There is seating for 100 persons to dine on the main floor in two dining areas known as the Mermaid Dining Lounge and the Captain's Dining Lounge. There is also seating for 60 more people in the Navigator's Lounge in the lower level.

In the Mermaid's Dining Lounge, the two sculptures of Mermaids are certainly a conversation piece, as is the huge ship's wheel.

In the Captain's Dining Lounge, there are antiques everywhere. There is a ship's clock, tiffany lamps, an old French telephone, stained glass windows and many more artifacts connected with the sea, too numerous to mention.

In the entrance hall, an old ship's telegraph that signalled the engine room in years gone by, now greets those who enter.

There is both a live lobster and a live trout tank where you can choose your own delicacy to be cooked as you prefer.

The Careless Navigator is primarily a seafood dining lounge, offering 10 seafood items on the menu. But for those who may not want seafood they have 5 steak and rib items on the menu as well. They have even thought of the diners who might be concerned about their weight, and have what they call a 'weightwatcher's special'.

The entrees are excellently prepared and are moderately priced from $4.50 up.

Oysters, clams, shrimp, escargots, lobster bisque and clam chowder are only some of the many tempting appetizers that are available.

The Careless Navigator is the latest dining spot to open in the area. It is located on Lakeshore Boulevard, 3 blocks west of Dixie Road. The principal owners of this fine seafood house are the same as those of the well known Black Angus Steak House. This new dining room and tavern, is fully licensed under the LLBO.

famous for its many excellent dining facilities.

The Careless Navigator is fully licensed under the LLBO and is open from noon daily for lunch.

There is a new group appearing this week in the La Plaza Motor Inn at Highway 27 and Belfield Road.

The name of the group is Kendall and Quee, and they
