

PREFACE.

All newly-appointed clerks are required to subscribe to the Bank's Rules and Regulations, and every member of the Staff must make himself fully acquainted with the contents of this book, and must produce his copy to an Inspector when required to do so, and satisfy him that all rules and instructions are understood and are strictly complied with.

All members of the Staff are expected to have a knowledge of all Rules and Orders. In the event of infraction of any of them the excuse of ignorance cannot be accepted.