

TWO FULL HANDS TAKE POT

Union Club House Held Up and Robbed of $1,401. by Masked Men This Morning at 4:45 O'Clock—Two Colts Revolvers and a Winchester Rifle Are Winners.

It may now be considered a well-known fact that the Union Club House, having been applied at an early hour this morning, when the department of the Dominion building was held up in the most successful manner since the robbery of Jesse James' store. At 4:45, two men entered from the rear of the building and in a few minutes had the place completely under their control. They ordered everyone to throw up their hands and remain quietly seated. At the time there were 10 or 12 people in the bar, but one man was behind the bar. A black jack table presided by Jack Turner, around which three or four players, including the highwaymen appeared, was quickly and came so suddenly that those who happened to be near by for a moment, stopped and were startled. The masked individuals interrupted the little game and took it. The robbers again came up and in a tone that was not just with him and his son in the room, their digits heavenward. The porter, who was behind the bar, seeing the play that was being pulled off, hastily thrust his purse out of his pocket and pulled it into the sink, and then in obedience to the yell fired at him from the rear marched back into the gambling room and took his place alongside the wall with the others. It so happened that when the affair came off that of those present all with two or three exceptions were sitting with their backs to the north wall facing the center of the room. Those who were not in a similar position were made to change their seats so they all faced the daring highwaymen. The men were described as one being tall, built, probably 5 feet 10 inches in height, wearing a dark suit, of clothes, sack coat, no overcoat and a soft felt hat. The smaller of the two was about 5 feet 6 inches high, slim, wore a long overcoat and a fur cap. Both men wore masks made from black cloth, tied around their heads, concealing that portion of their faces below their eyes. The taller man, who was also the leader and spokesman, carried a 45-caliber Colt's revolver in each hand, his pal being armed with a repeating rifle. When every hand was up, the smaller man took his position in the center of the room with the rifle to his shoulder where he could cover every person present. The leader quickly walked over to the black jack table and said to Turner, the dealer: "Jack, give up the key to the drawer in the cashier's desk."

Myriads of Salmon Fins.

Our coopers has already manufactured 40,000,000 salmon tins this year. William Pinson, manager of the American Can Company, Whatcom, said yesterday discussing the Puget Sound and Alaska fish industry. "It is nearly double last year's output and larger than that of any year since we established the plant nearly five years ago. We simply manufacture the cans and the other fellows catch and put the fish in them." The Whatcom plant is one of 140 similar concerns throughout the country conducted under one general management. It employs about 200 men, women and boys. — P. L.

Horses for Army.

Montreal, Oct. 15.—The Allan line steamer Sicilian sailed today for South Africa with a cargo of 818 horses for the British army. So far this year 5148 horses have been shipped from Montreal to South Africa. The steamship Montfort has been chartered to carry 800 more, sailing on November 15th.

Sized Him Up.

Letter Sentenced.

Middleboro, Cape Colony, Oct. 16.—Sentence of death has been passed upon Commandant Lotter, the Cape Colony rebel, whose commando, composed almost entirely of rebels, was captured by Major Scoobell south of Peterboro early last month. Lord Kitchener has confirmed the sentence. Five of Lotter's comrades have been sentenced to imprisonment for life. One, a youth, has been sentenced to 20 strokes with a rod, to be followed by imprisonment until the close of the war.

MAIL IS DELAYED

Not Heard From Since It Left Ogilvie Yesterday Morning.

At 3:30 this afternoon the mail which left Ogilvie yesterday morning and which was expected today had not arrived. There being no telegraph station between here and Ogilvie there is no way of ascertaining its progress until the team rounds the bluff above Klondike city. The assignment being light the carriers should have but little trouble in getting through and it would indeed be rather extraordinary if they should fail to get in this evening. It is 48 miles to Ogilvie, a distance that should be covered in two days easily, though it were necessary to climb over every bluff on route.

For Gallantry.

The many friends in this city of Mr. Loveland, who was among the number who left Victoria to serve in South Africa, will be pleased to learn that he has been rewarded for distinguished conduct in the field. Mr. Loveland was in partnership for some time with Little Bros. in the farming business, and will be better remembered by the farmers of the Saanich district.

Old Country Papers Just to Hand

contain accounts of his gallant behavior. It seems on reaching the Cape, Loveland joined the popular corps known as the Rough Riders, and served with distinction through an arduous campaign.

Of the Return of the Rough Riders

from South Africa, one of the evening papers has the following to say: "The Rough Riders were met on landing by Lord Maitland, who presented the men with war ribbons, and intimated that the King would present medals to them at an early date. Amongst the Rough Riders was Sergeant Loveland, who is stated to have been raised to the rank of King's sergeant by General Bullington, for exceptional gallantry in keeping his men together at Hartbeestfontein, although himself wounded in five places.

It is understood that Mr. Loveland intends staying some time in the Old Country.—Victoria Times.

TRAVEL ON LOWER RIVER

Four Men Arrive Last Night One Having Come Over the Ice From Circle—Trail Is Not Bad and Will Be Good Soon—Fortymile Enjoys a Very Prosperous Season.

The utter disregard of the up-river mail carriers for the terms of their contract was never more apparent in Dawson than last night when four men, Pete Schramman and Sam Craudel from Fortymile, one man from Eagle, and Mr. Schaffer from Circle City, arrived in the city over the ice, just two days' travel from Fortymile, and 10 days' travel from Mr. Schaffer from Circle City. The party traveled without dogs, and although the shore ice is overflowing and broken up practically the entire distance, they experienced but little difficulty and no hardships in making the trip. The party met the mail which left here a few days ago 20 miles this side of Fortymile. Good time had been made by it and no accidents were reported. The N. C. Co. at Fortymile had sent a dog team to meet the carrier and assist him in. The men who arrived yesterday evening say there is really only bad place between Dawson and Fortymile and that is about six miles below Dawson. It will be all right in another day or two.

Learning the Game.

When that great plainsman, J. B. Hiecock, better known as Wild Bill, came east on what he called a "red hot trail to learn something," he stopped one Saturday night at a hotel in Portland, Me.

A Dutch Fisherman's House.

The interior of one of these tiny Katwijk houses is a study in simplicity; the large room is kept for Sundays and for company—incidentally serving as a bedroom for the family. In the walls are sets of doors, behind these are box-like compartments in which are built beds. The other room is kitchen and living room. The old Dutch hearth is in the corner; a copper kettle hangs from the crane. The table before the window with its china coffee service always ready, is a feature of every home. In the cupboard are just enough plates, knives and forks for the family. Cleanliness reigns the watchword of every household, for everything gleams from the back doorsteps, where the white sabots, to the fascinating brass and copper utensils hanging about. The women's duties are many, their bare feet, having scrubbed the house within and without, they linger about street corners gossiping or stand for hours out on the dunes, arms akimbo, looking out at sea. But out in the fields they do labor hard. Up through the gray mist their sturdy figures loom darkly as bending over the hoe or stooping to the earth they toil silently, patiently, from dawn to dusk. Wives and daughters of the fishermen spend many of the days mending the huge nets, which, stretched out over the dunes, envelope them in a clinging veil of black. Along the edges sit the women, wooden needle and stout cord in hand, repairing the great gaps and yawning holes; stopping occasionally to drink a cup of hot coffee brought out to them in pots by the children.—Outing.

Office Hours Changed.

Mr. T. Dufferin Pattullo, acting assistant gold commissioner, has issued a notice to the effect that after the removal of the gold commissioner's office to the new administration building, about December 1, the office hours will be changed to from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. with the exception of Saturdays, when the hours will be from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.
