Hunker Creek, April 16.
 Dear Stroller:
 It has been some time since I have seen you, but you must excuse me. I have not cared to spare the time to write you, but I think a woman's first duty is to her husband, and Popular is the most of my leisure.

He is the most obliging, ham-hearted man that ever inhaled ozone. He gets drunk twice each week and is only last three days, so I have him all to myself one day every week and how I do forward to that day! Che-he-he!

He is not doing much towards defending his claim, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that so long as the gold is not taken out of the ground and we can get it in a year or the year after. So long as he pans out enough to keep us going with my some candy lozenges with red letters on them I will be so happy!

He has learned a heap since you and I were trailing around the creeks in a house over which I might have had a word to say. But all I have learned has been to think from side remarks you made me vain or stuck up. I do not think from side remarks you made me vain or stuck up. I do not think from side remarks you made me vain or stuck up.

There is but one question before the people of Dawson today and that is: Who did it?
 Not who perpetrated the hold-up of a defenceless woman a few nights ago, but who brought about the dissolution of the Treadgold order.

Was it Governor Ross?
 Was it Councilman Wilson?
 Was it Citizen Barney Sugree?
 Was it the Colonel's petition?
 Was it Shannon's telegram?

The questions: Who Struck Billy Paterson and Who Killed Cock Robin have both been prominently before the people for many years but both pale into insignificance compared with the one burning question of the hour.

The Stroller has a large-sized notion as to where and to whom the credit belongs, but he dislikes to state for the reason that he does not wish to offend those whose efforts cost no ice.

It would not do for the Stroller to say the colonel's petition knocked the persimmon for the reason that Barney would then ask: "And did all of my pleading eloquence go for naught?"

Mr. Wilson would also object and say: "However, I was not idle while at Ottawa."
 Governor Ross would look complacent and say: "Give the boys the credit if they want it."

The city council lost the opportunity of a lifetime by not forwarding a memorial at its first meeting. Then the credit would have been easily located.

ing man; but since we started in the roadhouse business he has become utterly worthless. He keeps one hanging on to get wood and water, another to look after the stable and another to tend bar. He doesn't do a thing but pocket the money as fast as it comes in while I have to cook for the whole push.

I am up from four o'clock in the morning to eleven at night and have been since last October, and during all these six months I have never had time to comb my hair but twice. That was on Thanksgiving day and Christmas, and I arose an hour earlier than usual to do it.

I am writing this letter in bed at 12:45 a.m., otherwise I would never find time to write it.

What I want to know is how to stuff my husband off. The woodman and myself can run the business very well and dispose of my husband, the stableman and the bar tender. With these three off the grub I believe I could make a killing between now and the end of the cleanup.

Madame, the Stroller is not a divorcee. However, he can not be deaf to your appeal. State the case plainly to your husband and if he declines to pull his freight, you pull yours, or have the woodman pull it for you, and start an opposition roadhouse across the way. Then comb your hair every week and trade will pursue you. When your husband starves out and has to take a job as woodman at some other place, you can move back into the old stand.

OPRESSED WIFE.

FRESH EGGS GALORE

Cause Downward Tendency in Price

Oats Slightly Weaken—But Little Change in Quotations of Staples.

The predicted fall in the price of fresh eggs from $30 to $25 per case had not materialized at noon today, although commission men believe the price is bound to drop. Within the past three days 800 cases of eggs have arrived and 200 more cases will get in possibly this evening. As the opening of navigation can not possibly be more than six weeks off, Dawson must necessarily live almost exclusively on eggs to consume the supply on hand by that time. The eggs are of a first-class quality and are apparently as fresh as when "picked."

A few cases of fresh oranges have arrived in the past week and are finding ready sale at $35 per case. Star-tobacco and bacon are drugs on the market, there being tons of each which have not been disturbed since placed in storage last fall. The very best ham is commanding 35 cents wholesale. A small stock of ham is due over the ice.

Oats have dropped one-half cent within the past two days and are now commanding 8 1/2 cents per pound. The oat market is not overstocked by any means, but other cereals are plentiful and hay is very cheap, therefore oats had to come down to find a market.

Cream is very scarce and is hard to procure at $15 per case, and as none will arrive before the opening of navigation, there is a likelihood of it going to $18 and possibly $20.

A fine article of potatoes can still be had at $18 per hundred. Onions are practically out of the market. Apples, such as they are, shriveled and wrinkled, are cheap, $10 per box. Staples have not materially varied in price during the past week, but, owing to the large stocks on hand, may materially decline in order to make room for new goods when navigation opens.

The fruit of the umgann tree of South Africa yields a strong intoxicating drink for the natives. Elephants are fond of it, becoming quite tipsy, staggering about, playing antics, screaming so as to be heard for miles and having tremendous fights. When in this state, the natives leave them alone.

BONANZA-ELDORADO

Newsy Brieflets of What is Happening

On Eldorado They Sing "Yukona" — Activity on Creeks and at the Forks.

Miss Agnes Ketcheson of Dawson is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Seeborn of Oro Fino Hill.
 Mr. William Northrop of American Hill has returned from the outside and is glad to get back to the land of gold.

Mrs. Carrie Vincent of 21 below Bonanza left Wednesday for Forty-mile, where she has several claims which are reported to be very good.
 Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Vanwart of No. 34 Eldorado have returned from Dominion, where they have been visiting the last ten days.

Mr. Clarence Kinsey of the Forks made a quick trip to town last night, returning early this morning.
 Mrs. Callaghan, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Dalgarn of Nos. 31, 32 and 33 above Bonanza, respectively, are in town visiting for a few days.

Mrs. Thornson of No. 41 above Bonanza, who has been in town for several weeks at the bedside of her sick sister, returned home yesterday.
 Kinsey & Kinsey, the popular photographers of Grand Forks, are preparing to enlarge their gallery at that place.

The singing society on No. 39 Eldorado is still in existence. One of the latest songs which they are now able to sing is "Yukona," and they do full justice to its beautiful words and music.
 The golden harvest is near at hand. Nearly everybody on Eldorado and Bonanza are ready for the work and are only waiting for the water to start running. Sluice boxes, tramways and new shovels are all ready, and a few are thawing the dumps.

For the comfort of Democrats James G. Blaine used to tell this story: Once in Dublin, toward the end of the opera, Satan was conducting Faust through a trap-door which represented the gates of Hades. His Majesty got through all right—he was used to going below—but Faust, who was quite stout, got only about halfway in, and no squeezing would get him any farther. Suddenly an Irishman in the gallery exclaimed, devoutly, "Thank God, hell is full."

Dominion Creek, April 15.
 Mr. Stroller:
 As all the other women appear to go to you with their troubles, I will not be the exception. My trouble is the same as that of other married women—my husband. He was for many years an ambitious, hardwork-
