CRIMINAL LABEL.-Bertram Bourinot, editor and proprietor of the Hawkebury Eastern Journal, has been committed for trial at the Supreme Court at Port Hood, on a charge of criminally libelling G. O. Forsyth, barrister, 81st Superior Judge of Port Hawkebury. The Journal states that it editor has brought a counter charge against Mr. Forsyth.

FOR THE BENEFIT of intending applicants for entrance into the High School in October next, we publish on another page the questions set before the candidates on the 27th and 28th ult. It is likely that after next November examinations for admission to the County Academies will be held but once a year. We do not approve of a teacher spending the whole term in coaching his pupils for the High School or any examinations, yet as we think these questions suggestive of the lines upon which school work of the 7th and 8th grades of the Common School course may be conducted with advantage, their publication will, we believe, be some assistance to thoughtful teachers in these grades. We particularly commend to them the paper set in English language.

OUR THANKS are due Mr. M. Beaton, of Galena, Ill., for a late copy of the mammoth Sunday edition of the Chicago Tribune. The St. Louis Store in which Mr. Beaton is manager, and the establishment, having been a long time, and does a very extensive business. The Tribune says: 'The Tribune is under the personal management of Mr. Matthew Beaton, of the store, and through it a large amount of business is done, and that brings thousands of dollars to Galena, from all parts of the West is carried on.'

MR. BEATON is a son of Donald Beaton, a native of Inverness County, who worked for some years as a blacksmith with Arch. Campbell of this town previous to his going West.

AN ANTIGONISH MAN KILLED IN CHICAGO.-We find in the Cleveland Catholic University, copied from the Chicago Times of May 6th, the following account of a sad and extraordinary accident which has since resulted fatally. Mr. Grant was a son of James Grant, of North Grant, in this county. He left here about twelve years ago for California, where he married, and subsequently removed to Chicago. The sad particulars of his death had not, we believe, been learned by his people here.

A case without parallel, at least in the medical records of this city, is that of James Grant, a lineaman for the Chicago Telephone Company, who was driven insane by an electric shock last Monday afternoon while talking through a telephone in the branch office at the corner of Fortieth and Lake streets. He is now in the detention hospital a raving maniac, strapped down to the bed, with two men guarding him. Grant is 34 years old and lives with his family at Fortieth and Lake streets. He is a large, robust man and has been in the employ of the company for some time in the capacity of lineaman and was a thoroughly competent workman. No mistakes have ever occurred with his work and the remarkable accident which has befallen him cannot be accounted for.

Monday afternoon there was a severe electrical storm and many of the wires were cut out. Grant among others was sent out to repair them, and he had stepped from his branch office to communicate with his quarters when he received the shock of electricity that rendered his mind a blank. He was waiting for an answer at the telephone when a bolt of lightning fell near by, and Grant fell unconscious to the floor. Several of the spectators ran to his assistance, and he was picked up unconscious and taken to his home across the street. Several physicians were called, but they could do nothing for him. In a few hours he regained consciousness, but when he did he was a raving maniac. His strength was superhuman, and none of the attendants in the house could control him. He was snatched and kept crying 'Hello, hello, ring off!' until help arrived and quieted him. He had been growing steadily worse until yesterday morning, when it was thought best to remove him to the detention hospital.

Five strong men carried him into the ward and it required five more to hold and strap him down. Later in the afternoon he became more quiet and fell into slumber. Insanity through an electric shock is something that has never before occurred in this city and the physicians are unable to account for it. The shock was no doubt communicated to the head by means of the hearing tube, coming in direct contact through the ear with the brain.

SCHOOL BOARD.-The Board of School Commissioners for Antigonish County met at the Court House on May 17th. The following members were present: Revs. H. Gillis and James Fraser, Hon. A. McGillivray, J. C. McKinnon, M.D., and D. D. Chisholm, Esq. Hon. A. McGillivray was appointed chairman. The petition of William Chisholm, of Beesley, asking that he be transferred from Glassburn to Caledonia section was rejected. Petition of Angus McGillivray, Esq., of Rear Springfield, asking to be transferred from Rear Springfield to Upper South River was also rejected. D. G. McDonald presented a petition praying the Board to organize a new section at Pleasant Valley. The Board took no action in the matter. A petition from several ratepayers of Greendale asking that the school house be placed in or near the centre of the section, was referred to the ratepayers at the next annual school meeting and to the Inspector. The petition from the trustees of St. Joseph's asking that they be empowered to borrow $80 under Section 50, Manual of School Law, was granted. The following were appointed a committee under Sect. 12 of the School Manual: Hon. A. McGillivray, J. D. Copeland and J. C. McKinnon. The following sections were put on the poor-list for the ensuing year: Lower Glen Road, Back Settlement Cape George, Beech Hill, Pinevale, Upper North Grant, Hollowell Grant (Dunn's), Hollowell Grant (Brophy's) 'Colored' Tracadie, Copperfield, West River No. 49, W. Lakevale, Greendale, Colledgeville, Morven, Stewart's Mills, Elgg Mountain, Brown's Mountain, Ashdale, Rear Springfield.

Cape George Items. The storm of the 8th and 9th was the most destructive experienced here for many years, and entailed heavy losses on the fishermen. The lobster traps set about the light-house were all piled along the shore, considerably damaged. On the South Side also many traps could be seen after the storm floating around. It will take a week's time ere the traps are reset, compelling the packers to remain idle meanwhile. Previous to storm lobsters were plentiful. Cod-fish have struck in, although not very numerous yet.

The service rendered by the packet SS. 'Hambly' is proving very satisfactory. When required she makes two trips per week. She recently brought a cargo of seed potatoes and oats from P. E. Island, to supply the demand for these articles here, and as yet some farmers are without seed potatoes. Another shipment is expected.

The past was a busy week with our farmers and fishermen, all working constantly, the fishermen gathering the remains of their traps and re-building, the farmers putting the seed into the ground. Owing to the recent night frosts, it is feared the grain may perish in the ground.

Broad Cove Items. Angus R. McDonald is home from St. F. Xavier's College, and is teaching in his native section, Broad Cove Marsh.

A. Collins & Co., of S. W. Margaree, have completed a lobster factory on the shore in our neighborhood. It is to be hoped that the deep will yield up abundance of the crustacean fish, so much prized now-a-days, that this enterprising firm may be handsomely rewarded. The building is large and substantial, and must have cost quite a sum. There are, it is said, no fewer than ten or twelve of these factories in operation on the Inverness shore this summer.

Ploughing is about finished. The farmers say that this has been the best spring for ploughing they have seen for many a year. The weather was dry and cool, and well suited for outside work.

Work will begin on the wharf in a few days. Between sea and land our people will have their hands quite full of work in the coming months.

Broad Cove Banks Items. Despite the unfavorable weather which has prevailed so far this month, our farmers have succeeded in getting a fair share of their seed into the ground. Many have sown most of their wheat and oats and a few have planted potatoes.

We are all pleased that Miss M. McDonald is to remain in charge of our school for the summer. The fact that she is now entering on her third term in a section where the pedagogy has always been subjected to such severe criticisms speaks well not only of Miss McDonald's professional ability but also of her social qualities.

Murdoch and Lauchlin McLean have built a handsome new store here. A few years ago these were young men of very moderate means, but by patient industry and honest toil they have succeeded in accumulating enough to enable them to start business on a large scale and with a solid financial foundation.

High Rankin, Esq., has sold his carding machine to Donald Beaton, of North East Mabou. This first-class machine will be a valuable acquisition to the already large stock of machinery so successfully operated by Mr. Beaton. The lobster factory at Port Bane is about ready for work. Neither the owners of our factories nor the fishermen on this coast are as enterprising as they should be. In Port Hood, Judique and every other place where fishing is pursued advantageously the factories and boats are always made or repaired in good time, and the traps and other fishing gear are ready to go to work with as soon as the ice leaves the coast; but here it is only when they should be ready for the fishing that they begin those preparations which should have been made in February and March. Very often the best part of the fishing season is over before a trap is set.
