When a great man or verteen and could a standing and of personal pronoun 1, people are roady enough to langh at him and charge him with having an exagerated sense of his own importance. But the use or misuse of the first person singular is no test. Washing, ton, a modest man, used it twenty times in his inargural address of 1,300 words, and Lincoln, another modest man, used it forty: three times in his first inaugural of 3,583 words. Arthur, who was not modest, but words. Arthur, who was not modest, but words. Arthur, who was not modest, but words. Cleveland used it five times in his ingendance of 1,300 words, and on the very man has the light. It is on his light. It is on his light on the is own confession, is openating 4,588 words. This make up. Every man has the Ego in his manie, whether it is on his ligs or not. After all, it is the man himself. There is on hiding it. Lot it come out... Altanta Constitution.

A Problem for the Honest Farmer. The difference between a comfortable rooperity and a slowly grinding impover-ishment for the farmer may be made by products in competition with all the world and at the lowest prices that competition on produce, while the cost of nearly every-thing that he must bay is enhanced by a system of indirect taxation, the greater part of which is intended to strangle com-pition and increase the profits of favored interests. When the farmer has worked out this simple problem he will find that the relief he most needs is in his own hands and that the taxation from which he suffers most is that which he bas been blindly helping to fasten upon himself.--New York Times. Took Enough to Kill. A man by the name of George Granh, living in Jordan village, committed suicide Friday by taking Paris green. Before death he remarked that had he known it was going to give him so much pain he would not have taken it, and that he ex-pected he would fall over just like a potato bug. About a year ago Granh endesvored to kill himself by getting on to the house end rolling from the roof. That time he only succeeded in slightly hurting him-self.
