WORLD OF SPORT

late in starting, so it was agreed by the Captains to make it a seven-inning game. The visitors went to bat first, and no one got to first base. Grays in their first made one run. In the second Tilbury made three runs by a couple of hits and a few errors. Grays made one in each of their second and third inning, but the visitors piled up runs right along by bunching what few hits they did secure off Weldon's fast shoots, and very loose fielding.

When the Grays went in for their last inning they had a lead of eight runs to overcome. They hit the ball hard and were assisted by numerous errors, but only succeeded in securing six of the required eight.

Charlie Bowers, a Chatham boy playing for the Tilbury team, did some fine fielding and batting. Mathers, an old C. B. C. boy, did the twirling for Tilbury until the middle of the last last, when Bowers went into the box.

The Score—

Tilbury 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 R H E

Grays 0 1 1 3 3 0 0 6 9 6 3

Umpires—Johnston and Hutton.

Weldon pitched his first game and did splendid work. His support was discouraging, but he worked energetically throughout. Weldon has wonderful speed, and splendid control and is a very promising pitcher.

Afternoon.

The visitors evidently thought the Aberdeens were a harder aggregation to beat than the Grays, and saved Earle, their import pitcher, for that game, and of course the young fellows were unable to do anything with his curves and shoots, only four scattered hits being secured off his delivery. Robert was in the box for the Aberdeens, and pitched a good game, but lost in tight places. Neither side scored in the first, but Tilbury got one and the locals two in the second. That was all the scoring the locals could do while the visitors piled up thirteen runs.

The score—

Aberdeens 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 5 4

Batteries—Earle and Nelles; Robert and Campbell.

"FOOT ELM" TOUGHENS TENDER FEET

Renders Them Capable of Bearing the Burden of the Body Without Playing out Quickly.

There are quite a few people whose feet are tender, get sore, ache and tire easily. Feet like that are a great source of discomfort and even suffering.

To get the feet in condition so that they can carry their owner with comfort, all that is needed is the persistent use of "Foot Elm" for a short time. It prevents the excessive sweating, eases the aching and tiredness, tones up and strengthens the muscles of the feet, and puts them in such condition that they do not tire or play out easily.

Always ask for Foot Elm, and refuse imitations and substitutes, which may do injury to the feet. Price 25 cents, a box of 18 powders, at all druggists, or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

GULF STREAM MARKS.

The Course of the Flow Through the Ocean Plainly Indicated.

The color of the stream is perceptibly deeper blue than that of the neighboring sea, this blueness forming one of the standard references of the nautical novelists. The depth of color is due to the high percentage of salt contained as compared with the cold green water of higher latitudes, observation having shown that the more salt held in solution by sea water the more intensely blue is its color. Thus even in the tropics, where the sea is sometimes extratropical, the blueness is sometimes observed water of a beautiful blue color, as for instance, in the Mediterranean and in other nearly landlocked basins, where the influx of fresher water, being more or less impeded, the percentage of salt contained is raised by evaporation above the average, says the National Geographic Magazine.

Another important fact in connection with the stream is its almost tropical temperature, due to the fact that its high velocity enables it to reach the middle latitudes with very little loss of heat. Upon entering its limits the temperature of the sea water frequently shows a rise of ten degrees and even fifteen degrees. It was this fact that gave to the stream the later years of the eighteenth century and the early years of the nineteenth an importance in the minds of navigators that it no longer possesses. In those days the chronometer, invented by Harrison in 1765, was still an experiment. Instruments were crude and nautical tables often at fault.

The result was that the determination of the longitude was largely a matter of guesswork, a vessel after a voyage from the channel to America often being out of her reckoning by degrees instead of by minutes. The idea, first suggested by Benjamin Franklin, that the master of a vessel, by observing the temperature of the surface water, could tell the moment of his entry into the gulf stream and could hence fix his position to within a few miles was hailed with delight.

The method was published in 1790 by Jonathan Williams in a work lengthily entitled "Thermometrical Navigation: Being a series of experiments and observations tending to prove that by ascertaining the relative heat of the sea water from time to time the passage of a ship through the gulf stream and from deep water into soundings may be discovered in time to avoid danger." In this work he makes a patriotic comparison of the gulf stream to a streak of red, white and blue, painted upon the surface of the sea for the guidance of American navigators.

Don't Be a Second Class Man.

You can hardly imagine a boy saying: "I am going to be a second class man. I don't want to be first class and get the good jobs, the high pay. Second class jobs are good enough for me." Such a boy would be regarded as lacking in good sense. He is a man, however, by not trying to be a first class one. Thousands do that all the time, so that second class men are a "drug" on the market, remarks Success.

Second class things are only wanted when first class can't be had. You wear first class clothes if you can pay for them, eat first class butter, first class meat and first class bread, or, if you don't wish you could. Second class men are no more wanted than any other second class commodity. They are taken and used when the better article is scarce or is too high priced for the occasion. For work that really amounts to anything first class men are wanted.

The Home of England's Wealth.

The Bank of England generally contains sufficient gold in sixteen pound bars to make 20,000,000 sovereigns.

The bank, which stands in three parishies, covers three acres of ground, and, as the current price of land in the vicinity works out at £1,000,000 an acre, it is easy to form an idea of the money value of England's wealth. The ratable value is about £1,000 a week. The bank employs about 1,000 people, pays a quarter of a million a year in wages and £35,000 a year in pensions. There are £25,000,000 worth of notes in circulation which have been "landed" over the bank's counter.—London Globe.

Starting the Conversation.

"I don't know what the trouble is," said the hostess in a tone of great annoyance. "My guests seem very distant and unsocial. I wish I could think of some way to start them talking to one another."

"That's very easily done," answered Miss Cayenne. "Is there a musician present?"

"Yes."

"Get him to play or sing something."

The Baden-Powell and Bonnie Belle had several exciting brushes to-day and furnished amusement for the merry party aboard the boats. In the afternoon an American yacht, the Dolphin, joined in, and for some time the sport was fast and furious.

The Dolphin is a fine yacht and has excellent sailing qualities. Her presence is an acquisition to the sporting element. The other yachts are too well known to need mentioning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Park are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arch. Park at Beverly Lodge.

Mrs. Jerry O'Brien and family returned to the city to-day, after spending the summer here.

Miss Minnie Rhody and George Willard are registered at the Lake View House.

The crack of guns was heard all day Monday and no doubt the ducks were badly frightened.

A plague of locusts has visited some parts of Tunis. The nomadic tribes collect and eat them, the government distributing salt to make them palatable.

Tattooed on the back of a man who has just been arrested for theft in Paris is a portrait of the Russian Grand Duke Constantine showing all his decorations.

At the present ratio of progress seventy years will elapse before Pompeii is entirely uncovered. It is thought that as much of treasure remains as has been exhumed.

One of the most interesting of recent events was the sale of Elkata, 2:08½, to Mr. James Hanley of Providence, R. I., the owner of Prince Alert, 2:00½, by Hon. Frank Jones. The heroine of 1901 was at once shipped to Hartford.
