A traveler in New Zealand tells of a A traveler in New Zealand tells of a native welcome. His party drew near to the central home of the tribe of Maoris. "As we rested beneath the parapets we were startled by a horriparapets we were startled by a norri-ble yell, and round the corner of the stockade appeared a fercelous figure, tattooed, red painted, befeathered and naked, except for a very brief waist fringe of dangling palm fiber. His eyes rolled till the whites only were then he thrust out a long and snaky tongue and grimaced fearfully. Shaking a wooden spear in his hand, he swiftly cast it at us, then turned and rushed toward the village. Just as the spearsman turned one of our young men who had rapidly divested himself of all but his waist shawl darted out in pursuit, and we followed at a more dignified pace. The entrance to the village was barred by a body of armed men, crouching still as death, on one knee, each holding a gun, butt on the ground, barrel sloping toward We advanced until we were within twenty paces of the warriors. Then all at once, at a wild cry from a chief on the right, they jumped to their feet, leaped high in the air, with their feet doubled under them like deer, and with one voice literally barked out a thundering cherus. This way and that our martial hosts bounded, brandishing their loaded rifles in time to the chant.

ing thud, they fired a volley of ball cartridge over our heads. "Another voiley reverberated from hill to hill and the bullets whistled over us. Then the brown warriors fell back and a gayly dressed band of women, with green leaves wreathed about their brows and waving shawls and leafy boughs, advanced with a gliding semiand chanted their ancient welcome song. When the women's song ased out to the front danced six girls a group of vividly barbaric, yet not -a group of vividy barbarte, yet hot charmonious, color-appareled in loose crimson roundabouts and short gowns of gorgeously flowered print, their brows bound about with red handkerchiefs, which held in place the black and white plumes of the rare huia bird and the iridescent feathers of the long tailed cuckoo, their cheeks dabbed with "These barefooted nymphs, hands on hips and heads thrown back, glided into the measure of a dance to the music of a shrill monody chanted by a white haired, tattooed old lady. Then all at once the chant ended on an unexpected high note and the performers expected high note and the performers stopped, breathless and glowing all over with their self evolved emotions Broad flax mats were spread out for us on the green and after speeches of greeting we were regaled with pork, preserved birds, wild honey and potatoes, in quantity sufficient to have satisfied isfied a starving garrison."

Cutting Eyelashes. An eyelash is pointed. A cut lash is blunt. A lash once cut never again becomes pointed. Every lash lives a variable time and then falls out to be replaced by a fresh one. When a cut lash so falls the newcomer is pointed. So any mischief resulting from cutting the lashes will be remedied by time. Opinions differ as to whether lash cutting promotes growth. That it renders the lashes unsightly is very certain.

INTERNATIONAL S. S. LESSON FOR TO-MORROW.

Jesus Silences the Pharisees, Her-odians and Sadducces.-Mark 12, 13.

Golden Text-"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

Here are three leading, antagonistic Jewish seets, yet they unite together to entrap the Lord, that they might deliver Him to the Romans as a rebel: or make a mock of Him before the Jews.

They thought Him a man like themselves, little dreaming He was looking into their bearts and knew their hypocrisy, and could easily baffle them. Their question, "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not, shall we give or shall we not give?" seemed an honest one: but He knew them better. Bring me a Roman coin. Whose is this image and superscription? They answer, Caesar's. He then directs them to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.

The Roman Government gave Jews perfect liberty of conscience to worship God as His law directed, and protected their sacred rights, and they in return are directed to be good citizens and pay their taxes. To talk about one's religion while dodging our taxes, or smuggling, don't count. If we use government money, we should support the government. Thousands do this, yet shirk the things of God.

The foolish question of the skeptic Sadducees, who deny any resurrection, if a wife have seven husbands in this world whose wife shall she be in heaven? He easily answers, and their ignorance of scripture and the power of God shown up. Cur Lord here describes our glorified condition as like the angels, sexless and greedless; no need for either in the life eternal. Thank God, we shall see Him even as He is, at His coming.

Let us sing that good old hymn, I want to be an angel." Halting abruptly, with an earth shakcoming. Let us sing that good old hymn, I want to be an angel

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's worldfamed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrappor all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or servet medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudied physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most emissan medical authorities.

The Further fact that neither Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach, tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also antities them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habitforming drug, as will be seen from a plance at the formula prince on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians grescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them —people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines has ine strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like gurposes has any such professional endorsement.

Kitten Has Queer Bed Fellows.

Kitten Has Queer Bed Fellows.

Topsy is a Blue Bedlington, an aristocrat in the canine world, and remarkable in many respects. Topsy is the property of Master Harvey Montgomery, 56 Cecil street, Toronto, blueblooded, and knows it. Two months ago Topsy gave birth to four pupples. About that time a little kitten made its appearance at the back door. Topsy opened her heart to the motherless feline and bestowed upon it a hospitality as cathelic as an Arab's.

When a reporter of The Toronto Star called to see Topsy and her adopted daughter Topsy was quite anxious to demonstrate her unbiased feelings. She hunted out a soft spot on the lounge, and the kitten, evidently hungry, snuggled up and enjoyed a meal. The kitten is grey and white, prettily marked, and takes to her foster mother as a cat does to—well, that's what the kitten goes after. The ineffable peace and content which comes over the countenance of Topsy while the kitten nurses illustrates what effect charity has upon the inward being. Fond as Topsy is of her kitten, however, her motherly instinct prompts her to bid the kitten wait until the pups have satisfied themselves. For a long time Topsy would not allow the kitten to touch the pups, drawing a fine line of discrimination between giving her her daily bread and permitting her to mingle with her off-peds in the cellar, Topsy and the kitten upstairs, where they sleep together on a shawl at the foot of Master Harvey's bed.
