CONFIDENCE IN CLEMENCEAU

now is the time to change your pilot. You can not do it when we are under way."

Replying to charges made by Albert Thomas, the Socialist leader that he had kept the Chamber without information, the Premier said:

"The question of peace is terrible. It is a question which is one of the most difficult ever submitted to the nation at any time. In a few days a conference of delegates will meet at Paris, which will settle the fate of nations in all parts of the world."

"People say Premier Lloyd George has spoken. President Wilson has spoken, but you have said nothing." I have given explanations whenever you have asked me, but it is not because Mr. Lloyd George has spoken, or because Mr. Wilson has spoken, or from the United States with elevated thoughts that I am obliged to explain myself and keep running to the speaker's rostrum."

"France was in an especially difficult situation. She was the country nearest Germany. The United States was far away and took her time to come into the war. Britain came at once at the call of Mr. Asquith. We suffered and fought; our men were mowed down and our towns and villages were destroyed."

"There is an old system of alliances called the 'balance of power.' It seems to be the system now a days but if such a balance had preceded the war; if Britain, the United States France and Italy had agreed say, that whoever attacked one of them attacked the whole world, the war would not have occurred. This system of alliance, which I do not renounce, will be my guiding thought at the conference if your confidence sends me there."

"I have been reproached with deceiving President Wilson. I do not understand why. I have made it a rule not to question him, but to let him develop his views. That is what he did. President Wilson, to whom certain persons, in the interest of their parties attribute intentions which perhaps are not his, has opened his mind and has inspired respect through his simple speech and the nobility of it."

"President Wilson said to me I will try to convince you, but perhaps you will convince me."

"You know that reservations have been made on the question of freedom of the seas. Premier Lloyd George said to me one day: 'You will admit that without the British fleet you could not have continued the war.'"

"I answered in the affirmative. The British Prime Minister then asked me if I was disposed to do anything in opposition to British ideas on the freedom of the seas. I answered in the negative. Concerning this question, President Wilson said to me: 'I approve of what you say. What I have to offer the Allied Governments will change in no way your answer to Mr. Lloyd George.'"

ERNEST BARRY WOULD DEFEND ROWING TITLE

London, Dec. 30.—Ernest Barry, world's champion single sculler, may defend the championship during the coming year against Dick Paddon, the Australian sculler. Barry is still suffering from the effects of wounds received in France. His ability to meet Paddon in the coming year depends on the date of his discharge from the army. He says he will be pleased to give Paddon another race for the championship, as he regards him as a fine sportsman and oarsman.

Barry won the world's title several years ago when he defeated Dick Armit, the New Zealand sculler.

"Regular as Clockwork"

You can foretell
the future

You say "The man who could foretell illness would make a fortune!" Of course no man can—in the sense you mean. But you can tell pretty accurately what to expect your own body to do.

How?

Get this simple physiology:

Your body machine has to be repaired. It also must have fuel to supply heat and energy. Your food supplies both repair material and fuel. But a furnace always produces ashes and clinkers. If these accumulate, the furnace becomes clogged and cannot work properly.

If your bowels become clogged—you suffer from constipation. Perhaps you hurry to work or play and neglect to obey Nature's call. Waste matter stagnates in the bowels. You go right on eating, drinking, working. What happens? The constipation becomes established. Waste matter undergoes decay, fermentation and germ action. Poisons are formed, absorbed, carried all over the body. They attack the weakest part of you first.

Then you know you're sick. In reality you've been getting sick since you missed that first movement.

If you want to keep well—wholly well, all the time, so that you're on your toes every day, remove the waste.

Many people take pills, castor oil, purgative mineral waters to force the bowels to act.

These act, but they irritate, tire out the intestinal muscles, make the trouble worse.

Others take "salts" which attract water to the intestines and flush the bowels—about as gently as a fire hose. A re-action follows that makes the intestines dryer than ever and aggravates the constipation. You needn't do this and weaken your system just because all of your ancestors did.

The Nujol Treatment moves the waste regularly, and easily. It is a purely mechanical process, absolutely harmless, based on a simple principle—that you can move a softened mass out of a tube more easily than a hard, dry one. It doesn't gripe—you won't know you have taken anything until after a few days your bowels move at the regular hour. It makes you "regular as clockwork."

Don't try to foretell illness. Forestall it. Don't wait until you are sick. Keep well now. Your druggist has Nujol.

Warning: Nujol is sold in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.
