Paris, June 24.—Special despatches received here from leheran say that the fighting began about 8 a. m. and was provoked by a bomb thrown from the Cossacks. The fighting continued until late in the afternoon, many be-ing killed on both sides. The Sinah sent the Cossacks and artif-tery to surround. It e parliament build-ings, as a result of parliament build-ting, and a rest the Shah had ordered. An officer, acompanied by fifty sol-der, requested the assembly to surreu-der five men, who had been leaders in the againtion against the Shah. This being refused, ine officer left men to guain the doors while he proceeded to military headquarters for further in structions. to action and kept up shelling the as-sembly building for several hours. When all was over it was found that the casualties on both sides were very large. Apparently blank shells were fired at the beginning, as the damage to the buildings was very slight for a considerable time. A man who fought on the roof of the parliament building says he and the others fired steadily into the troops until the ammunition failed and the rifles were too hot to hold. Eventually a small shell crashed through the door of the parliament house, and the Cossacks charged, the oc-cupants fleeing to the ground behind the house.
