

GEORGE V. CROWNED
KING OF GREAT BRITAIN
THURSDAY, JUNE 22nd

Sovereign in the Abbey upon the occasion of his crowning. The great choir under Sir Frederick Bridge will now sing the Coronation Anthem.

As His Majesty proceeds to where his Choir of State awaits him, he will pass the Queen, giving her a bow as he does so. After removing the cap of Maintenance from his brow he kneels for a few moments on the faldstool that awaits him, and the ceremony begins.

THE CEREMONY.

The King stands up and faces the great audience, while the Archbishop of Canterbury advances from the Altar and says in a loud voice:

"Sir, I here present unto you King George, the undoubted King of this Realm; wherefore all you who are come this day to do your homage are you willing to do the same."

Resounding cries of "God Save King George" follow from every part of the crowded Abbey accompanied by

The ancient ceremony of anointing immediately follows. The four earls being members of the Order of the Garter selected for this duty by their fellow Knights, advance and hold the canopy of gold while his Majesty divests himself of his robes assisted by Earl Carrington. The anointing is carried out successfully upon the head, breast and hands, the Archbishop of Canterbury having as his principal assistant in this office, Dr. Ryle, the Sword brought now from the Altar of God and delivered to you by us, the Bishops and servants of God, though unworthy. This, it may be mentioned, is the only occasion in the Church of England where a ritual weapon is placed upon the Altar."

mainder of the Service.

The Imperial Mantle is next placed around the Sovereign, and the bracelets of solid gold are placed around each wrist. The Orb is now placed in his Majesty's hand and the ring is placed on his finger. The ancient ceremony of the presentation of a glove to the King's hand is performed
