

London Advertiser.

TWO EDITIONS DAILY - WEEKLY

Business Office 107
 Editorial Department 134
 Job Department 175

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22.

Canada's Attitude.

Comment in Canada on the boundary award is more or less heated, and in one quarter it is suggested that the tariff offers an opportunity of retaliation on the United States. As a party expedient the plan has something to recommend it, and it would serve certain selfish interests, but Canadians will not allow their resentment to run to the foolish extreme of injuring themselves in the hope of injuring the United States. There would be little soreness over the boundary award but for Lord Alverstone's palpable surrender of the two islands, which he admitted belonged to Canada. But Canadians may as well ask themselves whether they should not be prepared to make some sacrifices and even suffer some injustices for the sake of preserving friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States. They may as well realize their helplessness as a nation of 6,000,000 confronting a nation of 70,000,000. Some day Canada may be powerful enough to command respect for her rights, but it is perfectly true that this boundary question would not have been submitted to even the semblance of a judicial tribunal but for the influence of the mother country. Canada in her present position is a hostage on this continent. If an issue arose which touched Canadian honor to the quick, Canadians would fight as valiantly as they have always done, against any odds. Peace can be bought too dearly, but no Canadian ever dreamed that the present boundary dispute was worth fighting over. The maintenance of friendly relations with the United States is the corner stone of British policy, and Canada should defer to that policy so long as she is a dependency of Great Britain, unless an affront should be offered her which no self-respecting nation could tolerate. The highest patriotism will seek to allay the irritation over the boundary award, and not inflame it by talking of reprisals or indulging in vain recrimination.

There is no justification for Lord Alverstone, if he took the course described by the Canadian commissioners. He plainly violated the spirit of the treaty. If he had held to his convictions he would have been spared the accusation that he had deliberately sacrificed Canadian rights. Canadians would have been satisfied to yield all the islands to the United States, for the sake of peace. They care less about the value of the territory than the moral advantage of having established their case.

The Latest Gamey Revelation.
 Mr. Whitney has been placed in a serious predicament by the Cross' affidavit.
 He gave party credentials to the notoriety-crazed member for Manitoulin, reeking with the exposure of his crooked practices. He has allowed Gamey to direct the Conservative campaign in Muskoka, having virtually handed over the reins of leadership to him for the time being. This self-convinced felon has been all along encouraged by the politicians to keep himself before the public and pose as an injured innocent.

Nemesis has overtaken Gamey's backers with a vengeance.
 If any further evidence were needed to convince people that Gamey is a brazen scoundrel, Mr. Cross's affidavit would supply it. He was Gamey's partner in the Cross-Piano Company and had charge of the office and the books. Gamey paid him $300, due the company for stock, on Sept. 11, 1902, the day on which Gamey deposited in the bank another $1,500, which he claims to have received as bribe-money from Mr. Stratton. This revealed the fact that Mr. Gamey had $2,800 in his possession that day, only $1,500 of which he had accounted for in his evidence. To cover up the traces of this $900 he tried to induce Mr. Cross to change the date of the entry in the company's cash books. Mr. Cross refused to listen to this dishonest suggestion, but later on discovered that the entry had been changed from Sept. 11 to Aug. 21 and the figures "900" had been blotted over. He at once notified Mr. Gamey's counsel, who stigmatized Gamey's conduct in rather strong terms. Two or three days later Mr. Cross found that the leaves containing the entry had been torn out and had disappeared. Mr. Gamey was the only person who had another key to the office, and he had access to the books. After mutilating the entry, Gamey tried to conceal the other evidences of his crime by recovering the deposit slip from the bank and handing it in another, with the figures altered.

This is the malefactor who is now the temporary leader of the Conservative party in Ontario! How do decent Conservatives like it? What do they think of the party managers who permit it? Gamey is now going up and down Muskoka blackguarding the judges who branded him with the infamy he deserves. Is it possible that a man who should be put outside the pale of respectable society, can hold a seat at the round table of a great political party?

The Detroit Board of Commerce is the latest body to urge a reciprocity treaty with Canada. The movement in the United States is becoming irresistible, and very soon Uncle Sam will be knocking at our doors. Canada will be able to drive a better bargain in trade than in boundary disputes.

Johnny Canuck will take his medicine like a little man. He has to.

Gamey is a political leader whom decent Conservatives will be proud to desert.

Of course, Gamey may deny Mr. Cross's statement. Lying will be easy compared with his other offenses.

Chamberlain has countered on Rosebery by quoting from a speech by the noble Earl in 1888 as follows:
 "The people in this country will in a not too distant time have to make up their minds as to what position they wish their colonies to occupy in respect to them, or whether they desire their colonies to leave them altogether. It is as I believe absolutely impossible for you to maintain in the long run your present loose and indefinite relations, and preserve these colonies parts of the empire. I do not say that you can obtain the great boon of a peaceful Empire, encircling the globe with a bond of commercial unity and peace, without some sacrifice on your part." (Laughter.)

Snake From Experience.
 [Detroit Free Press.]
 "Pa, what's a leading woman?"
 "Any married woman, my son."

Usual Finish.
 [Chicago News.]
 Evelyn—And did he pine away and die after you refused to marry him?
 Imogene—No, the ungrateful wretch married miserably well.

Not Wasting Time.
 [Tribune.]
 "What's the matter with old Fred?" asks one workman.
 "E's got a splinter in his 'and," says another.
 "Why don't 'e pull it out?"
 "Wot! In his dinner hour? Not likely."

Example and Precept.
 [Pick-Me-Up.]
 Rector—So you don't think I practice what I teach, Deacon?
 Church Warden—Well, considering that you have been preaching on the subject of resignation for the past 21 years, I don't quite think you do.

Balfour a Rich Man.
 [Marquise de Fontenay.]
 It is not generally known that Arthur Balfour, the British Premier, is a rich man. His income is in the neighborhood of $500,000 a year, and it is on record that during the Transvaal war, when the income tax was so high, the duties which he had to pay under that heading were equivalent to the amount which he received in salary as prime minister. The fortune comes to him, as I have already related in these columns, from his grandfather, who acquired great wealth out in India in the so-called days of the pagoda trees, especially in connection with naval contracts, on which he is reputed to have cleared a couple of million dollars within the space of three years. Let me add in this connection that England and Austria are the only two countries in Europe where the majority of the cabinet ministers are as general rule men of great wealth, entirely independent of official emoluments, and whose service to the Government is given mainly from a sense of duty and obligation to their country.

The Universal Target.
 [Washington Star.]
 Speak kindly to the millionaire; he does his best.
 Don't try to flatter him to despair.
 With rude, unfeeling words.
 Don't laugh at portraits which display his face with comic leer.
 And when he gives his wealth away.
 Don't take it with a sneer.

Speak kindly to the millionaire.
 He has a right to live.
 And feel the sun and breathe the air.
 And when he gives his wealth away.
 Before you're rich yourself, you see,
 Speak kindly to the millionaire.
 He is human, just like you.

Chamberlain Up Against It.
 [Montreal Herald.]
 Mr. Chamberlain has against him, actively, practically all the public men, outside Mr. Buis, whose names count in British politics. All the Liberals, to begin with; his ex-colleagues, Devonshire, Hicks-Beach, Ritchie, Hamilton, Balfour or Burleigh, Elliot; Goschen and James, of the old Liberal Unionists; Hugh Cecil, Winston Churchill, Major Seeley, of the Young Unionists; and the Conservative, Mr. Grey, Bannerman, Asquith, Rosebery, and the combination becomes the most formidable one man ever encountered.

Geographical Limericks.
 [Household Ledger.]
 A school teacher hailing from Me.
 Regarded the shirtwaist with disre.
 She always wears a
 Bright striped N. J.,
 And a tailor-made skirt with a tre.

And though her full name is Me,
 One day she got madder than I do.
 For a boy called her Sue.
 And the first thing he knew
 They had called in a coroner's jury.

A Definition of Style.
 [New York Tribune.]
 A fashion magazine offered $25 for the best definition of "style." The prize was won by Frank D. Blake, of Clay Center, Kan., who was reared in an atmosphere of jackrabbits and buffalo grass far from the world of dress. His definition fetched him $125 a word. It was: "That visible expression of some conception of beauty by which a standard of excellence is established or changed is 'style.'"

How Unlike London!
 [Hamilton Times.]
 To such a pass has things come in this city in municipal affairs that scarcely a move is made without some political object in view. In the present political complexion of the council, policies are made to govern the actions of the majority in most cases, and should a Tory alderman attempt to act independently of the party in any municipal matter, he would be quickly removed from the ticket next January, and the faithful would drop him like a hot brick.

A Household Necessity.
 When you once use "Beaver Brand" Charcoal for roasting or broiling, you will wonder however you have kept house without it.

Mr. Andrew Pattullo.

[Woodstock Express.]
 Of Mr. Andrew Pattullo little may be said at present except that his withdrawal from active newspaper work will be a distinct loss to journalism. To what extent he has made the Sentinel-Review a power in the land it is not necessary to speak; but it is safe to say that had he taken service with his pen in a wider field he would have made his mark. He would probably be a poorer man both in fame and pocket today than he is, however. There is not much in the way of either money or honor for the working journalist, in Canada, just yet. Salaries are small and chances few, and no matter how brilliant the writer may be, his identity is lost in the impersonality of his profession.

Still Busy.
 [Philadelphia Press.]
 He once was making money—
 Much more than he could use,
 Detectives caught him at it,
 And now he's making shoes.

If He Wants To.
 [Chicago Record-Herald.]
 Lord Milner can now tell the world how it feels when the office seeks the man.

UNIONS TO STAND TRIAL.
 Are Accused of Injuring Gurney Company's Business.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—The suits brought by the Gurney Foundry Company against H. H. Bennett, business agent, and 50 other members of local union of molders and stove polishers, and against John A. McGlashan and twelve other members of the St. Catharines union, came up in court today. The Toronto suit was adjourned one week, but in the St. Catharines case Judge Meredith ordered the defendants to be held for trial on the 26th. The Gurneys seek injunctions restraining the defendants from sending out circulars and in other ways injuring plaintiffs' business. Gurney's is an open shop. The evidence presented in the St. Catharines case showed that circulars had been sent out saying: "Refuse to buy Oxford stoves," "Break up your business," A. B. Noble, Gurney's agent at St. Catharines, had been driven out of business. C. H. Hoople, a plumber, who took over the agency, swore that he had been threatened, that in one case he was about to put in six Gurney furnaces, but was forced by these threats to cancel the order and put in American-made furnaces. J. D. Tait, another St. Catharines man, made affidavit to the same effect, that he had been compelled to put in an American-made furnace. Other affidavits said that the circulars issued said that the Gurneys made inferior goods.

A FATAL BONFIRE
 Three-Year-Old Child Burned to Death.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—While playing near a bonfire in a vacant lot at Congress and Rockwell streets yesterday, a three-year-old child, the son of a West Congress street, suffered burns which caused his death. A number of children living in the neighborhood had gathered around the bonfire, and to which they applied a match. As the O'Connor child was playing near the fire, a gust of wind carried some of the leaves against her dress, igniting it. When assistance arrived the child had fallen to the ground unconscious. She died a short time later.

WIND WRECKS HOSPITAL
 Annex to a Brandon Institution Swept Away.

Brandon, Man., Oct. 22.—A terrific gust of wind completely wrecked the new annex to the general hospital here now in course of erection, yesterday. A catastrophe was averted only by the fortunate fact that the annex was not yet finished. The wind, which was blowing from the west, struck the building when the numerous workmen engaged upon the building were away at dinner. The havoc was wrought in a moment, and the structure, which had been substantially built, was crushed like a matchbox. The building was all ready to be roofed at the time and was to have cost $30,000.

FREIGHT CLASSIFICATION
 Manufacturers' Association to Protest Against Railways.

Montreal, Oct. 22.—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has applied to the board of trade for the formation of a co-operation in protesting against the railway companies' putting into effect any classification into different rates for the various commodities. The board of trade has been obtained, it being represented that such infringement of the law is fraught with danger to commercial interests. The protest will be made by the board of trade and will address the Government as desired.

BURGLARS AT ARMPRIOR
 Attempt to Blow Open Safe With Dynamite.

Armprior, Ont., Oct. 22.—Burglars entered the office of the Canada Atlantic station about 3 o'clock this morning and attempted to open the safe by the use of dynamite, but through unskillful work they succeeded only in damaging the lock. There was no money in the safe, however. Several drawers and cases were pried open, but nothing was taken.

A Montreal Mystery.
 Montreal, Que., Oct. 22.—Considerable mystery surrounds the death of one Durocher, whose body has been found in the Lachine Canal, near St. Paul's bridge, some distance west of the city. Durocher resided at 255 Richelieu street, a considerable distance from the scene of his death. The police are investigating the case.

Rescued From Raft.
 San Francisco, Oct. 22.—The steamer Spokane, which arrived yesterday from Seattle, brought four of the survivors of the wrecked steamer South Portland. All are men and were taken from a raft by the Spokane Tuesday. The Spokane cruised for an hour in search of another raft, finding only an empty boat.

Youth is the time to build the foundation for success.
 Hard work early gives time for pleasure later on.

Weak Men

Cured Free.

Send Name and Address Today—
 You Can Have It Free and Be
 Strong and Vigorous for Life.

INSURES LOVE AND A HAPPY HOME.
 How any man may quickly cure himself after years of suffering from sexual weakness, lost vitality, night losses, etc., etc., etc.

Health, Strength and Vigor For Men.
 varicocele, etc., and enlarge small weak testes, and give them all the strength and vigor of a young man. Send your name and address to Dr. Knapp, medical company, 714 11th building, Detroit, Mich., and they will gladly send the free recipe with full directions, so any man may easily cure himself at home. This is certainly a most generous offer, and the following extracts taken from their daily mail show what men think of their generosity:

"Dear Sirs—Please accept my sincere thanks for yours of recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test, and the benefit has been extraordinary. I am completely braced me up. I am just as vigorous as when a boy, and you cannot realize how happy I am."
 "Dear Sirs—Your method worked beautifully. Really, I was exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have come entirely restored and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."
 "Dear Sirs—Yours was received, and I had no trouble in making use of the recipe as directed, and can truthfully say it is a boon to weak men. I am greatly improved in strength and vigor. All correspondence is strictly confidential, mailed in plain sealed envelope. The recipe is free for the asking, and they want every man to have it."

Big Prices for Sermons.
 For a sermon of ten minutes' duration $50 must be considered an excellent price, and this sum is paid every year for the best known as the Golden Sermon, which may be preached in any church within a six-mile radius of Haberdashers' Hall. Many years ago a man named William Jones died and left the sum of money to the Haberdashers' company, stipulating that the interest was to be given to the preacher of the best sermon delivered in the radius of six miles. As this was a somewhat difficult matter to determine it was decided to distribute $2,500 of the $3,000 which the interests amounts to among clergymen of the East End, and the balance given to the preacher of the "Golden Sermon," which is never delivered twice in the same church. Although this is the highest price paid to any individual for a sermon in this country, preaching at the rate of a shilling a minute, and a sermon of ten minutes' duration is delivered in Durham Cathedral, which should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

Many people know the meaning of the "Lion" Thanksgiving sermon which is preached in the Church of St. Andrew, in the Strand, London, every year. In the 17th century Sir John Sayer, then Lord Mayor of London, was traveling in a coach and was killed by a lion. On his return he carried a sum of money, the interest on which was to be given to the poor, while the preacher retained what he considered a fair price for his sermon. What is probably the highest sum paid for a sermon in the world every year is paid to the preacher of one of the many sermons delivered in the Protestant church there, on the condition that the preacher should not be more than a quarter of an hour's duration. For this the preacher receives $80, but there is nothing to show how the custom originated.

KINGSMILL'S

Late Arrivals of Fine Dress Fabrics.

SUIT LENGTHS OF FLAKED ZEBELINES—Beautiful effects in gray, fawn and blue, 46 inches wide. Just to hand, late in delivery, hence the price..... 70c
 SCOTCH TWEED SUITINGS—45 inches wide, all-wool. A great cloth for Children's wear, very durable. Late delivery price..... 50c
 SIX SHADINGS IN SMALL CHECKS—Suitable for Children's wear or shirt waists, 46 inches wide, very serviceable, washable. Good value at 75c. Late delivery price..... 33c

Underpriced Ready-to-Wear Garments.

WALKING SKIRTS—In serviceable Oxford Gray Cloth, gored flare style, 12 rows of tailor-stitching round the bottom, tailor-stitched seams. Special this week..... $3.38
 PEDESTRIENNE SKIRTS—In brown Cheviot, tailor-stitched with strap seams, finished with tabs and buttons, 7-gore flare with four inches of tailor-stitching at the bottom. Special underprice..... $4.00
 SEVEN-GORED FLARE SKIRTS—In navy and black Cheviots, trimmed with rows of pin tucking. A very stylish garment. Underprice..... $5.00
 LADIES' COATS—In Black Cheviot, box style, coat collar, new sleeve, Special underprice..... $5.00
 LADIES' CORSET-FITTING ¾ LENGTH BLACK CHEVIOT COAT—Lined throughout. Underprice..... $6.75
 THREE-QUARTER COATS—Camelhair cloth, in oxford, bell sleeve, extra stylish. Underprice..... $10.25
 LADIES' MONTE CARLO COATS—In light fawn beaver, bell sleeve, trimmed with pin tucking. Underprice..... $10.25
 CHILDREN'S COATS—In garnet, blue or brown, full length, with an inverted box plait at the back, sailor collar with stole ends finished with buttons and tailor-stitching. Our own make. Underprice..... $3.50
 CHILDREN'S COATS—In blue beaver, box back styles, with two shoulder capes, Russian sleeve and coat collar. Special underprice..... $3.75

KINGSMILL'S

RITCHIE KNOCKED CANADA THREATENS A PRINCE INSULTED HIS WIFE

Times Says He Put Colleagues in a Hole. Minister Warns Noble Editor to Cease Attack On Germany. Saxony is Greatly Excited Over a Case of Mistaken Identity.

London, Oct. 22.—The Times, in an editorial on Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Tynemouth, says his authorized disclosures regarding the circumstances of his resignation show that the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, took advantage of the circumstances to put his colleagues in a hole. They were obliged to surrender, because they could not afford to disregard his threat to resign on the eve of the budget. Ritchie's resignation was a blow to the Government, and his position was a difficult one. He was obliged to resign, because he could not afford to disregard his threat to resign on the eve of the budget. Ritchie's resignation was a blow to the Government, and his position was a difficult one. He was obliged to resign, because he could not afford to disregard his threat to resign on the eve of the budget.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—Prince Ukhomsky, editor of the St. Petersburg Gazette, has fallen under the displeasure of Von Plehve, the Minister of the Interior, as the result of his obstinate attempt to say publicly what Russians really think of Germany. Ukhomsky asserts that Germany is eager to humiliate Russia, as it humiliated France, and cannot be trusted to yield Russia a particle of honest friendship, either in the near east or in the far east.

Von Plehve regards such utterances as dangerous, and has warned the prince that further offenses will compel the Government to take stern action. The affair excites the keenest interest in high quarters, because Ukhomsky is very near to the court. He was formerly personal secretary to the Czar, and exceedingly popular in diplomatic, literary, political, and scientific circles.