

COMMITTEE OF HOUSE TO FACE IRISH BILL SOON

Winston Churchill Expected To Make Announcement on Result of Conference.

DE VALERA GETS OVATION

Hears People Ready to "Fling Away" Birthright of Nation.

BELFAST, Feb. 26.—James Hughes, 26 years old, was the victim of a fatal attack on Saturday night by three men who rushed out on him from a side street. The killing was witnessed by the young man's mother.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The delegates of the Irish provisional government conferred for an hour and a half this afternoon at the colonial office with Winston Spencer Churchill, colonial secretary; Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, secretary for war.

Both sides are reported to be taking a cheerful view of the situation. The discussions are said to have proceeded so smoothly from their commencement that Mr. Churchill was able to inform Premier Lloyd George, who had been in readiness for a call, that he need not disturb his weekend.

Arthur Griffith and his colleagues started on their return to Ireland to-night.

Mr. Griffith, after the conference, said he was satisfied that the British government was standing by the terms of the treaty. Both Mr. Griffith and Mr. Duggan seemed hopeful that a healthier atmosphere would prevail, because of the mutual recognition of each other's difficulties.

It is understood that Winston Churchill will make a statement in the House of Commons on Monday or Tuesday on the results of the conference, and announce that the Free State bill will be proceeded with at once in committee of the Commons.

GIVE DE VALERA OVATION.

BELFAST, Feb. 26.—Eugene de Valera, in continuing his electioneering campaign, was received last night at Ennis, County Clare, with enthusiasm. Ennis is Mr. de Valera's constituency. He is met at the station by a uniformed guard of honor and escorted by a procession to a hotel. The town was illuminated.

In acknowledging the reception accorded him, Mr. de Valera said he and his followers had heard strange things in Dublin—that 30 per cent of the Irish people were willing to fling away the nation's birthright.

ST. THOMAS BOYS RECEIVE SENTENCE

Two Given Indefinite Terms in Industrial School at Toronto.

THIRD OFFENDER FREED

Youthful Trio Arraigned for Stealing Robe and Attempting Auto Theft.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 26.—Two of the three boys who were arrested Thursday last charged with stealing an automobile robe and attempting to steal a car belonging to O. R. Service of Norwich, were sentenced Saturday morning to indefinite terms in the Victoria Industrial School at Toronto, when they were arraigned before Magistrate Macdonell in session. The third member of the party was given another chance to go straight.

The third boy was liberated when his Kewanee guardian who made a strong plea in the prisoner's behalf, stated that he was willing to continue his interest in the lad. He believed that the boy was much good in the boy, and felt confident that it could be developed.

The boys denied vehemently that they were members of the gang of boys who committed several robberies in this city a few months ago, although they were arrested along with members of the gang at that time and later were turned over to Kewanee guardians.

ENGINE WRECKS AUTO

Occupant Injured in Crash on N. St. C. and R.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 26.—An electric engine on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway yesterday struck an automobile containing Charles Stewart of Homer, at the John street crossing, battering the car 40 yards sideways along the track before stopping.

The car was badly wrecked and Stewart, though unconscious for several hours, is expected to recover.

MINE FATALITIES DECLINE.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Fatalities at coal mines in the United States during January declined about 25 per cent from January a year ago, according to an announcement today by the bureau of mines. The total last month was 146, against 197 last year. Based on an estimated coal production of 45,955,000 tons last month, the death rate was 3.22 per million tons mined, compared with 4.13 for January, 1931.

BELIEVE LINDSAY IN CANADA.

New York, Feb. 27.—Eight witnesses were subpoenaed to go before the grand jury today and testify against Alfred A. Lindsay, former stock broker, charged with defrauding investors with having fleeced them out of more than $700,000 in bogus stock deals. No trace has yet been found of Lindsay, who has been missing from his pretentious New York home for more than a month. The police believe he is somewhere in Canada.

O. A. C. PROFESSOR DIES

C. R. Klinck Was Graduate of School in 1906.

GUELPH, Feb. 26.—The death took place at midnight Saturday, following an illness of about a week, of Professor Cecil R. Klinck of the field husbandry department of the O. A. C. at the Guelph General Hospital. He was a graduate of the O. A. C. class of 1906, becoming a member of the staff, following his graduation, and had been a valued executive ever since.

Professor Klinck was a member of the Disciplines Church, where a service was held on Sunday afternoon and the body will be sent to Stouffville on Monday morning for interment. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Klinck, of Stouffville; three brothers and two sisters.

ALLEGES "JOINTS" WERE PROTECTED

Mayor Wedlake Takes Stand in Police Investigation at Brantford.

SURE RUM RING SHIELDED

Raney Furnished With Evidence Obtained by Citizens' Special Detectives.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 25.—Mayor George Wedlake was the principal witness called at the police probe before Commissioner W. D. Gregory yesterday morning.

As to his candidature for mayor in 1929, witness recalled that there was a great deal of dissatisfaction in the city and he was waited upon by a deputation of businessmen, representative citizens of Brantford, who stated that there should be a clean up. They wanted him to run. This deputation waited upon him in the fall of 1929.

One of his first acts was to send for Chief Slemm, who seemed very sympathetic in regard to all of the mayor's suggestions. The latter had told him about reports he had heard of Inspector Chapman and Detective Schuler. He recalled that at that time, in 1921, there were reports that Schuler was protecting bootleggers, and that Chapman was protecting the gambling places. Chief Slemm promised prompt action. He disclosed plans for raids which failed. The birds had flown. Chief Slemm could not account for it. Witness told him of his belief that advance information was being given out. He suggested that the chief give leave of absence to Chapman and Schuler for several months, and put in any improvement men to be made. To all his suggestions, he was met with invitations to bring on his charges.

Then the Spence burglary occurred, and there seemed to be enough evidence to ask for the suspension of the three officers, Chapman, Schuler and Stewart. When the motion was brought up, the officers were brought up by the witness, who was opposed by Magistrate Livingston.

The next witness was Mr. William P. Kellett, who said that he was president and general manager of the Dominion Steel Products Company. In his opinion the police commissions of the past ten years had apparently been under the influence of Louis Stander. He recalled that several meetings of citizens had been held with the idea of breaking Stander's hold at the police court.

It seemed to be the impression that Stander seemed to have an influence with Magistrate Livingston, he said. It was believed that Stander was on very intimate terms with the mayor, and witness said that his influence thus extended over two members of the police commission.

Mr. Kellett referred to a deputation, of which he was one, which went to Toronto to interview the attorney-general's department. Subsequently about $7,000 or $8,000 was raised by private subscription, and a firm of detectives was put on the job gathering evidence for a whole year. This mass of data was then turned over to the attorney-general's department.

PETITION NOT YET FILED

Move to Unseat Hon. W. R. Motherwell Still Only Rumored.

Regina, Sask., Feb. 27.—No petition has been filed in the courts here to commence action to unseat Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture. When questioned with reference to the rumored action last night, R. M. Johnson, M. P. for Moose Jaw, said that he had not heard anything.

"I have seen the reports in the newspapers and that is all I know about it," he said.

C. E. Gregory, K. C. counsel for the new national party political association, made similar comment.

"I know nothing about it," was all he was prepared to say.

It was reported from Moose Jaw on Sunday that the national political association had decided to take action to unseat Mr. Motherwell.

It was said that the action would be one of reprisal for the action taken in Moose Jaw to unseat R. M. Johnson, M. P.

BODY FLOATED AGAINST THE CURRENT

Overhearing a conversation at the G. T. R. depot a man made the remark that a certain person was so contrary that if he were drowned his body would float against the current. Men as a rule are not so contrary, neither are women if you buy them perfect Blue White Diamonds from John A. Nash Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."

URGES FLOATING EXHIBITION.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press)—Canada's principal need now being an increased export trade, it is being suggested here that the Canadian Government should float out one of its idle steamers here as a floating exhibition of Canadian products, and send it on a voyage to the principal trading ports of the world. Such a floating exhibition could, it is suggested, be fitted into the plan of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to run a special train bearing exhibits of Canadian products through France.

WANT RAILWAY RESTORED TO OLD-TIME BASIS

Maritime Members of Parliament Demand Intercolonial Road Be Recognized.

MAINTAIN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC HAVE ADVANTAGE

Assert Line Not Fulfilling Part Fathers of Confederation Intended.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 26.—The demand of the Maritime members of Parliament for the restoration of the old Intercolonial Railway to the position it was intended to occupy by the fathers of Confederation may be regarded as part of a growing movement to resist the tendency to the centralization of the industrial, financial and business affairs generally of Canada. The growth of the industrial and financial activities of the central provinces, Ontario and Quebec, has been out of proportion to the development of similar activities in the Maritime Provinces, it is believed, and it is a common complaint among Maritime businessmen that the tariff and railway policies of Canada have in the past been more adjusted to the interests of the central provinces than to the needs of the Maritime Provinces.

With their strategic geographical position, their network of railways, canals and waterways, and their enormous water powers, Ontario and Quebec have obvious advantages which they have exploited with ability and energy, and the centralizing process has probably been inevitable. At the same time it presents a problem which demands public attention, political observers here declare that the overwhelming liberal vote in the Maritimes in the last Dominion election was a protest against this centralizing tendency, and they regard the rise of the Progressives in the West as an endeavor to readjust the balance of economic interests between the center and extremities of Canada.

In view of the conviction of the Maritime businessmen that the industrial development of the three eastern provinces since Confederation has not fulfilled the promise of their pre-Confederation development, it is interesting to note that the proportionate increase in the value of the output of manufacturing industries of Nova Scotia between 1871 and 1917 was greater than that shown by the manufacturing industries of either Ontario or Quebec, according to the returns compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Comparing the value of the product of the manufacturing industries for the year 1917 with the output for 1871, the first census year after Confederation, the following increases are indicated:

Nova Scotia	147 times
Ontario	132 "
Quebec	108 "
New Brunswick	37 "

However, 1917, was an exceptional year for the manufacturing industries of Nova Scotia, and a large part of the increase is accounted for by the development of her iron and steel-making enterprises.

When the value of raw material used is deducted the increases in values added by the manufacturing process itself are for the period in question as follows:

Nova Scotia	14.3 times
Quebec	13.3 "
Nova Scotia	10.2 "
New Brunswick	3.2 "

According to the bureau of statistics added by the manufacturing industry in 1917, as compared with 1871, showed the following increases:

Ontario	25 times
Quebec	23.5 "
Nova Scotia	22.8 "
New Brunswick	10.8 "

Notwithstanding the apparently large industrial development indicated for Nova Scotia, that province, as well as New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, has seen numerous small industries pass out of existence, and there is a belief that they went down before the competition of the larger industrial enterprises of Ontario and Quebec aided by the low freight rates on the International Railway, Prince Edward Island's manufacturing industries have dwindled since she entered Confederation. In 1881, the island's manufacturing output was valued at $3,400,208; in 1891 at $4,345,910, and in 1917 it was $5,517,910, indicating, when the rise in prices is considered, a considerable decline in quantity production. In 1881 the number of persons employed in the island's manufacturing industries was 5,767; in 1891, 7,910; and in 1917 it was only 1,923.

While the increase in the number of persons employed in the manufacturing industries of Ontario from 1871 to 1917 was 1.7 times, in Quebec 1.7 times, and in Nova Scotia 1.6 times, in New Brunswick it was only 1.1 times. In 1917 and also in 1918 the number of persons employed in the manufacturing industries of New Brunswick was actually less than in 1900.

As a whole, therefore, the industrial development of the Maritime Provinces has been proportionate to that of the central provinces, and there are among the old generation many people who still argue that Confederation was a bad bargain for the Maritimes. Ambitions, aptitude and traditions, connected with sea enterprise, and the decay of the once important ship building and ship repairing industries, left whole communities in a state of uncertainty regarding their future. In this atmosphere numerous small industries which had been developed to supply local needs were unprepared to make the adjustments necessary to enable them to compete, even in their own markets, with the larger industries developed in Ontario and Quebec, under the impulse of protective tariffs. At the same time the adoption by the United States of high tariffs, to some extent shut off the Maritimes from their natural markets in New England and put a period on the big development of the fishing industry, which has gone on during the lives of the old reciprocity and the Washington treaties.

Such Maritime industries as survive, or such new industries as have been developed, were mostly of a character demanding larger markets than the Maritimes could supply. They themselves, and the successors of these industries, some of which compete with the central provinces in the far east markets, have not been unconnected with Maritime control of the policies of the Intercolonial Railway. The restoration of that control, therefore, presents itself as a matter of first importance to Maritime business interests. That was a condition of Confederation, and it is also the only thing that appears as a counterpoise to the strategic commercial position of the central provinces, with their free waterways developed at the expense of the nation, or to the uneconomic export rail rates which the western provinces enjoy on their principal products, and which entail a burden upon the whole country.

RECOVERS FROM STORM

Light, Power Lines Re-established in Stratford.

STRATFORD, Feb. 26.—With power lines into the city fully re-established and portions of the city supplied with light and power once more the city is getting back to normal once again following the storm. It will be a week or more, however, before the light and telephone lines are fully repaired.

Today gangs of men are still at work. Saturday night night was spent for the hospital for the first since Tuesday night. A city gang is clearing trees and branches from the wires, being followed by the hydro men.

The fire alarm system, which was badly crippled, is being gradually restored.

Both city newspapers were able to publish Saturday.

INDIAN INSURGENTS HEADED BY GANDHI

Made Dominating Figure in "Home Rule" Move By Act of Legislature.

HAS WIDE POWERS

National Congress At Ahmedabad Gives Leader of Radicals More Authority.

AHMEDABAD, India, Feb. 25.—Mahatma K. Gandhi has become a more dominating figure than ever in the Indian independence movement in consequence of the action taken in the annual session of the Indian national congress recently held here.

Not only did the congress appoint Gandhi as its sole executive authority, as called at that time, but it authorized him to appoint his successor in event of any emergency.

This action was taken when the congress voted to suspend all other activities in order to concentrate attention upon civil disobedience.

The resolution conferring increased powers upon Gandhi declared: "This congress hereby appoints, until further instructions, Mahatma Gandhi as the sole executive authority of the congress and invests him with the full powers of the all-India congress committee, including the power of convening a special session of the congress or of the all-India congress committee, or of the working committee, and also with the power to appoint a successor in an emergency."

"This congress hereby confers upon the successor and his subsequent successors appointed in turn by their predecessors all his aforesaid powers." The congress not only stipulated, however, that Gandhi should not be authorized to conclude terms of peace with the British or Indian government without the previous consent of the all-India congress committee, but it also declared that the present creed of the congress was in no case to be altered by either Gandhi or his successors without first having obtained permission from the Indian congress.

INVADERS WENT VEILED AS WOMEN

Communists' Attempt To Take Teheran Was Real Joke.

BAKU, Azerbaijan, Feb. 27.—One of the recent Communist attempts to invade Persia and capture Teheran, its capital, had most of the elements of a good comic opera.

The little army of 200 Georgian invaders masqueraded as Persian women by wearing loose veils and other clothing of women over their uniforms.

The queer appearance of the expedition aroused the suspicions of the "cheka" when it reached Enzeli, a Persian sea, and the whole outfit was arrested and taken back to Baku for examination.

Released, the invaders set out afresh and advanced into the mountains half-way to Teheran, where the peasants arose against them and drove them out.

The exploit is celebrated even here among the many mad political and military adventures which characterized the struggle of the British and Russians to capture the Persian capital.

It was headed by Simoyak Phakadze, who conceived the brilliant idea of the masquerade, and who still maintains that his plan was a good one. He is a sea-lawyer of Caspian, the once celebrated Russian monk who was murdered after having attained ascendancy over the Russian court.

A Georgian by birth, he was for a time a hanger-on at the Petrograd court, but joined the Communist movement in 1918, and thus escaped the fate that he might otherwise have suffered because of his favor in imperial circles.

He came here with the Red tide in the spring of 1920, helped to overthrow the Azerbaijan republic, and then undertook his wild scheme to invade and subdue Persia with a disguised army.

OPEN INVESTIGATION OF GIANT DIRIGIBLE CRASH

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 26.—Formal inquiry by an army investigating board into the causes and circumstances surrounding the Roma disaster Tuesday, in which 34 men lost their lives, was begun at headquarters of the army supply base here Saturday. The inquiry is in the nature of a coroner's inquest, and it is the intention of the board to bring out every feature of the crash before the report is made.

Captain G. B. West, medical officer who examined the bodies, described the nature of the burn suffered by each victim. It was understood that other medical officers would testify that the great majority had met death from burns, some having been asphyxiated, and others being crushed to death by the steel girders and supports.

Following Captain West, officers and attaches of the army base testified as to the position of the Roma when she was first seen approaching the reservation from a northeasterly direction. Several described their impressions when they first saw the airship, and all agreed that they thought she was in trouble.

PLANS KITCHENER SHOW

Board of Trade Takes Hold of Matter.

KITCHENER, Feb. 26.—Kitchener will have a "Made-in-Kitchener" show this spring if the present efforts of the board of trade bring results. As a result of a letter suggesting an exhibit received by the board from the manager of a local daily newspaper, the council of the board has taken hold of the project, and is at present busy soliciting the various manufacturers of the city to back up the enterprise.

The proposition which the board of trade is outlining is that as the great electrical exhibit was vacated the spacious auditorium rink the "Made-in-Kitchener" show can be put on without necessitating the expense of rewiring the building.

The idea is already meeting with an enthusiastic reception from the various manufacturers, who are only too anxious to avail themselves of the trade possibilities which the show will create. It is expected that as a result of a meeting of the council of the board, which will be held within the next ten days, some definite announcement in connection with the date of the show will be made.

The theatres are alleged by the chief to have been in total darkness with the exception of one which he said was lit by gasoline lamps contrary to regulations. Three cases were adjourned.
