Catarrh—A New Treatment.

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Au., 24.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern modeline has been attained by the Dixon treatment for Catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six months fully ninety per cent have been curred of this stubborn malady. This is none the less starling when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting thomselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the externination—this accomplished, he claims the externination and this accomplished, he claims the extent the ext
