

THOSE FISHERY CLAUSES.

SOME QUESTIONS IN PARLIAMENT REGARDING THEM.

OTTAWA, June 26.—The House today before the House called Mr. Mitchell before the attention of the government to the statement in the morning paper that the United States government will not agree to an arrangement by which the fishery clauses of the Washington treaty would remain in force the balance of the present session.

Mr. Mitchell said that he had been asked whether or not fish caught in Canadian waters would be admitted to United States ports free of duty, and if not whether there was any arrangement for a return of duties in the event of reciprocity being renewed.

Mr. Mitchell said that the question was one that could not be decided until the present state of negotiations. He hoped to have the papers all before him before the next sitting of the House.

On the order to go into supply Mr. Davies also adverted to the fishery question and objected to the arrangement as set out in the press because he believed it admitted American fishermen to our waters without receiving anything in return.

He commended the negotiations and for keeping the people in ignorance up to the day of the expiry of the clause of what day the clause was adopted.

Mr. Mitchell said that the arrangement had been finally completed on the 22nd inst., and the papers would be brought down as soon as imperial consent is obtained. It should be remembered however that the United States government is composed of a democratic senate and congress and a republican house, and under such circumstances an arrangement for reciprocity would be very delicate matter.

How they view it at Gloucester. Gloucester, Mass., June 26.—The general sentiment of the fishing boats here is that the agreement between the United States government and that of Great Britain in regard to fishing rights upon the coast of the Dominion of Canada and the United States will be favorable to the Gloucester interest.

TORONTO'S WHITEWASHED.

LONDON WINS BY FOUR RUNS TO NOTHING.

The Result Entirely Due to Errors—Complacency of the Toronto Club.

Although it was felt on all sides that the Toronto club would find in the Londoners more worthy of their steel than the Clippers proved to be, still the most dubious of the home team's admirers never expected anything in the way of a whitewash.

The London boys play the Toronto club with the same vigor and determination as they showed in the first match, and when the Toronto laid down the bat at the finish their score showed nothing but a remarkable blank.

The Toronto club, which will play the Ontario club on Saturday, was a good deal surprised to find that the Londoners were so good.
