TO SLEEP.

To sleep! to sleep! the long bright day is done,
And darkness rises from the fallen sun.
To sleep! to sleep!

Whatever thy joys, they vanish with the day;
Whatever thy griefs; in sleep they fade away.
To sleep! to sleep!

Sleep, mournful heart, and let the past be past.
Sleep, happy soul! all life will sleep at last.
To sleep! to sleep!

Lord Tennyson in N. Y. Truth.

JALOUX.

If I should lean across the Jasper wall,
With Heaven's own lilies on my bosom now,
And, white and radiant, let my kisses fall
Through voiceful calms upon thine earthly brow,
If my low cries should reach you from the sky,
With moans for touches of the kindly palm—
Say! would you know how wholly true am I
That kneel beside thee now so still and calm?

Or, if before you I should stand today
Where seraphims are standing fair and sweet,
And with my breath upon your eyelids say:
"The way was long and lonely for my feet
What time I walked without you!" would you read
The secret of my secret soul aright—
As he has read, who gladly giveth need
Of tenderest love to lives of little light?

I dare believe it! To my wounded heart
I take this consolation; when at last
The tidal waves that drifted us apart
For aye on earthly seas have kindly cast
Us safe on Heaven's own shoreland, you will know
How much you wronged the soul that keepeth white
And clean its raiment for thy sake! And so,
Until that dear day dawneth, sweet, "Good-night."

Hester A. Benedict.

BOOK GOSSIP.

Worthington Co., 747 Broadway, New York, announce for immediate publication "A Brave Woman," by E. Marlitt; translated by Margaret P. Waterman; with 50 photogravure illustrations. A romantic novel, of which the scenes are laid in one of the inland capitals of Central Europe. It is a story of married life absolutely unique, but withal extremely fascinating. The plot is well conceived, the characters act their part naturally, many situations in it are most thrilling, all is managed with consummate skill. The renowned author's name is a sufficient guarantee for excellence of literary workmanship combined with purity of thought and actions. Price in 4 Rox. $1.25; paper 75 cents. Also, "Boris Lensky," by Ossip Schubin; translated by Elise L. Lathrop; 1 vol., 12 mo.; illustrated. This work is a sequel to "Asbein," by the same author, one of the chief characters being Boris Lensky's charming, lovable and neglected little daughter Marie, who claims the reader's sympathy and interest from the first. The terrible consequences which a life of dissipation bring are graphically portrayed in the description of the virtuous Lensky's old age. The story is touchingly pathetic at times, and is written in the mildly satirical style peculiar to this author. Price in cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"FAKE" JOURNALS.—A great many people have lately been swindled by so-called prize competitions, the only object of which was to deceive the public and realize money for the promoters. Mushroom journals have sprung up and offered wonderful inducements to subscribers, who on taking the cunningly-laid bait found both the journal and the prizes worthless. The publishers of the Dominion Illustrated have learned that doubts are expressed regarding the genuineness of the offers they have made in connection with their prize competition. To set all doubts at rest, they now announce that any dissatisfied prize winner in their competition may exchange a prize for the cash value at which it is rated in their published list. Their only object in offering prizes has been to secure a larger permanent circulation, and to this end their journal has also been greatly enlarged and improved. The nature of the prize competition makes it a beneficial literary exercise for all, apart altogether from the question of prizes. A journal with a well established reputation, and which is constantly aiming to improve its literary and illustrative contents is not of the sort that breaks faith with subscribers. The response to their generous offer has already been most gratifying. On receipt of 12 cents in stamps the publishers (The Sabiston Litho. and Pub. Co., Montreal) will forward to any address a sample copy of the journal with terms, full particulars, etc.

The Season for April just received. The illustrations are, as usual, of a practicable and seasonable style. Some very handsome jackets for both house and street wear of a desirable shape and becoming to all figures are shown; also, new and novel designs for costumes for ladies and children that will commend themselves at sight. This special feature of costumes for children makes the Season invaluable to mothers who are interested in having their children dressed in comfort, combined with beautiful shapes and new in effect and design. Nothing old or reproduced from other works, but specialties only found in the Season, which should be in the hands of every family in the land who desire to make their children useful members of society and lovers of art. Yearly subscription $3.50; single copies 30 cents; the International News Company, 83 & 85 Duane Street, New York.

The subject of "Street-Cleaning in Large Cities" will be treated in the April Popular Science Monthly by General Emmons Clark, of New York. The article will include explicit practical suggestions for the proper performance of this important work.
