

I have, while expressing my willingness to do anything with which I may be charged by the National Council, declined to undertake tasks assigned piece-meal by the delegates at the Conference. At Nelson's request I wrote out a short memorandum covering much the same ground as this letter for submission to the Canadian National Council in January.

Please let me know if there is any further information which you would like to have. I was greatly interested in the Conference and very fortunate in having the opportunity of going on to China afterwards.
