HE WANTS NO THIRD PARTY

"Be Party Men, But Stick to Temperance Principles," Utterance of Rev. J. W. Cooley.

MEETING OF DOMINION ALLIANCE

Prohibitionists Will Roll Up a Big Vote for the Referendum—Officers Elected.

"Be party men, but stick to temperance principles with a view to securing prohibition in the Dominion." This utterance by Rev. J. W. Cooley was vigorously applauded at the meeting of the Dominion Alliance Council yesterday afternoon in Richmond Hall, thus showing that the feeling of the Alliance is solid against any third party, be it for the securing of prohibition or any other reform.

The meeting was opened in the morning with the president, J. R. Dougall, Montreal, in the chair.

At the outset the Business Committee was struck as follows: S J Carter, Montreal; Rev J H Oliver, J J Maclaren, K C, Toronto; Rev E J Chegwin, Winnipeg; W F Lawrence, Sarnia; Rev W I Moore, L C Peake, Mrs A O Rutherford, Toronto; Mrs Brownell and Secretary Spence.

President Dougall's Address.

In his annual address, the president congratulated the Province of Ontario upon the bright prospects for victory in the referendum vote in December next. He referred to many things that had to be surmounted in the campaign, and reminded them that united effort was the only effective path to victory. "Should a referendum be fair or unfair," he said, "even whether it is honest or dishonest, and quite apart from its immediate legislative consequence, every vote cast for prohibition counts one in the mind of the public and in the minds of the politicians for prohibition, and every vote not cast for prohibition counts one against it. Nobody watches more closely than do the politicians, friendly and unfriendly alike, the currents of public opinion. We ourselves do not scan as carefully as they do the returns of votes upon the liquor traffic. If even the well-intentioned among them treated us as a negligible quantity, while they have quailed before the liquor men, it is because such is their deduction from their most careful observations. The outlook for a creditable fight in Ontario is most hopeful. Concerning the discouraging opinion given by John Charlton and his reasons therefor, as to the result of the referendum, President Dougall declared that the Scott Act was weak because it was confined to local limits. The desired amendment to the act was that its operations be extended to include whole provinces and that its enforcement be put in other than provincial hands. These objections were absent from the present law.

Continuing, he said: "We must never consent to any belittlement of the Scott Act. It is the most beneficial law we have upon the statute book, and has greatly diminished drinking wherever its enactment has been in any degree enforced. The greatest mistake we ever made was to let it drop." He pointed out that the act had been repealed out of sympathy for those against whom it was enforced.

The pledge-signing campaign was declared to be one of the most important means of success recommended by the report of the Executive, which was referred to the Business Committee.

The treasurer's report, presented by W. H. Orr, showed a balance on hand of $13.38.

The Late Election.

The report of the Executive was read by J. J. Maclaren, K.C., and reviewed the events of the past year, dealing at length with the most important—that of the deliverance of the Privy Council on the Manitoba Act—and the consequent vote in Manitoba. Temperance legislation in Ontario was also referred to, and in connection with the action of the Ontario branch it commented as follows:

"The Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance expressed strong dissatisfaction with the terms of the referendum. A general provincial election was approaching, and an appeal was made to the electors to take action to secure the return of representatives in favor of a prohibitory law. A vigorous campaign was carried on, some independent candidates were nominated, and a number of candidates nominated by existing parties promised to support prohibitory legislation. The general result of this campaign will not be known until the new legislature meets. In the meantime the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance is making an energetic campaign to secure as large a vote as possible in favor of prohibition on Dec. 4."

The report showed that requests for prohibitory legislation had been refused by the governments of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and that an amendment to the Canada Temperance Act, introduced during the last session by F. B. Flint, M.P., had been turned down. The Minister of Militia was commended for his refusal to accede to the request of the General Officer Commanding the Militia, that certain restrictions to the sale of liquor in canteens be removed.

Recommendations of Council.

The report embodied the following recommendations:

1. That, while refusing to accept as a final settlement of the liquor question any measure short of total national prohibition, the Council expresses its gratification at the decision of the Imperial Privy Council, further defining the power of Provincial legislatures, thus opening the way for the enactment of further effective measures of partial prohibition.

2. That steps be taken to secure at the next session of the Dominion parliament the enactment of such a measure of amendment of the Canada Temperance Act as will secure the better enforcement of that act in those parts of the Dominion in which it is in operation.

3. That all churches and temperance societies be requested to inaugurate an active movement to secure signatures to a total abstinence pledge, submitting a pledge form to members of churches, Sunday schools, Young People's societies, and having public addresses and sermons delivered in favor of total abstinence. In this connection, the following form of pledge is suggested:

"I promise to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and to discountenance such use by others."

Fraud in Quebec.

Rev. G. G. Huxtable of Montreal alleged that abundance of fraudulent work was largely responsible for the big adverse majority in the Quebec plebiscite. He cited instances of crookedness, and appealed to Ontario prohibitionists to prevent a repetition of such devitry in the referendum campaign.

J. J. Maclaren, K. C., declared that the referendum had all precautions and safeguards usually surrounding ordinary political elections. Both interests had the right to appoint scrutineers.

W. W. Buchanan, speaking on behalf of the Manitoba temperance workers, deprecated the way in which reflections had been cast on his people, who, he declared, had shown unexcelled astuteness and faithfulness to the cause. Because they had remained away from the polls when the referendum was voted upon was not derogatory to their wisdom. They knew their own business best in the interest of prohibition.

Dr. Maclaren feared the Alliance had not the influence in Manitoba that it should possess.

After further discussion on the part of several of the representatives, the report was voted upon, and unanimously adopted.

Against a Third Party.

At the afternoon session a debate upon the most advisable means of reaching the goal to which they all aimed was carried on, it having been introduced by a few remarks of the president on the machinery in existence for the enforcement of prohibitory legislation. He was of the opinion that the different organizations thruout the country could be made to spring into activity by proper action on the part of the Alliance.

Rev. J. W. Cooley said that it was an undoubted fact that, when it came to a parliamentary election, many so-called temperance organizations were practically unavailable. The organizations, with the officials, all aimed exclusively to hold the popular vote, but not to secure representation of the cause on the floors of the legislature and parliament. He never saw a temperance organization that was worth five cents, when it came to the selection of a candidate in a parliamentary campaign. The political parties got their candidates in the field and, afterwards, the temperance people awoke and started to work, having given their opponents a decided handicap. If the temperance people could get some kind of system by which they could anticipate the action of a party in putting candidates in the field, so that they could have a voice in the convention, they could carry the convention every time. He was by no means a non-party man; his principle was to act in the party to which one owed allegiance. Conventions were easy things to control, if the temperance people made up their minds to do so, and if they lost in the coming campaign it would be altogether their own fault.

R. W. Dillon, St. Mary's, corroborated these remarks, stating that, if they ever hoped to get prohibitory legislation, it could only be obtained along party lines.

Mr. Holland approved of this idea, and said they should get their candidates two years before a Dominion campaign.

An aged representative regretted that clergymen had a tendency to be always rubbing it into our politicians. He thought our politicians were straightforward men, but according to their own idea—[laughter]—as there were in the world.

A Valued Worker Gone.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Chown, a resolution of condolence was passed on the death of Major E. L. Bond of Montreal. In submitting the motion, the president paid a glowing tribute to the qualities of the deceased gentleman, in whose death, he asserted, temperance workers thruout the Dominion had lost a valued friend.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers then took place, resulting as follows:

Hon. President—Hon. A. Vidal.

President—J. R. Dougall.

Vice-Presidents—At large—J. J. Maclaren, K C, LL D.

Ontario—Principal Caven and R J Fleming.

TO LESSEN THE PRESSURE

Why Arrangements re Establishment of a Fast Atlantic Line Have Been Denied.

C. P. R.'S PROPOSAL NOT YET ACCEPTED

Altho There is Good Reason to Expect It Will Be Taken Up.

London, July 30.—The statement by the Canadian Commissioners, now in London, to the Associated Press last night, to the effect that efforts concerning arrangements for the establishment of a steamship service between Canada and England were unauthorized, and, in some cases, incorrect, is generally regarded as an attempt to lessen the clamor and the pressure being brought to bear on their government as a result of the publication of the Canadian Pacific's subsidy offer and the attitude of the Canadian and Imperial governments. Canadian Pacific officials say they are not in the least disconcerted by the statement.

One of them said:

"Since the publication of the Canadian Pacific Railway's offer the ministers undoubtedly have been besieged by inquiries and rival propositions. I see nothing in this statement except a desire to shut off public clamor, in order to give better opportunity to reach an official decision. We have no doubt the ministers will receive other propositions, which will be entitled to consideration, of course.

"The government has made no authorized statement, and is not likely to do so while the negotiations are pending. It has not yet accepted the Canadian Pacific Railway's proposal, altho there is good reason to expect that it will accept it."

In the mass of matter which has been published, following the outline of the Canadian Pacific Railway's offers, there probably have been some incorrect statements. The situation is still in accordance with the facts previously given.

PRESS FEEDERS STRIKE.

150 Now Out, But General Walk-Out is Threatened.

New York, July 30.—A strike of press feeders was ordered in six job printing establishments here to-day by the Press Feeders' Union, because of the refusal of the master printers to grant a demand for $14 per week for that class of labor. About 150 men are out, but, unless the difficulty is settled before to-morrow evening, the union officials threaten to call out the men employed in about 40 shops, which will involve about 1000 feeders.

One Strike Broken.

New York, July 30.—The Empire Bridge Company of Brooklyn, whose ironworkers, numbering 600 men, have been on strike for about two months, because of the refusal of the company to permit a walking delegate of the union to go thru the shops at all times, resumed work to-day with non-union men.

MEDALS FOR FERNIE HEROES

Canadian Humane Society Will Investigate Claims of a Number of Miners.

PASTOR SILCOX'S RECOMMENDATIONS

Difference of Opinion in Paris, Owing to the Fact That Dr. Dunton is Not Included.

The matter of bestowing medals and certificates of the Royal Canadian Humane Society on the men who risked their lives in the Paris well a few weeks ago to rescue Joshua Sanford will be taken up within the next few days. President Brown of the society lives at Hamilton, and Chairman Dwight of the board of governors has written him suggesting that he inform him as soon as possible the day on which the presentations shall be made. Mr. Dwight has not yet been given this information by President Brown. That officer has, however, officially confirmed the list of men who will receive the medals: John Carney, Geo. Blanchard, David Mott, Robert Hamilton and George Wentworth. It is settled that the medals will be presented at Paris. The date of the presentation was to have been named by the committee appointed at the town meeting for the purpose of receiving funds for those who did such valiant work in the well for four days. This date has not yet been named.

This committee is expected to have something to say about making recommendations as to who should receive the medals and certificates, but for some reason unknown to the committee they have not been consulted in the matter. The chairman asserts that he has repeatedly written the officials of the society on the subject, but has received no reply. The society has acted upon the recommendations of Rev. Mr. Silcox, pastor of the Paris Church, of which John Carney, the principal factor in the rescue, is a deacon. These recommendations were sent to the society before the Paris mass meeting, at which the committee was appointed, was held. Dr. Silcox was not made a member of this committee, but it was composed of some of the most representative citizens of Paris, who were thoroly familiar with the facts surrounding the remarkable case.

What of Dr. Dunton?

A considerable difference of opinion has developed, however, among the people of Paris as to who should be the recipient of the honors to be conferred by the society. Dr. Dunton, who has so faithfully cared for Sanford since his escape, and who worked constantly at the well, making a trip at great peril into the dangerous hole to administer stimulants to the captive, is urged as a candidate for a medal by a great many Paris people. Others, however, insist that, while Dr. Dunton did faithful work on this occasion, there are many others who did equally sacrificing work, and that since only those who did the most dangerous work can be rewarded, in the nature of things Dr. Dunton should not receive the medal.

Just who will receive the certificates is yet uncertain. About thirty-five will be issued to the different citizens. The friends of T. Harry Jones, the engineer, who did hard and dangerous work in the well, are preparing claims for a medal for him. Richard Doyle and Mr. English have many friends who assert they have not been given the credit they deserve, or they would have medals. Here are two men who did really dangerous work around the well and contributed largely to the rescue of Sanford. Especially is this true of "Dick" Doyle. Here is a big, good-hearted fellow, who took chances night and day, and performed the hardest and most dangerous kind of work. It is certain he will receive a certificate of bravery from the society, but many people who were at the well and know the character of the services he rendered demand that the matter be further investigated with a view of conferring a medal on this man.

Personally, Doyle is saying nothing, but he apparently feels keenly the neglect. It is quite likely, in view of all the circumstances, that the Board of Governors will reopen the case on request of a number of Paris citizens to be sure the statements sent in so hastily as touching the case originally and indicating those worthy of receiving medals is absolutely correct.

The Crow's Nest Disaster.

The Royal Canadian Humane Society is expected to investigate the claims of a number of miners who did heroic work in saving lives growing out of the frightful disaster of May 22 at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's plant. Mr. Elias Rogers, managing director of the company at Toronto, says that a number of the company's employes risked their lives in the most amazing manner in order to rescue their imperilled comrades. He thought the society should take the matter up and confer whatever honor the occasion demanded on the men. They are poor men, mostly day miners, but the manner in which they risked their lives, regardless of personal danger, is deserving of the highest recognition of the society. Mr. Rogers has not the names of the men engaged in the life-saving work, but he expects to receive them and do what he can to have the Humane Society take the matter up. Chairman Dwight of the Board of Governors of the society says the matter has not yet been officially called to his attention. He has a great many claims on file for the consideration of the board, but he will be glad to consider those in connection with this case.

Winnipeg Show Pleases Mr. Wade.

The Winnipeg Telegram on July 25, in referring to the Industrial Exhibition, which was held there last week, says: Mr. Henry Wade is a name well known from one end of Canada to the other in live stock circles. In fact, Mr. Wade's reputation as an authority extends to the American cities, as well. He is the Registrar of Live Stock for the Dominion of Canada, and has his headquarters at Toronto. This gentleman is to be found wherever there is any choice live stock to be seen, and he is, in consequence, a familiar figure around the horse and cattle departments of the exhibitions, and generally one of the few privileged spectators inside the ropes of the judging ring. A reporter for The Telegram interviewed Mr. Wade while the shorthorn cattle were being judged, and was given the benefit of a running fire of comment on the animals and stock in general. "This is a great stock country," he said. "You import just as good breeders as can be got anywhere. Your foundation stock is as good as ours in Ontario; but your country is so big, and your farms and ranches so big, that the stock runs loose all over the prairie, and it works down to just a good average. There is nothing wrong with the cattle, but they are not good show stock, because there is a difficulty in getting good herdsmen—men who understand cattle and know how to attend to them to bring out their good points." Mr. Wade was very pleased with the show.
