from. Those connected with the rail-ways are in a position to solve the question for those who feel in any way doubtful concerning the number of people who visited this city and the fair. Constable Robert Logan, who has for years been on duty at the G. T. R. depot, said this morning that in all his railroad experience he never saw such a jam as that which packed the platform last night. After the crowd returned from the fair the place was so congested with people that several ladies fainted. Railway officials climbed to train tops to view the spectacle. The women's bonnets, and the giddy whirl of color, and the thousands of faces in the mass under the glare of nia, 1,687; St. Marys branch, 2,214, making a total of 12,882 passengers. This, of course, does not include about 2,500 who came over the Lake Erie and Detroit River road. The M. C. R., as nearly as can be ascertained, brought in the neighborhood of 1,200 people, and the C. P. R. about the same number. Traffic has fallen off somewhat today. Up to 12 o'clock 960 arrived by the Bruce, 2,000 from the east, 2,500 from the west, 2,000 from Stratford branch, and 1,500 from Sarnia, a total of 8,460 for the morning.

E. and D. R. R. this afternoon. They came in response to the invitation extended by the London city council, the board of education, and the board of trade. They were met at the depot by a deputation of civic fathers, and escorted to the Tecumseh House, and thence to the fair grounds, where they were presented with the freedom of the city by Mayor Wilson.

The grand stands were never before packed to such an extent as they were last night. This was a matter of great gratification to the directors, as no stronger evidence of the safety of the big double-decker could be given. There were hundreds of people in excess of the largest crowd the stand has heretofore held, but, thanks to the great precaution taken by the management to brace the structure in every way possible it did not show the slightest tremor. At the most critical moment the directors went to the booths un-derneath, and were told that not the slightest quake was noticeable.

The Western Fair would not be complete without an exhibit of the model wagon-the "Bain." The Bain wagon has so long led in popular favor that a distinctly representative feature of agricultural Canada would be missing without it. It is the wagon in most general use. And because it is unsurpassed for durability, strength, light ness of draft and beauty of finish, this state of affairs is bound to continue. The manufacturers are a strong, reliable home company, in a position to procure the best stock to be had, and their works at Woodstock are equipped with all the latest and most approved machinery. The energy displayed by the company in building up their im-mense business is still evident in the excellence of the products of their factory. The "Bain" goods are now more than ever worthy of the enviable reputation which they have for so many years enjoyed

A large space in the transportation building is devoted to their handsome exhibit. HOW QUEEN'S PARK IS LIGHTED. The best part of the day is at night. This rather paradoxical statement expresses the sentiment of thousands of visitors to the Western Fair. The grounds look much more beautiful by night than by day. Every exhibit can be seen as well by night as by day, and the brilliancy of the illumination lends an added grace and charm to everything. When one stops to think of the stupendous progress in the matter of illumination since the introduction of electricity, one stands amazed at the vast changes a single decade have wrought, and one finds cause for thankfulness. A brief consideration of the force and mechanism that is back of all this wonderful transformation is interesting and profitable. One is apt to accept results as a mere matter of course, without giving a thought to the causes. prised that the awarding committee have decided that the William Buck Stove Company deserve a gold medal. Home" basebaurners, long ago won the approbation of the Canadian people generally, and any public appreciation of the excellence of these household friends is but an expression of universal opinion. The Buck Stove Company's business has grown to its present enormous proportions on the strength of the lasting friendships their ranges, baseburners and heaters have, from the beginning of their manu-facture, made for themselves. Where a "Happy Thought" exists in the home, it is bound to become popular with the owner, and create an eager longing on the part of less fortunate neighbors who would also be the proud possessors of this incomparable kitchen accessory. The company's exhibit in the main building shows a full line of their well-known stoves, but if it is not convenient to leisurely examine them there, they may be seen at all times at Messrs. Parkinson & Co.'s store, 384 Richmond street.

THE ACETYLENE GAS COMPANY'S

The most brilliant corner in the main ouilding is that occupied by the Acetylene Lighting Company's exhibit. One could not fail to notice the soft, pure, diffused light, more nearly resembling sunlight than any other known illuminant. The surprising thing is that the best light should be also the cheapest. Acetylene gas is cheaper than any other illuminant. Why, then, does it not supplant all the others? It will The process has already begun. The Press building, Toronto, the best lighted building in the city, is lighted by Acetylene gas, and the plant was supplied by the Acetylene Gas Company, 78 Dundas street, London. The owners of the building are delighted with the system. The Western Fair Board s negotiating with the Acetylene Gas Company for the equipment of the fair grounds buildings with Acetylene gas apparatus. It is economical, it is safe. It is as much superior to coal gas as coal gas is to candlelight. It is admirably adapted for lighting public halls, churches, stores, factories and homes, and can be put in as readily in the country as in the town. Any information concerning it can be readily obtained at the company's office and warerooms, 78 Dundas street, London.

A NEW CONVENIENCE FOR FARMERS. The Domestic Feed Cooker, one of the greatest conveniences ever de-vised for use on the farm, attracted the attention of numberless The machine consists of a water boiler, connected with a small stove by two pipes through which the hot water continually passes, keeping water in the tank, boiling at an even tem-perature. By this method, no danger exists of burning the food, no fire being near it. Every farmer knows, and only too well, how disagreeable a task it is to cook feed on the or-dinary stove, or even in the old-time boiler, suspended over a fire built in the yard. The new way is effective and clean, and farmers need only to see the new appliance to induce them to purchase one. H. Rushton & Co., St. Thomas, are the manufacturers, while Hugh McTavish, Belmont, Box 4, is the general selling agent. Full information will be furnished by applying to either of these parties. TOMATOES-ONE BUSHEL PER PLANT. There is an exhibit in the north end of the agricultural hall which appeals more strongly, probably, than anything else at the fair to all classes of people who have a plot of land, whatever the size, on which garden stuff may be grown. It is a display of vegetables grown from the McInnis tested seeds, and serves as a striking object lesson. One tomato vine—the Plentiful—has a whole bushel of love apples clinging to it. A monster King of the Mammoth Pumpkin, weighing 275 pounds, is surrounded by correspondingly large musk melons, sugar beets, etc. Particularly is Lane's Improved Sugar Beet the subject of much favorable comment. Several varieties of corn, including the mammoth Southern Sweet, which could hold up its head in Kansas, even, and the Michigan Dent, a very early variety good for fodder, are also shown. Cauliflowers, large and compact Prizetaker Onions, and the Ideal Cucumber, all serve as excellent models for gardeners. The cucumbers are extra smooth and of nice size. Mr. A. Mc-Innis is in charge of the exhibit personally, and has given away several thousand packages containing seeds of his remarkable tomato plant. PANY, BROCKVILLE.

Keeping up with their record of pre-vious years, the Mann Manufacturing Company, of Brockville, have on exhibition a full line of their machinery, the reputation of which is so well known among the farmers all over the country. A machine that attracts much attention is their Giant Steel Pressure Combined Drill, which is easily adapted to working in heavy or light ground, being provided with easy-working levers, by which the pressure can be changed from the under side of the lift bar to the top. When heavy ground is being worked the drills are held down firmly by springs, while they float is the only drill on the market emous points in the United States. An other very popular machine is their Giant Cultivator, which works in land through which the average machine would find it impossible to travel. Some two years ago one was purchased by the London city council, and even since has been used for ripping up macadam roads. Wide shear points fice and factory are located at 90 York | for weed-cutting and summer-fallow work are furnished, the adjusting being marvelously simple. Besides these two machines, the firm manufacture The low prices at which ready-to- disk harrows, seeders, corn drills, harwear clothing can be sold would long rows and cultivators, all of the high quality guaranteed by wide experience in catering to the needs of progressive farmers. The London warerooms are on King street, near the market, Mr. F. G. Bowley being the local agent.  SOMETHING ABOUT THE WIN-

tion never asked nowadays. The only question is, "What wheel do you ride?" The use of the bicycle is almost universal. No other manufacturing industry in the world has made such rapid strides in the past ten years as the making of oleycles. The wheel that was considered a marvel of perfection five years ago would excite pity or derision for the rider who appeared on the streets with it today. This field competition has been so keen and improvements have been so rapid that only the shrewdest and enterprising manufacturers, backed by large capital, have been able to keep abreast of the times. And these are the qualifications that have enabled the Hobbs Manufacturing MORE PLENTIFUL. | Company of London to put a wheel on the fair will not be surther market which has outstripped all competitors. This wheel is the Windisplay in the main building. It is a lager Carr, in response to these re light roadster. The lines of this wheel are handsome. The finish is superb. Its weight is only 23 pounds. Strength has not been sacrificed to lightness. It is absolutely dustproof. It has 30-inch wheels; a 3½ inch drop to brack-et, and flush joints. It has also a 3piece crank bracket, which is a great improvement over the 2-piece in common use. It has square cranks, Dunlop detachable tires are used.

In addition to the fact that the Winchester has no superiors and few equals, there is another consideration that should have great weight with intending purchasers in Ontario. The Hobbs Manufacturing Company's factory is located in London, and through the company's branches in various parts of the province, should a wheel become broken, the part or parts need-

T. W. ECKERT

Not one second during the entire day did the crowd leave the exhibit of the Bell Organ and Piano Company, The music as played on the Bell Orchestral by that artistic player, Mr. T. W. Eckert, has a fascination for the thousands who listened attentively to his wondrous ability as a performer on this popular instrument. It was a regular pandemonium of applause as each piece was played. The Bell, under Mr. Eckert's performances, has created such an interest with the visitors that many such expressions as, "Have you heard the Bell piano?" is common talk among friends meeting one another. The Bell Piano will reap the benefit of their Western Fair exhibit. Tonight and the balance of the week Mr. Eckert will continue to give his free concerts at the Bell rooms, Dundas street (near Richmond). His imitations are in-

Efforts to Secure Her Independence-Proclamation by Secretary Quesada -Insurgents Evacuate Manila.

Washington, Sept. 15. - Secretary Quesada, of the Cuban delegation, today gave out several documents relating to Cuban affairs. They include the following proclamation of amnesty issued by the Cuban authorities at Camaguay: The government council in today's session ordered: Whereas, hostilities have been suspended, orders which hinder the movements of those charged with bringing about peace should not be enforced when the independence of Cuba has already been recognized by Spain and the United States. In such circumstances, it is useless to deprive the Spanish army of news and guides which, in some cases, it may even be a duty to provide, so that it may evac uate the territory as agreed upon with the United States. The war being ended, all animosity and hatred due to the struggling should cease, thus bringing about the union of all the Cubans under our flag, which is the symbol of liberty, and not of revenge. The leaders of the army should do all in their power to punish any attempt against personal security, and no private vengeance should be visited upon those who have served Spain. Havana, Sept. 15.—El Noticere, a local paper, says that last night at a fashionable mansion on Mangaureta street, there was an important gathering to discuss the future of Cuba which, in the opinion of those present, will witness the achievement of independence. A central committee was appointed consisting of a president.

and Saturday. Numerous requests have been made by citizens for a special car service to Springbank tomorrow and Saturchester, 1899 model. Both ladies' and day. The rush at the fair will be over gentlemen's wheels of this model are and thousands of citizens are desirous shown in connection with the Hobbs that their many guests should see the Manufacturing Company's handsome suburban beauties of London. Manquests, has decided to put a special service on the Springbank line Friday (tomorrow) and also on Saturday. This is done in order that there will lack of entertainment to finish the week in the same splendid manner in which it was begun. There are fewer sights more beautiful than Springbank, whether by sunlight or moonlight, and the handsome pavilion il-luminated with hundreds of incandescent lights is, and bids fair always to be, one of the most popular places for rest, quiet and refreshment

This afternoon the report of the temup. The first clause, it will be remembered, originally referred to the licensing of the liquor traffic as a sin, and was referred back for modification. The clause remodified declared that the traffic in intoxicating liquors for bever age purposes is immoral, and it is the duty of the civil government to prohibit. An altempt was made to have the clause put through conference in its original shape, but this was defeated, and the amended clause was

The next clause to cause discussion was that on which the Methodist peo ple were asked not to vote for any candidate for municipal or parliamentary honors who, should he be elected, would refuse to pledge himself to vote for prohibition at the earliest possible moment. An amend-ment was proposed, to the effect that members of the Methodist Church who possess the elective franchise should use their influence to serve the nomination of municipal and parliamentary candidates who favor and support prohibition. This clause carried with change, substituting "are recommended to use" instead of "should use" their influence. The rest of the report was carried without discussion.

rose stuck just behind the ear. Pale pink for a blonde and a rich red rose for a darkhaired girl. For day wear the high Spanish tortoise shell comb is much worn. For evening the comb is laden with stones, jet or spangles. Bracelets are also playing an important part in our evening headdress. When the hair is curled of coiled at the top of the head the bunch of curls or colls is surrounded and kept in place by a gold, silver, or jeweled bracelet. Curls look remarkably pretty thus arranged, as they fall round the head in very becoming confusion. But for this the hair must be moderately short and kept short by occasionally cutting the tips.
